

HOUSE WORK

Thousands of American women in their homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty.

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. F. Ellsworth, of Mayville, N. Y., and to Mrs. W. P. Boyd, of Beaver Falls, Pa., who say:

"I was not able to do my own work, owing to the female trouble from which I suffered. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully, and I am so well that I can do as big a day's work as I ever did. I wish every sick woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

SOCIAL EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK

Waters' Reception.

The reception given by Mrs. Elizabeth E. Waters, Mrs. Frank Waters, Mrs. George Waters, and Mrs. Fred Waters at the home of Mrs. E. E. Waters last Thursday afternoon, when the number of guests present totaled 135, was one of the most successful events given recently.

The blending of colors in the different rooms of the house, together with the floral decorations and rich gowns worn by the guests, and the soft music of McElroy's orchestra gave the appearance of a veritable fairyland. The dining room, where tea was served at tables presided over by Mrs. B. O. Schucking and Mrs. Charles McNary was darkened, and effectively decorated with yellow buttercups, and yellow laburnum. Purple and white lilies were the decorations in the parlor. In the music room red predominated, and the effect was carried out with red tulips. In a corner of this room, festooned with white flowering vine, punch was served by Miss Gertrude Grey, of Seattle, and Miss Winifred Byrd. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. C. Knighton and Mrs. Blanche H. Hogue of Portland.

Holman-Litchfield Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Cora Janet Litchfield to Mr. Thomas Holman was celebrated at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Litchfield, Thursday evening, Rev. W. H. Selleck performed the ceremony.

Both are well known in Marion and Polk counties where Mr. Holman has large business interests. The bride belongs to one of Salem's oldest families and has a host of friends.

After a wedding trip to Portland and the Sound cities they will return and make their home on the groom's ranch at Eola in Polk county.

Reynolds-Beckner Wedding.

A wedding of much interest took place last Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Hattie S. Beckner, on north High street, when Miss Nettie Beckner became the bride of Mr. John W. Reynolds of Portland. It was a pretty, but unpretentious, ceremony attended by the near relatives of both young people. Rev. Selleck of the First Methodist church officiated.

Mrs. Reynolds received her education in the schools of this city, and is a young woman with a charming, unaffected manner which has won for her a host of friends. Mr. Reynolds is the son of Dr. John Reynolds of this city, and a graduate of the Law Department of Willamette university, and also of Ann Arbor, Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds left Wednesday night for Portland, where they will make their home.

Musical Recital.

Miss Elma Weller will present Miss Marie Hutchins in a musical recital on the evening of June 2nd.

Miss Hutchins is a talented musician, and is well known here. A fine program will be given for which invitations will be issued.

Chicken Pie Supper.

The chicken pie supper given in the parlors of the First Congregational church under the auspices of the Ladies Aid society, was a financial success, nearly 400 people being served during the evening. A large sum was realized which will be used for church work and church expenses.

McMinnville Society Event.

The great social event of the past week was the marriage of Miss Fern Frances Stout, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Stout of McMinnville to James Patterson Graham of Portland. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Florence Palmer Weds.

Miss Florence Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Palmer of Dallas, became the bride of Paul L. Hunter, a rising young business man of Portland, on Wednesday. She is one of the charming Polk county girls.

Farewell Party.

Clair Alford, who left Sunday afternoon for eastern Oregon, was given a farewell party at his home in South Salem last Saturday night. The affair was in the nature of a taffy-pull and a delightful time was enjoyed with music and various games.

Boys' Club Entertained.

A Boys' club of the Y. M. C. A. was entertained at the home of Carl Hinges last night. About 40 guests were present including a number of the boys' girl friends. A merry time was had with games and music. Refreshments were served. This is the first entertainment of this kind that has been arranged and was so successful that others will probably be given.

Mrs. Temple's Telegram.

The critic of the Portland Evening Telegram says: "As a laugh show 'Mrs. Temple's Telegram' is one of the best." That was what this farce was written for. Simply to give the tired play-goer a chance to get away from the worries of everyday life and enjoy an evening of fun. The farce was originally presented at the Madison Square theater, New York, and ran for over three hundred nights in that city. Later it was sent to London where it enjoyed a run of three months at the Waldorf theater. Messrs Stockwell & MacGregor have engaged an excellent company to present this play and also carry all the special scenery necessary.

Wm. Bernard who assumes the leading part is an actor of exceptional merit. The other members of the company include L. Victor Gillard, Norval MacGregor, Joseph Dalley, Louis Thompson, Margaret Field, May Roberts, Lonna Nelson and Frances Field. Seats on sale at the box office of the Grand opera house Monday 9 a. m. The engagement is for one night only.

DYSPEPSIA

"Having taken your wonderful 'Cascarets' for three months and being entirely cured of stomach acidity and dyspepsia, I think a word of praise is due to 'Cascarets' for their wonderful composition. I have taken numerous other so-called remedies but without avail and I find that Cascarets relieves more in a day than all the others I have taken would in a year."

LEADERS REVISE FORECAST

Investigation Shows That Foreign Vote Has Now Becoming Controlling Factor—Scandinavian Vote.

Normal Republican Vote Found Strong Enough To Elect a Democratic Nominee for President, Which Accounts for Johnson's unexpected Strength.

