

CAMPAIGN CLOSED WITH A HOT NUMBER

The closing political rally at the opera house Thursday night set a new pace in political pyrotechnics, and the crowd enjoyed the sport.

Hon. M. L. Jones spent an hour in showing up the county financial situation and made a very favorable impression. He was a little hard on Bent Jones, calling him a card sharp, etc.

Col. Hofer was called on and declined to take sides between them, as he said he had never sat in a poker game with either one of them, "nor with the distinguished chairman of the evening, the Hon. Conrad Krebs."

There was a great deal of fun and Walter Winslow touched up Tom

Kay to the satisfaction of the crowd. Tom got back at him and made the fur fly, but Winslow came back into the ring undaunted, and Tom has met his match in a jaw-wrangle.

Gus Huckesetin put in a word for "the Napoleon of Oregon politics, the Hon. Geo. E. Chamberlain," who is also running for the United States senate.

Mrs. Hallie Parrish Hinges sang two numbers that delighted the audience. She was recalled and might be singing yet so far as the audience was concerned. The meeting was a hummer from start to finish, and it is to be hoped each campaign may conclude with so much good natured free expression of honest sentiments in the cause of good government.

JASPER GOODE IS ARRESTED

Jasper Goode has been arrested on a charge of perjury and three of assault in connection with the horsewhipping of Rev. W. N. Coffey by Miss Lulu Goode and her sister, Mrs. Nettie Rhodes of Portland, on the night of April 4. Lulu Goode has also been re-arrested; this time on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Samuel G. Roper, wife of the head pastor of the Free Methodist church. Jasper Goode is under $500 bonds furnished by his father, Councilman J. F. Goode.

After the acquittal by the jury yesterday afternoon, the different brothers of the church, who had been witnesses, got together, after collecting their witness fees, and in conference with Attorney L. H. McMahan, decided upon the arrest of Jasper and Lulu Goode. The Recorders D. W. Cook, W. N. Coffey and J. F. Lewis swore to separate complaints charging Jack Goode with assault and Mrs. Roper signed the assault complaint against Lulu Goode on the allegation that Miss Goode had struck her in the face.

Jack Goode stands accused of having perjured himself in stating on the witness stand, when questioned by McMahan, that he had not struck the Rev. Lewis while the latter was preaching from the pulpit last fall. The hearing date has not as yet been set as Attorney Wm. M. Kaiser, who with W. E. Keyes, represents the defendants will be engaged on several protracted cases in the circuit court.

WONDERFUL ACOUSTICON INSTALLED BY CONGRESS

Members can no longer make plays in the committee rooms that remain secret.

Washington, April 10. — This week witnessed the trial installation in the house of representatives of the long-promised and widely-heralded acousticon, and with its advent the representatives of the people are watching their p's and q's, fearful lest they talk too much! This is a strange charge to lay at the doors of congress, for hitherto talk has been cheap in the big building on the hill, as witness the massive volumes of the Congressional Record for the past two or three sessions.

The fear of the solons lies in the fact that the acousticon is an adaptation of the modern telephone the receiving station of which, placed on the reading clerk's desk just in front of the speaker, transmits to listening stations in each of the various committee rooms, the private offices of the different members, the White House and the nine executive departments, everything that is said on the floor of the house, from the whispered plans for a filibuster, to the arguments in a heated debate. The acousticon is no respecter of persons, and be it the newest member rehearsing his maiden speech under his breath, or the venerable Colonel "Pete" Hepburn living things up in a oratorical way, the sounds are carried, perfectly audible and distinct, from the farthest corner of the big chamber to and through the acousticon, to be heard by scores of congressmen in their private offices, by the President and the members of his cabinet, and by friend and foe alike.

And now, after a couple of days' trial, most of the members are actually afraid to talk at all. The acousticon has told many secrets since it was installed. On the first day Representative Clark of Florida, who presents the activities of the Attorney General's office in running down alleged pro-age cases in his state, got the floor and proceeded to tell the house what he thought of the "high-handed methods of the Department of Justice." He spared no one and used the plainest kind of language, never dreaming that his every syllable was being heard by the very officials at the department whom he was "roasting."

