

Be Sure and ask for Kellogg's

Nearly Everybody Winked

It has been a busy two weeks for the grocers. Thousands have registered their winks and as many palates have been delighted by the indescribable goodness of the GENUINE, Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes. Too bad the grocers couldn't continue to honor the wink, but the great supply of sample packages gave out. So now the large full size packages are going like hot cakes. This proves how immensely popular it is with all who tried

But is it any wonder? No other breakfast food has the exquisite flavor and dainty crispness.

The imitators have tried to copy this delicious flavor, but they have failed. So beware of all other so-called corn flakes. Remember the package—ask for Kellogg's and get it.

GRANGE ELECTION.

Buxton Re-Elected Master for Year—Addresses Delivered. (Eugene Daily Guard.)

biennial election of officers of Oregon state grange is taking this afternoon and will not be completed till late this evening. T. Buxton, of Forest Grove, re-elected master over J. J. Johnson, of Multnomah county, on first ballot by a vote of 51 to

J. Johnson was elected lecturer and W. A. Young of Columbia costeward.

Education was the predominating topic this morning at the meeting of state grangers at the university, they heard President Kerr, of Oregon Agricultural College address the assembly in Villard hall on "Education."

city's guests were tendered a luncheon in the gymnasium by the women of the university and the Women's auxiliary of the Commercial Union.

The main body of the visitors were met at the hotel.

W. J. Kerr, the well-known speaker, proved himself a pleasing and forceful speaker. He showed the tendencies of modern times, particularly toward demanding that the curriculum of even the common schools should include the study of the sciences and universities, be given such which should fit them especially for their duties in life. In his opinion of the distinction between a general type is past in the minds of the people, even though the technical lines rest upon the sciences of physics, chemistry, biology and mathematics.

expressed the kindest friendship for the university and tendered his best wishes on the part of the grange which he represents for the success of the university.

Arthur T. Buxton, master of the state grange, then made a few brief remarks on the opportunities of the future.

Mrs. Clara Waldo, dean of women at the Oregon Agricultural college, and state lecturer of the grange, expressed herself as a great friend of the University, stating that her first love letter came from a university of Oregon student.

Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway then in her inimitable way, broached the subject of woman suffrage, and undoubtedly convinced half the audience—the ladies—as to its advisability. That movement has been her life work.

J. H. Ackerman, state superintendent of public instruction, spoke briefly on the educational development in Oregon, giving as his opinion that the University should by all means be given the appropriation.

Hon. H. S. Friendly was the first speaker on the program. He briefly and appealingly asked the grangers for their support in aid of the university bill from his position as chairman of the board of regents.

The convention visitors were then shown over the grounds and tendered luncheon. They returned downtown about 1:30 o'clock.

This Morning's Business Session. This morning's business session, before the delegates went to the university, was devoted principally to the reading of the executive committee's report. Another resolution opposing the single tax and one favoring the local option law were introduced and referred to the proper committees. All of the resolutions that have been introduced and not acted upon will come up for final action probably on the last day.

Master's Annual Report. The annual report of Grand Master Buxton was read at yesterday afternoon's session. It was an interesting paper and contained a number of suggestions, among which are the following: He favors several changes in the initiative law as follows: No bill should be initiated unless it first goes to the legislature in order that publicity can be given it, so that the people will have a better understanding of it; no remuneration should be allowed for securing names for the initiative petitions; a majority vote should be necessary to make an amendment. He recommended state control of water rights, a subject of importance to the grangers. State Engineer Lewis is expected here during the week to speak on that subject. He also favored the accounting system for all public officials and education on denatured alcohol. In his report Master Buxton stated that there are in round numbers 8000 members of the grange in the state and 123 granges. The two largest granges are Evening Star and the one at Russellville, both in Multnomah county, with a membership of 301 and 175 respectively.

H. Hirschberg, treasurer of the state grange, made his annual report showing the condition of funds to be as follows on May 8, 1908: May 23, 1907, balance on hand, $6374.48; received during year, $4635.55; total receipts, $11,010.03; disbursed during the year, $5642.70; balance on hand, $5367.33.

