BATTLE FOR THE LIBERTY OF THE PRESS.

The Capital Journal is a small newspaper, but it has an ideal or two that are worthy of any man's support.

It believes the press should not only stand up for good government but for THE RIGHTS OF THE CITIZEN AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.

If the courts or any department or function of government fails to do justice to the citizen the press should be open to him.

THERE SHOULD BE ONE REPORT AGAINST OPPRESSION AND INJUSTICE of every description—THE PUBLIC PRESS.

The editor of this newspaper has been over thirty years in the newspaper business and in all that time has conceived it to be his duty to take the side of the man or woman WHO HAD APPARENTLY EVERYTHING AGAINST HIM OR HER.

It will be said by some that this is a thankless, chimerical task. But it should be remembered that in all ages privilege has arrested itself.

The man or woman who has no privileges, no social or political advantages, who has no wealth or property and but little education, STILL HAS A RIGHT TO LIVE AND BE TREATED AS A HUMAN BEING.

People may have wealth, social position and education and still suffer injustice, but not often.

Government was established to secure justice to all men, but HOW OFTEN IT FALLS SHORT OF THAT?

The press must protect the individuals against even the government itself.

THE PRESS HAS GOT TO FIGHT FOR ITS OWN FREEDOM AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.

For many years there has been a tendency of the officials of the postoffice department to cripple the press.

We have for some time thought that the postoffice department, for the last fifteen years, has erroneously interpreted the LAWS RELATING TO THE PUBLIC PRESS.

Many publishers approve of the late rulings; so far as their own business is concerned; BUT THERE IS A PRINCIPLE AT STAKE WHICH OUGHT NOT TO YIELD TO ANY PRICE.

Advocacy of this principle is persistently pressed with three prime objects in view:

First, to unite publishers in a common cause against any encroachment upon OUR SACRED, CONSTITUTIONAL, AND LAWFUL RIGHTS.

Second, to secure the passage of a law that will interpret itself, in the place of those we now have.

WHICH ARE CAPABLE OF AS MANY INTERPRETATIONS AS THERE ARE PUBLICATIONS IN THE UNITED STATES; and,

Third, to convince the officials of the postoffice department, the President, and congress, by arguments that cannot be answered, and by the invincible logic of facts, that their line of duty leads directly to the complete EMANCIPATION OF THE PUBLIC PRESS FROM GOVERNMENT ESPIONAGE, INTERFERENCE OR CONTROL.

While the postoffice department has been cutting down the privileges of newspapers to circulate at pound rates, and to mail sample copies, there has been a tendency of all departments TO WORK THE PRESS.

Today all the departments and functions of the government from the President down work, or try to work the press. Every mail under franking privilege bring CIRCULARS AND EDITORIALS THAT WE ARE ASKED TO PUBLISH FREE.

If The Capital Journal printed all the stuff sent to it by the clerks and press agents of the federal government it would be a mere echo of officialism extending and perpetuating itself.

The individual would be educated to become a mere educated reflex of the red-tape departments, when the government under free institutions should be a reflex of the citizenship.

We believe with Jefferson that the government should be the tail of the dog—NOT THE WHOLE THING. The men and women of our country are the big thing.

We want to make this point clear, that this newspaper will not become a mere echo of government, of institutions, a mere reflex of political machines, A MERE PARASITE OF PRIVILEGES—it will be a newspaper for human rights.

MARION COUNTY PROBATE COURT

Jella Showerman has been appointed guardian of the $2500 estate of Freeman Showerman under a $5000 bond. The county clerk has notified the state treasurer that there is $131.62 collectable from the $6,118 estate of A. B. Buren, deceased, as inheritance tax. The appraisalment of the estate of Bertha J. Caples, deceased, as shown in the inventory and filed today, sets the value of the real estate at $6000.

This Would Suit Them.

(Elgin Lender.)

This is the way some men think a certain incident in the Bible should have been written: And Eve, being tempted, did eat of the apple, and when she knew she had sinned, made up her mind to get Adam into it, too, and told him to take a bite; that it was good. "No, Eve," he replied with firmness, "it would be wrong, and I can't do wrong." "But you must eat with me," she insisted. He again refused, and when sweet coaxings and angry threatenings failed, she being stronger than Adam, and made still stronger by her anger at his refusal, threw him to the ground. Holding him prostrate with one hand, she forced his jaws apart with the other, and then pounded a piece of the forbidden fruit into his throat. But Adam, almost fainting with exhaustion and horror at the sin, still refused to swallow it, whereupon she held his nose and made it go down.

OREGON BEAUTIFUL OREGON

Come all you homeless people, Who are toiling day by day In those crowded Eastern factories Wearing your life away. Let me tell you of a country That will far surpass your dreams, Where there's forests, plains and rivers And sparkling mountain streams.

