Washington, June 25.—The Oakland Transcontinental Aerial Power company of Oakland and San Francisco, today were debarred from the use of the United States mail by a fraud order.

There Is a Lot of Unnecessary Eye Trouble

In this world, we allow ourselves to become nervous and fretful. Weeds of care overrun the garden of the heart when they should never be allowed to take root.

A GREAT DEAL OF THE PRESENT EYE TROUBLE is caused by people selecting Glasses for themselves that are unsuited for their eyes.

WE SUPPLY THE BEST after thorough examinations and tests.

ever presented on the stage. In the role of Aunt Mary, Miss Robson, it is said, has one of the best parts of her entire career.

Fresh from her triumph at the Studebaker theater, Chicago, where she has been playing to laughing audiences nightly, Miss Robson and her company will be seen here in this delightful comedy as presented in Chicago for the past three months. There are many funny situations in the play and Miss Robson as Aunt Mary is screamingly funny all the time.

A decomposed body, supposed to be that of a murdered ranchman, was found today in a well at Tracy, Calif.

DEPARTURE OF FLEET POSTPONED

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, June 25.—The departure of the second division of the Pacific fleet which was scheduled for today, has been postponed for a week. According to advices from the ships will steam south on July 1. The four cruisers and three torpedo boat destroyers which compose the second division have been ordered to the waters of southern California for a practice cruise.

SHERMAN REPORTED IMPROVING

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Cleveland, O., June 25.—At 9 this morning physicians attending Jas. S. Sherman, Republican candidate for the vice-presidency, announced that their patient had passed a comfortable night and was considerably refreshed. His condition shows general improvement, but it has been agreed that he will not leave the hospital for another week.

TEDDY IS A COMMON LABORER

Oyster Bay, June 25.—According to a statement given out by Secretary Loeb, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., has been given a position as a common laborer by John Greenway and will be shown no preference over other workmen.

The statement says that neither the President nor his son knew until they saw it in the newspapers that Greenway's company was owned by the steel trust and that young Roosevelt was employed because Greenway was in Colonel Roosevelt's regiment and wanted to give the President's son a chance.

"Young Roosevelt," says Loeb, "will be hired as a laborer and stand or fall strictly on his own merits."

gan the work of arresting prisoners, and in many cases the leaders of the Ahnjamans and other political clubs were shot without trials. Eager to obey the orders of their monarch, the cossacks began the work of arrest at daylight and in some cases the houses of the revolutionists were broken into and leaders taken from their beds to be killed.

The shah is in complete control of the city itself, although he is expecting trouble from the north and south where troops are mobilizing to assist the revolt at the capital.

According to foreigners and disinterested parties, the first shot in the riot around the parliamentary houses was fired by the Ahnjamans. The cossacks had surrounded the parliament buildings and demanded that the revolutionists surrender to them a number of persons whose arrest the shah had ordered. This request was met by shots and bombs and several soldiers were killed before they fired a shot. The artillery was brought up and the parliament houses demolished.

An imperial order issued last night declared Teheran in a state of siege. The shah gave orders for the bazaars to re-open or be demolished and the shop keepers timidly opened their doors.

The city is far from quiet today, however, and more serious trouble is expected before night. The British legation is filled with refugees and the cossacks are again looting the city. Although the shah has given strict orders that no foreigners are to be killed, the general feeling here is that foreigners are unsafe and trouble is looked for. Great Britain and Russia have signified their intention to keep their hands off the row unless the situation becomes more serious.

Fear Rebel Invasion.

Tiflis, Russia, June 25.—A thousand cossacks are today being rushed from the Caucasus region to Teheran to serve as an additional guard for the shah, who is fearing a general invasion of the city by the rebels.

Advices received here this afternoon that the troops of the revolutionists are advancing rapidly upon the Persian capital and that the St. Petersburg, June 25.—Dispatches from Persia today say that rebels are marching on Teheran from the north of Persia and that the shah has dispatched 5000 soldiers to meet them. The situation in the northern provinces is critical.

In the south Prince Zill-Es-Sultan is reported to be gathering an army to march against the shah's troops. The prince is friendly to Great Britain and is at the head of a strong organization.