At yesterday's session resolutions as follows were introduced and referred to committees: Opposing the single tax; favoring the right of recall; favoring a national highway commission; favoring state control of water rights and opposing the Reddy bill, which would give municipalities the right to make their own charters.

Yesterday afternoon a temperance program was rendered, the principal feature being a stirring address on the workings of local option by Mr. Rutherford, of Portland, who declared that it is the best law of its kind in existence in the United States at the present time. Miss Eula Lilwall favored the convention with a well-revered recitation and Miss Daisy Gilbert rendered a beautiful vocal solo.

Public Reception. Last night's public reception at the armory was largely attended and was an unqualified success. The band played a few selections and then a number of little girls distributed bouquets of roses to the delegates, this being a beautiful and most pleasing feature of the evening. Dr. D. A. Pains presided at the meeting and introduced Mayor J. D. Matlock and Judge L. T. Harris, who delivered the addresses of welcome. The University Glee club then sang and Grand Master Buxton, of Forest Grove, spoke in response to the welcome extended by Mayor Matlock and Judge Harris. Mrs. Clara B. Waldo, state lecturer for the grange, delivered a short address and she was followed by Professor L. R. Alderman, superintendent of Eugene's public schools, on "How to Make Country Life All that It Should Be." This was illustrated with lantern slides and was very interesting. At the close of his address it was announced that the theaters had extended an invitation to all delegates to visit the shows free of charge, their badges being equivalent to the price of admission.

At the close of the meeting the grange voted to send to President Roosevelt a message of commendation for his action toward conserving the forests of the country.

Equal Suffrage Resolution. Following is the resolution adopted at yesterday's session on equal suffrage, this being the first resolution passed by the 35th annual session of the grange:

Whereas, The Patrons of Husbandry recognized the natural equality rights as existing between the sexes when placing its members, men and women, on terms of equality in every position of honor and trust within its jurisdiction; and

Whereas, The National Grange has placed on record a resolution affirming and reaffirming its belief in the enfranchisement of women; and

Whereas, The state of Oregon has an equal rights constitutional amendment now pending, which, being non-political, non-partisan and non-sectarian, comes properly within the jurisdiction of this body; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, in annual convention assembled, reaffirm our allegiance to the principle involved in said amendment, and are proud to reiterate our former declaration in favor of its adoption.

An Oregon Model.

The new state of Oklahoma is modeled after Oregon in many ways and even surpasses Oregon in a number of features. Her banking law, for instance, in which every state bank contributes to a fund which is kept in reserve to guarantee deposits, has brought her millions of dollars in deposits from adjoining states.

On Thursday, May 7, the people of Oklahoma will vote upon three proposed amendments to the federal constitution, to-wit: Popular election of United States senators, authorization of an income tax, an employers' liability law.

There is every reason to believe that the people of the new state will adopt every one of the measures, requesting congress to enact such legislation.

Oklahoma has the spirit of progress and has taken advanced ground on almost every subject. Her state constitution is a model charter of liberty for the people of a commonwealth and she has rebuked many older states by courageous defiance of trusts, corruption and skulduggery.—East Oregonian.

A Californian's Luck.

"The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," writes Charles F. Budahn, of Tracy, California. "Two 25c boxes cured me of an annoying case of itching piles, which had troubled me for years and that yielded to no other treatment." Sold unguaranteed at J. C. Perry's drug store.

Divorce Yourself from lard cooked food

The purity of Cottolene is apparent when you compare its source—the cotton fields of the Sunny South, with the source of lard—the pig-sty. Lard is an animal product of doubtful cleanliness and wholesomeness; Cottolene a vegetable product of absolute cleanliness and purity.

The economy of using Cottolene is easy to figure when you know that one-third less is required than of either lard or cooking butter.

If purity and economy count for anything in your eyes, Cottolene should be the frying and shortening medium used in your kitchen. It is recommended by the most noted cooks and pure food advocates of this country—people who have scientifically analyzed it and carefully tested it for all cooking purposes where lard or butter has been previously used.

Buy a pail of Cottolene today and give it a personal test.