It's far beyond the Rocky Mountains In the land of the setting sun And the golden shores of Oregon— We invite you all to come. Out here we take life easy And you can do the same. Our rivers and lakes are filled with fish And our forests alive with game.

Elk and moose and mountain goat, Deer and bear and antelope, Ducks and geese and snow white swan,

Pheasant and grouse and pelican Can all be found in our virgin hills, On our crystal lakes and mountain rills, Where the speckled trout sports in the morning sun. And all to be had with a hook or a gun.

Then why do you stay there? Where opportunities are few, When there's riches in Oregon Awaiting for you. You'll always work for wages, For your country's on the bum. While here you can be a landlord, If you've only sense enough to come.

There's Malheur, Lake and Harney Where the new railroad is soon to go,

If you are looking for a homestead Out here you've got a show; For those broad and level deserts, That once we thought were sand; Have proved to be volcanic ash, And the richest farming land.

Ten feet we dig for water, The finest you ever drank; And it needs no irrigation to make Crops grow tall and rank. And miles of waving wheat fields, You'll see at no far distant day, Where antelopes now are roaming And cowboys hold the sway.

And soon those rolling hillsides, Where graze bands of countless sheep, That make their owners' fortunes While in bed they peacefully sleep. Will all be set to orchards; For there's where the big red apples grow

That we have been shipping over to England, For a dozen years or so, Then down across old Coos and Curry

To where the ocean waters roll, Beneath those mighty forests Lies one vast field of coal. As yet it's undeveloped Like other resources of our state, But before many years have passed It will be burned in every grate.

So if you're afraid of a fuel famine We can soon dispel your fears For Oregon alone can supply the world For the next five hundred years. We also have discovered Mountains of finest iron ore. Enough to keep your steel works running For a thousand years or more.

Our wheat farms are so large It takes hours to cross a field, And fifty bushels to an acre is no uncommon yield. It all comes here to Portland, And every year they're sending more,

For it's loaded here on vessels And shipped to a foreign shore,

Our Willamette valley vineyards From which we make our wine Will rival the best in Italy, Or those of the famous Rhine, For our grape juice has a record, As all must plainly see When it took the prize in Omaha And at the fair of ninety-three.

And we can show you from Missouri, If you're from that stat, down South That we have to amputate our berries

To get them in our mouth; That we raise the finest peaches That in any land you see; And pears, we pick a hundred boxes From off a single tree.

We raise the largest hops, And they make the finest beer.

And the biggest hop yards in the world We have in our valley here. And to our Columbia river fisheries The world must bend her knee, For kings now eat our salmon In that land across the sea.

Then there's the English walnut That in every land is raised, They grow not alone in England For in Oregon too, they're raised. And potatoes to the acre— Well, we dig three hundred sacks or more, And we can raise two crops a year On Pacific's balmy shore.

You can have your choice of climate, Almost any kind you name From the frozen peaks of Alaska To the sunny lands of Spain. For we have our state divided By a lofty mountain range; One side the sun is ever shining, The other is where it rains.

When the East is swept by blizzards We are fanned by a balmy breeze That comes from off the waters Of Pacific's briny seas. Roses here are always blooming, And the grass is ever green, For we have the finest climate That the world has ever seen.

We have no thunder, lightning, Drought, cyclones or hail, So there's no chance here For our crops to fail. And our scenery is the grandest That's found upon the earth, So if you come for that alone You will get your money's worth.

You can stand on the heights of Portland Where now the electric railroad goes And gaze down upon the valley Where the Willamette river flows Stretching far away you'll see forests

Of tall and mighty trees Whose slender tops for years Have been swayed by the ocean breeze.

To the east a range of mountains That loom up tall and high With snow-capped peaks towering Close against the sky And with their silent shadows Lie buried wealth in yellow gold, And it's just as easy now to get As it was in days of old.

To the north upon two deep and mighty rivers That to the ocean flow, You can see ships of every nation Passing to and fro. They all come here in ballast For we have everything we need, But we send them back loaded To the foreigners we feed.

And now I will tell you something That perhaps will make you smile, But for horses and pretty women We have Kentucky skinned a mile. And this rhyme I've written Every word I've said is true, So pack your duds and come along And bring your neighbors too.

For we extend to you a welcome And we'll lend a helping hand, For we need a hundred thousand settlers Upon our vacant land, And once you get to Oregon You never more will roam, For in this land of milk and honey You will build yourself a home.

And your wife will be contented; Your children grow big and strong, And you all will love old Oregon Before you live here very long, And when old Gabriel calls, Of course you'll have to go, But you'll hate like hell to leave Oregon For you would rather stay here below.

Death Was On His Heels.

Jeep P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and I was on my heels. Then I was introduced to Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after a king two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung ailments in all the world."