Washington, D. C., May 9.—Since Justus L. Johnson, president of the Swedish-American Republican league of Illinois, gave his startling interview here to the effect that the Scandinavian vote of the country today forms a balance of power sufficiently strong if diverted from customary channels to elect a Democratic nominee for the presidency, party leaders have been overhauling their forecasts. They have been taking account of this element in national politics, which may play an important part in the election next fall. They have investigated these figures and are trying to gauge the extent to which party lines would be broken down next fall if the 5,000,000 voters of foreign birth or parentage in this country are for the first time given an opportunity to vote for a presidential candidate of the first American generation from non-English speaking stock. As a result of this and the rapidly growing sentiment in favor of Governor John Albert Johnson of Minnesota as the standard bearer of the Democratic party this year, there has been a radical readjustment of political calculations in some quarters.

What would be the result of his candidacy in drawing votes from old party affiliations? This is the question that is perplexing politicians. In other words they want to know whether blood will be thicker than party ties and whether the old political mans, with their "solid South" and all the other familiar divisions, will have to be remade to suit new conditions that have their rise in the country's enormous growth during the past 20 years. In doing this they have no guide from the past, but so far as the Scandinavian vote is concerned they are able to draw some interesting conclusions. This is a force that has never been tested in national politics, because the Scandinavians have never had a candidate of their own. It has been tried out in state politics, however, with results that make the problem of unique interest if developments prove for its testing out next fall.

There are 2,181,166 persons of Scandinavian origin (census of 1900) in the United States. That is to say, 274 out of every 10,000 persons living in this country are of Scandinavian birth or parentage. Of this number 148 are Swedes, 88 Norwegians, and 38 are Danes. In some states this proportion is decidedly higher. In Minnesota, for example, it is 3,371 and in North Dakota 3,338. The figures for some of the other states are South Dakota, 2,008; Utah, 1,452; Washington, 1,263; Illinois, 752; Kansas, 333; Wisconsin, 1,258; Wyoming, 810; Iowa, 815; Oregon, 543; Connecticut, 527; California, 438; New York, 220.

Just how many of these Scandinavian-Americans vote the Republican ticket is impossible to determine, but roughly speaking practically 95 per cent of the Swedes are Republicans. The Norwegians own a more divided allegiance and many of those in the large cities are Democratic in local politics. In national politics, however, they are usually found on the same side as the Swedes and in the past few presidential elections fully 70 per cent of them have voted the Republican ticket. Nationality ties are very strong with both Swedes and Norwegians and a majority of the immigrants who come to this country every year are males and sooner or later become voters. They form the same party affiliations as their countrymen already here and it has a political significance usually extends to the first generation, at least, and often beyond.

What the result would be if the two elements of nationality and politics ran counter to each other in a presidential election is the interesting problem.

Justus L. Johnson, who first pointed out this fact, has compiled some interesting figures on this head particularly with respect to Minnesota, Governor Johnson's home state.

The Scandinavian population of Minnesota is one-third of the population of the entire state. The total vote of the state in 1900 was 317,000 and out of this vote McKinley got a plurality of 77,000 votes, or 24 per cent of the total vote. A change of one-half of this plurality would have tied the vote. It can be safely estimated that the Scandinavian cast more than one-third of the total vote and a "flop" of half of those who voted for McKinley would have more than offset the Republican plurality in that election. That this would have been the case if McKinley had had a Scandinavian opponent is argued by some from the defeat by Governor Johnson of the Republican candidate for governor in the year of the Roosevelt landslide and Johnson's re-election two years later by a largely increased majority.

Similar results might be looked for in Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Utah and Washington, which with Minnesota have a total of 35 electoral votes. Other states, such as Wisconsin and Illinois, which are naturally Republican might have to be put in the doubtful column, because of the uncertain effect of the large Scandinavian vote.

Justus Johnson estimates that 50 per cent of the Scandinavian vote of the country will fall to Governor Johnson if he is nominated by the Democratic party.

"In his estimate of Mr. Bryan's electoral strength," said Mr. Johnson, "General Grosvenor has conceded him the solid South, including Maryland, Kentucky and Missouri, with 166 electoral votes—the states of Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Colorado, Idaho, Montana and Nevada. He would have an excellent chance in Illinois, Kansas, Wyoming and Wisconsin with 53 votes, and a chance in Iowa, Oregon, Connecticut, California and New York with 73 votes."

This statement, coming from a Republican politician, is significant of the uncertainty in the minds of Republican party leaders as to how they are to draw their political maps for the coming campaign.

A further complication of the situation is the possibility of foreign Republican votes, other than Scandinavian, falling to the Democratic candidate if he is of proximate foreign origin. For the extent of this vote-shifting there is no possible

If You Are Sick

It is because some of the organs of the body are not doing their work well. There is a lack of that nervous energy that gives them motion. Consequently you are weak, worn-out, nervous, irritable, cannot sleep; have headache, indigestion, etc. because there is not sufficient nerve force to keep the organs active and allow them to perform their natural functions. Dr. Miles' Nervine restores health because it restores this nervous energy.

"I have been sick for a year, and did not know what was the matter with me. I tried many remedies and none of them proved of any value. I heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine. I procured a bottle, and before I had taken half of it I was better. I would have had nervous prostration if I had not got this medicine when I did. I continued to take it until I was entirely well. I have since recommended it to five of my lady friends, and they have all thanked me for doing so, for it benefited them all."

MRS. ROSE OTTO, Columbus, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.