The acousticon is not without its possibilities, however. It is nothing more or less than an extremely sensitive telephone transmitter, and many have been the suggestions concerning it. One member, who said he had just read the last annual report of the directors of the huge Bell system and had learned that at the close of 1907 there were nearly 3,800,000 Bell stations in operation in the United States alone, advanced the novel idea of connecting the acousticon with the big Bell switchboard at the Capital and putting every one of those 3,800,000 subscribers in direct touch with legislative affairs at Washington. This, he claimed, would in large part do away with the need for printing the Congressional Record and would serve to bring congress closer to the people, for, as he explained it, there is a Bell station for every 22 persons in the United States, and this number is dwindling every day. The report to which this member referred, is a most remarkable document, and has been carefully read by many representatives and senators. It sets forth that the Bell companies have adopted the Roosevelt physical valuation test, and that they are also willing to accede to a sane popular demand for public control—two noteworthy statements when it is remembered that they emanate from the largest public utility corporation in the world.

It is to be noted that although many scouted this scheme, declaring that it would be necessary to perfect the wireless telephone before such a thing could be brought about, Washington only the other day was a connecting link in what is perhaps the longest telephone call yet made successfully. The newspapers this week chronicled this event, entailing a three-minute conversation between Cleveland, O., and Tampa, Fla., via Washington, something over fifteen hundred miles, whereas the record radius for a long distance talk has heretofore been about a thousand miles.

With some such plan in operation, a member's constituents, notified in advance that he would make a speech on a certain day, could remain in their offices or their homes and hear everything he might say, from the time he arose to his feet for recognition, to his graceful descent from a high flight of oratory amid prolonged applause from the galleries. However, with that phase of the proposition running smoothly, the order of things easily might be reversed, in which event the members would never have to leave their homes, but could go to the telephone, get in touch with the speaker by acousticon and arrange for the delivery of a speech or the introduction of a bill or two, and then go about their private affairs of life as unconcerned as if they never had been on Uncle Sam's payroll at $7,500 per annum, and mileage.

TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY.

Would Enrich Foreigners and Impoverish American Producers.

The Democratic platform provides for "Tariff reductions tending to place the Tariff on a purely revenue basis."

Here, then, is a very clear issue. The Republican platform proposes the adoption of a tariff which, while prohibiting unreasonable profits and the establishment of monopolies, will still protect the American farmer, the American laborer from the impossible condition of a profitable competition with the cheap shops and cheap products of Europe.

The Democratic tariff plank, if it means anything, means that the tariff shall be reduced to suit the whims of the Democratic party; that the question of protection shall not be considered; that so long as the customs produced by an increased volume of foreign imports shall be equal to the task of paying the expenses of the government the party cares nothing about the effect of this policy upon the prosperity of the nation. In other words, the American consumer will buy foreign goods exclusively, after adding to the foreign price a tax sufficient to pay the government salaries and to keep up the army and navy and other government institutions. The American laborer will buy his products in Europe and will have added to the price thereof a federal tax. It will make no difference whether he is employed or not, and the chances are that he will not. He will be obliged to purchase in foreign markets and pay a domestic tax for this privilege and for the further privilege of helping the Democratic party to shut up the mills of the United States. Surely it will not take the American working man, the American farmer, the American manufacturer, the American citizen long to decide between foreign and domestic goods, between paying good wages to Americans or enriching foreign producers who never pay good wages, between our present prosperity and the conditions of 1894. This is one great issue between the two parties. — Peoria "Transcript."

Notice to Improve a Portion of Broadway Street.

Notice is hereby given that at the regular meeting of the common council held April 6, 1908, a resolution was adopted to improve Broadway street with full intersections, from the north line of North Mill creek to the north line of Madison street in the following manner:

By establishing a permanent grade on said street along the proposed line of improvement where not already established.

By placing the street railway track of the Oregon Electric Railway company where it extends along the proposed line of improvement in the center thereof.

