visions of the platform but soon after his arrival received a committee representing the National Manufacturers' association.

The committee filed objections to the incorporation in the platform of a plank protesting against the free use of injunctions by courts in labor disputes.

Ellis listened attentively to all the committee had to say but gave them no reply as it was evident he was not authorized to make any changes in the platform. The objection in full are expected to be forwarded at once to Taft in Washington.

Delegates who were refused places on the temporary roll of the convention today received literature and buttons from the "second elective term" Roosevelt boomers and many of them wore the buttons in public.

There is no doubt that a determined effort will be made to stamper the convention to Roosevelt whether he gives his consent to such action or not.

Taft Tariff Plank.

Since it has become known that the tariff plank in the Ohio Republican was actually written by Secretary Taft an effort is being made to have this plank inserted in the national party platform.

The exact wording of the tariff plank is as follows.

"A revision of the tariff by a special session of the next congress, insuring the maintenance of the true principle of protection by imposing such duties as will equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit, to the end that without excessive duties, American manufacturers, farmers, producers and wage earners may have adequate protection."

CHERRY FAIR PROMISES TO BE GREAT FAIR

Cups and Other Prizes Larger Than Before—Fete Well Advertised—$500 Appropriated As a Starter

Enthusiasm over the cherry fair ran high at the meeting of the Board of Trade last evening, and there seems to be not the least possible doubt that the exhibition which will be held here on the 9th, 10th and 11th of next month will be the greatest thing of its kind ever attempted anywhere.

All the committees reported great progress in the preparations. As yet the Board of Trade has not been able to secure a suitable building in which to hold the fair. Chairman Powers of the committee stated that he had been in correspondence with two of the largest tent firms on the coast, and it may be that a huge tent will be rented, and the fair held under canvas in Marion Square.

There will be more cups and prizes than ever this year. Powers said in his report that a $25 cup had been offered for the first prize for counties, and a $15 cup for second prize in the same class. There will be four cups offered that were left over from last year, besides many new ones that are now being made.

Also $60 will be spent for diplomas, which are to be of an exceedingly handsome design. Last year no diplomas were secured by the board, and those who were entitled to them did not receive them. Those competitors will receive them this year.

Several members of the advertising committee told of the splendid work that is being done in that line. Mr. Park said that The Dalles was a rival for the honors that belong to Salem, and that the people there were advertising themselves as a Cherry City. "The Dalles," he said, "is trying very hard to get the name of 'Cherry City' from Salem. All the cities of Oregon are having fairs of some special sort. Hood River has strawberries and apples. Albany is to have an apple fair. The Dalles wants cherries. But we are the 'Cherry City.' Let us push the fair, and keep the name that belongs to us to ourselves."

In regard to advertising the Salem Cherry Fair, chairman Powers said: "Practically everyone of the 27 horticultural papers west of the Rocky mountains are mentioning the Salem cherry fair in every issue. There is not a horticultural paper of any importance in the whole United States that has not mentioned it. Every big fruit raiser in the country is talking of it. Mr. Stark, the largest nurseryman west of the Mississippi river, is coming to Salem to see it. His son, who is now at Stanford university is going to settle on the coast, and going into the fruit raising business, and we are going to try to get him to locate at Salem when he comes here."

Chairman Powers told of the enormous quantity of cherry fair advertising matter that has been sent out, but mentioned the fact that the horticultural papers were giving it special editorial notice, which was better than paid advertising. A motion by R. C. Bishop was carried, that $250 that was set aside for the Salem float at the Portland Rose carnival, together with the $250 now on hand, be appropriated for the cherry fair.

The matter of the Fourth of July celebration was also taken up. It has been definitely settled that Salem is to have a gigantic celebration on the Fourth, and that it is not to be connected with the cherry fair. In speaking of the celebration, Chairman Huestein of the Fourth of July committee said: "Unanimous action was taken last night by the business men's league to celebrate the Fourth at Salem. Messrs. R. C. Bishop, Hal Patton and R. D. Yantis were appointed a committee to raise funds, and today they secured $1250. The mark was set at $2000, but it is probable that we will not need that amount. We are going to make a success of the celebration, and when we are through with that we will turn all our attention to the success of the cherry fair."

The Board of Trade is enthusiastic over the school children's parade which will take place Friday. Last night the members appropriated $25 to help the committee that is working with the school board. It was the sentiment of the board that the parade be made an annual event. President J. H. Albert spoke feelingly on the subject, and his remarks were greeted with applause. "We want this parade to occur annually," he said. "We never had a chance to see such a gathering of children, and every year at this time we want to see the boys and girls who are to take our places in the future."

It was suggested that all the business men decorate their stores in the national colors. Pictures of the decorated business houses with the school children in front of them will be taken, and used for the purpose of advertising the city.

A telegram of thanks from the Rose carnival board of Portland was read. The carnival board expressed its gratitude to the women of Salem for the roses they showered upon Portland during the carnival week. Secretary A. Hofer stated that during the four principal days of the carnival the Salem ladies had sent to Portland an average of 20 cases of roses each day. The roses were sent in cases about the size of lemon boxes, holding nearly two bushels each.

Chairman Stoltz of the city council street committee was asked to speak in regard to the improvement on State street, the cherry fair committee being anxious to know whether the street would be in condition for the fair. Stoltz said Manager Page of the street railway company has assured him that all the material for completing the car track improvements was ready, and that the work would proceed at once. "The controversy between the company and his honor, the mayor," said Stoltz, "is over the signing of the contract. The company wants until August. His honor is trying to hurry the company up. He has used the stick but he hasn't welded the club yet."

"The work is going on as rapidly as possible under the circumstances. The street is blockaded because the company is working the whole length of it at once. We wanted them to complete a block at a time but by their contract they claim the right to proceed with the work as they please."

Stoltz further stated that there had been rumors to the effect that the work on State street is being delayed by the company with the view of neglecting the work on Commercial street. This rumor, he said, was without foundation. Mr. Page had the material for Commercial street already ordered, and when the rumor reached him he expressed his intention of bringing it to Salem at once. He was advised not to do this however, Mr. Stoltz stated, inasmuch as the material lying along Commercial street would be unsightly and unnecessary.

Some minor business was transacted by the board, among other things several amendments to the by-laws, defining the duties of certain officers of the board.
