No More "Soul Kisses."

A "soul kiss" of more than one second in duration will not be tolerated in Prospect Park, Brooklyn, this summer, says a New York dispatch. Police Inspector O'Reilly is given imperative instructions. "Love making in its proper place is done according to the strict code prescribed by Cupid is all right," said, "but I object to hugging and kissing when it is carried to excess." Captain Lawrence Murphy says he worried over the delicate position which his men will be led. The dice are instructed to be gently on all occasions and not to be rash with lovers. They are instructed to walk heavily when they believe it time for a "soul kiss" to pop and whistle, cough or slap their hands as if attempting to scare a squirrel.

Hit Newspaper Men.

It is the habit to speak of President Harrison as the "coldest" man who ever lived in the White House. He is mellowing the bitterness of Harrison's critics, says the Editor and Publisher, and each year he owns a bigger figure in our history. It was said he could not take a joke give one that would make men laugh with genial warmth. It is being known that Harrison had a sense of humor. It is related that he was called on for a speech at the first Gridiron dinner he attended. He looked around at the assembled newspaper men and observed in a quiet way: "This is the second time this week have been called upon to open congress of American inventors"

The shaft went home and a shout of laughter went up.

Mr. Harrison went on: "I will say this for you—I have often been impressed with the accuracy with which you predict what I am going to do and still more with the accuracy with which you subsequently explain why I didn't do it."

The End of the World.

Short on Judgment.

A Pittsburg judge recently threatened to prosecute the publisher of a paper because the headlines, "Blank's Lies Read to the Jurors," appeared in his paper while a trial was going on in which Blank was a witness, although the evidence offered showed pretty plainly that Blank was a liar. The judge held that it might influence the jury. Bosh! A jury that can be influenced to form an opinion contrary to the evidence in a case simply because of a headline in a paper, is not sufficiently intelligent to serve, and a judge who does not realize that hasn't any judgment to spare. Far-Sighted.

"Did your landlord notice the leaky roof when he was around collecting the rent this morning?" "No; but he saw the little window in the garret my boy Johnny broke." —Judge's Library.

"Dora Thorne" Coming.

To those who have never read Bertha M. Clay's famous novel, the following synopsis of the story will prove interesting, especially as "Dora Thorne" will appear in dramatized form at the Grand theater, one night only, May 20th. This play and book deals with a beautiful love story in a rural English home. An innocent girl daughter of a lodge-keeper of an Englishman of high birth, is loved by the son of the latter. The match meets with the disfavor of the young man's father, but despite the fact that the father informs either to give up the girl or his home of luxury, he chooses "Dora Thorne" and marries her. The young girl, a pure and honest creature, loves the young man quite as well as he does her but through the efforts of a young sailor the young couple are separated and made to believe later that each had been unfaithful to the other.

This state comes about as the result of the efforts of Lady Chararis and the father of the earl. The young sailor returns after a two-years voyage to find that Dora's favor has been transferred from him to the young nobleman and several complications arise from this, which for awhile take on a serious aspect. The time arrives when honesty and faithfulness triumph, and the closing scenes find everything favorable for the young folks.

Poison Oak Poisoning.

Ballard's Snow Liniment cures it. Mr. O. H. P. Cornelius, Turner, Ore. writes—My wife has discovered that Snow Liniment cures "Poison Oak Poisoning," a very painful trouble. She not only cured a case of it on herself, but on two of her friends who were poisoned by this same ivy.

Prospects of the Diamond Trade.

The whole question, however, as to whether the price of diamonds is to be kept up is altogether dependent upon what action may be taken by the Rough Diamond Syndicate of London, controlling the output of the De Beers company and the Premier Mine company, which represents about 95 per cent of the syndicate, in connection with the De Beers and the Premier Mine, has given to the diamond people of Antwerp and Amsterdam a solemn assurance that under no circumstances will they reduce the prices of rough diamonds, and as they are vitally interested in keeping the prices up, there is every reason to believe that this assurance will be adhered to. It is not to be denied that the diamond brokers of Amsterdam are at present loaded with diamonds, and if the Rough Syndicate should reduce the prices of the rough diamond a great calamity will be brought not only upon themselves, but upon the brokers who would be forced to sacrifice their stocks. At present, for mutual protection, the strong are carrying the weak, but should the price of the unpolished diamond be reduced there would be a rush to cover and the disaster to the trade would be very great.

Possibly the most important and influential diamond-broker of Amsterdam, at my request for an expression of opinion regarding the outlook of the diamond industry for the coming year, has given the following opinion:

"As the stock of polished diamonds has not increased during the past six months, on account of all the factories being closed, and as there was much more sold than polished, I shall not be astonished that as soon as there is a demand for diamonds again we shall see the same condition which prevailed after the big lockout of February, 1904. There will be a scarcity of the right goods on account of the reduction to one-half of the output

New Livers exchanged for Old Ones

Sounds funny doesn't it—but it's true. You can get a brand new liver—just as active and healthy as a liver can be—by the simple process of taking an occasional NR tablet according to directions. And when you have the new liver it means that all the ailments that came from the old one—such as constipation, biliousness, sick headache, indigestion, dyspepsia, stomach trouble, rheumatism, malaria, chills and fever, pimples and bad complexion will disappear.

Take an NR tablet to-night and you'll feel better in the morning.

This is the testimony of every typewriter user who knows by experience the relative performance of writing machines.

The man of all men who swears by the Remington is the man who has tried to get the same service out of some other machine.