By grading the roadway of said Broadway street between said points full width from curb to curb with full intersections to the proper subgrade.

The subgrade shall be one foot below the established grade and upon said subgrade shall be placed one foot of clean creek or river gravel, provided however, the space along the center of said street to be occupied by the said Oregon Electric Railway company shall be graveled in such a manner that the top of the rails of said company will be on a level with the established grade of said Broadway street.

The cost of placing said track in the center of said street and improving between the rails and one and one-half feet outside of the rails of the Oregon Electric Railway company, to be assessed on the abutting and adjacent property, as provided in the charter of said city.

Remonstrance against the above improvement may be filed within 20 days after the date of the first publication of this notice.

By order of common council, W. A. MOORES, Recorder.

Date of first publication of this notice the 6th day of April, 1908.

W. A. MOORES, Recorder.

Object to Strong Medicines. Many people object to taking the strong medicines usually prescribed by physicians for rheumatism. There is no need of internal treatment in case of muscular or chronic rheumatism, and more than nine out of every ten cases of the disease are of one or the other of these varieties. When there is no fever and little (if any) swelling, you may know that it is only necessary to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely to get quick relief. Try it. For sale by Dr. Stone's drug store.

NERVOUS HEADACHES

CAUSED BY A POOR SUPPLY OF BLOOD TO THE NERVES.

Cared by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Which Enrich the Blood and Send Nourishment to the Starved Nerves

There is absolutely no way of reaching the nerves with medicine except through the blood. The nerves receive all of their nourishment and support from the blood which, under healthful conditions, carries the elements needed to rebuild wasted nerve tissue.

Let the blood become deranged and deficient in these elements and the nerves will be badly nourished and headaches, neuralgia, sciatica, functional paralysis and a host of other nervous troubles may result.

Since most common nervous troubles are caused by a defect in the blood, to cure them at the root the blood defect must be corrected. So when a physician gives a medicine for the nerves he gives something that will act on the blood in such a way that the nerves will be affected.

There is, therefore, no mystery about the fact that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are both a blood builder and a nerve tonic, nothing unrecognized by science in the power of these pills to cure severe nervous disorders as well as diseases of the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a specifics for anaemia, or deficiency of blood. Hence they are a remedy for all nervous diseases which result from, or thrive under, anaemic conditions.

One such trouble is nervous headache and the success of the tonic treatment through the blood is thus described by Mrs. J. H. Morgan, of Correctionville, Iowa, who says:

"Some years ago I was in a terribly nervous and run-down condition and suffered greatly from nervous headaches. I was treated for three months by a specialist in Chicago, who advised me to wear glasses, but he did not help me. My head seemed as though it would burst, and I had frequent dizzy spells. I was in despair of getting well until I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began taking them. A few boxes cured me and since then I have used them as a family medicine."

"Before the birth of my last child I suffered untold agony with pain and numbness in my hands and arms up to the shoulders. The pain was as nearly like the killing of a nerve in a tooth as I can describe it. My hands were so swollen and the muscles so sore that I could hardly dress myself. For a time I could not close my left hand. During the day if I kept moving the pain did not seem to be so bad, but my hands were always numb. I again used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and found them good for this trouble also, as they entirely relieved me. The pills have done more for me than anything else and I recommend them heartily."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unequalled for the treatment of even the most severe nervous disorders, such as neuralgia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance and locomotor ataxia. As a tonic for the blood and nerves they are used everywhere with the greatest success, building up wasted bodies and bringing the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

It is easier for some people to prevaricate than for water to run down hill.

"One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin."

When a rooster finds a big fat worm he calls all the hens in the farm yard to come and share it. A similar trait of human nature is to be observed when a man discovers something exceptionally good—he wants all his friends and neighbors to share the benefits of his discovery. This is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin. This explains why people who have been cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers for publication, that others similarly ailing may also use it and obtain relief. Behind every one of these letters is a warm-hearted wish of the writer to be of use to someone else. This remedy is for sale by Dr. Stone's drug store.
