ATTACKS HENEY'S MOTIVES.

Article from the San Francisco Argonaut Reproduced in the Portland Oregonian.

In San Francisco the motives of Francis J. Heney in prosecuting the municipal grafters has been seriously questioned. No longer is it considered that he has been prompted by a desire to serve the public disinterestedly. Within a year a marked change has occurred in public sentiment and the methods of prosecution by Mr. Heney have been described as a "scheme of intimidation, subornation, falsehood, intrigue." No less responsible journal than the San Francisco Argonaut sums up the "Heney method" as:

"This rotten and criminal system of first 'imagining' the guilt of somebody and then 'rounding up' evidence to make the nightmare a demonstration if not a reality."

On March 21 the Argonaut published an exhaustive review of the anti-graft movement in San Francisco, showing how from having public support the prosecution, in charge of Francis J. Heney, has become discredited. The Argonaut traces the gradual uncovering of the motives back of the prosecution, discloses the arbitrary authority of the prosecution which had been usurped and relates how, from being a public prosecution the anti-graft movement degenerated into one of personal revenge.

"The first thing tending seriously to raise questions as to the purposes of the prosecution developed in addresses made by members of the prosecuting group before public audiences. Mr. Heney, in various platform talks, permitted himself so far to depart from lawyer-like practice as to boast of his purpose to convict certain personages, some of whom he has officially charged with wrongdoing, others whom he had not then and until this time has not preferred charges. At Berkeley, at Stanford, and elsewhere, Mr. Heney, speaking for the prosecution, announced his determination to 'get' certain men. This was thought at the moment to be a gross indecency and as time has developed the scope and method of the prosecution it has been even more severely regarded.

"But, while the public took note of these deviations from normal, legitimate and worthy practice, nevertheless it did not withdraw its backing from the graft prosecution. It was felt that the good cause ought not to be discredited in the house of its friends, because a prosecuting agent had indulged himself in ill-timed, ill-tempered and even grossly improper utterances.

"There were those who say clearly that so much spleen, a spirit so deeply vindictive, a sense of propriety so out of joint with all reasonable standards, implied something very much at odds with the nominal purposes of the anti-graft movement.

"The Argonaut is in favor of ing over the whole business of prosecution, of throwing out the vicious spirit of personalism and of private resentment and revenge, associated with it, and of making it a purely public matter. It is in favor of proceeding against the persons notoriously guilty with respect to whose delinquencies the evidence is as clear as daylight, rather than condoning their crimes for the sake of bribing them to supply evidence true or false against other possible criminals. The Argonaut is for abandoning the whole scheme of intimidation, subornation, falsehood, intrigue and fraud and proceeding by regular and legal methods to regular and legal ends. The Argonaut holds in contempt this whole rotten and criminal system of first imagining the guilt of someone and then 'rounding up' evidence to make the nightmare a demonstration if not a reality.

"Thev Argonaut is in favor of bringing into the management of this prosecuting movement someone who knows enough law and who is careful enough in his methods to get convictions that will stick. We have had enough of gross bungling. We have had enough of intriguing with courts. We have had enough of subborned testimony. We have had enough and more than enough of methods in prosecution outside the law beyond the bounds of decency, calculated in support of purely personal purposes and ending results so violently at odds with every legal principle that they have only to be laid bare before intelligent and unprejudiced judges to be immediately discredited and nullified. We are not in favor of capitalizing on the public account the cruel and inveterate malice of any group of citizens. Nor are we in favor of providing public funds to supoprt the swaggering, blundering and unlawful method of Mr. Francis Heney and Mr. William Burns. If we are to make this prosecution a public instead of a private matter, let us select for it agents of established character, skilled enough and honest enough to proceed by regular legal methods, unbiased by the passions of a long-sustained private conflict and unburdened by the distrust and enmity of a large proportion of our people."

For County Commissioner.

J. T. Beckwith, of Sidney precinct is one of the best and most successful farmers in the county. He has been a Marion county farmer all his life and knows the wants of the farming population, and as county commissioner would safely represent their interest. Mr. Beckwith stands aggressively for good roads and is entitled to the support of all who want better means of transportation among the various parts of the county. Read his platform declaratin in this paper, and you will see that he is alone in demanding better roads among the candidates for that office.

Has a Continuous Record.

Walter Smith, the Republican candidate for county superintendent of schools, taught in the spring and fall of 1896 in the Klumb school, this county, next at Weston, Ore., then the East school at Salem, then at Mitchell, Ore., then the Salem Park school for six years as principal. He is, besides, a graduate of the Monmouth State Normal, and is present county superintendent by appointment. He is worthy the vote of any friend of the public schools.

YOUNG MOTHERS

A mother who is in good physical condition transmits to her child the blessing of a good constitution; sickly, ailing mothers, the reverse.

The tiny babe brings to her a living responsibility. At such a time too great care cannot be taken to build up the mother's general constitution, and restore her feminine system to a healthy, normal condition. The greatest assistance that any woman can have in accomplishing this all-important work is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. M. Gilmer, of West Union, S. C., writes to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

"I was greatly run down in health, suffering from a weakness peculiar to my sex. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I was not only restored to health but am the proud mother of a fine baby girl. I wish every sick and ailing woman would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."

Mrs. Paul Oliver, of St. Martinville, La., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For years I suffered from the worst form of female troubles, and the doctor said I could not get well without an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to perfect health, and I have the sweetest little baby girl. I will never cease to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with the worst forms. Why don't you try it?

By grading the roadway of said Broadway street between said points full width from curb to curb with full intersections to the proper subgrade.

The cost of placing said track in the center of said street and improving between the rails and one and one-half feet outside of the rails of the Oregon Electric Railway company, to be assessed on the franchise and property of said company.

The cost of said improvement, save and except the space between the rails and one and one-half feet outside of the rails of the Oregon Electric Railway company to be assessed on the abbrutting and adjacent property, as provided in the charter of said city.