Today dispatches state that a general uprising against the Persian monarch may be expected in a few days and that the powers may be forced to intervene.

YALE

In the four-oared race, the Yale crew got off in the lead by half a length and gradually forced ahead inch by inch until at the end of the two-mile course they had extended the advantage to a full length. The official time was Yale 10 minutes and 33 seconds; Harvard 10 minutes and 43 seconds.

The Harvard freshmen were grimly determined to retrieve the day for the crimson and got off with a terrific stroke. They took the lead at the start and rowed away from the New Haven crew in the blue shell, winning by two and a half lengths. The official time was Harvard 9 minutes and 38 seconds; Yale 9 minutes and 47 seconds.

This is the forty-second annual race. Yale has won 23 and Harvard 18. Yale holds the record, having covered the four miles in 1888 in 20 minutes and 10 seconds.

SLADNER CAUSES WOMAN TO COMMIT SUICIDE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Reno, Nev., June 25.—Complete mystery surrounds the suicide here of pretty Mrs. Bert Dunham, 19 years old, who drank carbolic acid after writing the following note to her husband:

"Dear Bert: I am not guilty. God knows it. Good bye."

"ELMA."
The distracted husband is at a loss to know what the note means, but it is thought that a woman acquaintance has accused the young wife with misconduct and knowing that her husband would hear and perhaps believe the story, she took her life.

PRESIDENT WOMAN'S CLUB VICTIM OF BICYCLE

Careless Boy Rider Collides With Mrs. Kelliher and Both Bones are Broken Above Ankle

A few minutes after 9 this morning Mrs. C. L. Bristol Kelliher, president of the Salem Library Board, and a prominent club woman, was run down by a boy on a bicycle in front of the Barnes residence on Chemokeeta street, and had both bones of the left leg broken just above the ankle.

Mrs. Kelliher was walking down the street with A. W. Fordyce, with whom she was planning the cast of the play "The Crisis," and the boy who does errands for the Twelfth street bakery came tearing along, rang his bell and the pedestrians stepped out of his way, but the street sprinkler came along and Mrs. Kelliher stepped back onto the sidewalk just in time to be caught by the flying wheel. She was not more than a block from her home, and was helped into the Barnes residence. A physician was called and she bravely mounted a pair of crutches and walked the short distance to her home, where the compound fracture was reduced and she was made as comfortable as possible.

The accident will cause more sentiment against reckless riding and may possibly result in all bicycles being ordered off the sidewalks.

STATE BANKERS CONVENTION FRIDAY

Let Salem Give the Money Lords Friendly Greeting----Flowers Wanted For Decorations

The State Bankers association will meet in Salem Friday and this city should bestir itself to give them a hearty welcome, and make them remember the Capital City, and their visit here with great pleasure.

An elaborate speaking program and a banquet has been arranged, but the Capital Journal wants to suggest as there has been some criticism of the principal hotel, that Salem people furnish flowers to decorate that historic hostelry from top to bottom inside at least. Bring flowers to The Journal office Friday morning and Friday forenoon and help us to make at least one place in the city attractive to the stranger. Any kind of flowers with long stems will do, and can be made of great value for decorations.

The Bankers Program.

The bankers' convention will meet at 11 a. m. at the Elks hall Friday morning, and be welcomed with an address by the mayor.

There will be an afternoon session until 3 p. m., when there will be an auto drive into the Liberty country.

In the evening there will be a smoker at the Illibee club, with lunch served at the buffet, and Mrs. A. N. Bush will give a reception to the ladies.

Saturday there will be a business session in the morning and a launch ride on the river in the afternoon.

KAY FOR PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

Will Not Have the Riot Act Read to Him By the Salem Machine Politicians

After having the riot act read to him by the local machine politicians, for declaring he would abide by Statement No. 1, and vote for Chamberlain for United States senator, Senator T. B. Kay decided to drop out of the race for the presidency of the senate.

But on recent trips to Eugene and Portland, he has received so much commendation for his political respect for the will of the people, that he has decided to make the race without the support of his colleagues, the Hon. J. N. Smith, and will be a candidate for the place.

History of Case.

Kay is blamed by the local machine for the downfall of their plans to put out a convention ticket in this county entirely opposed to Statement No. 1, and on a showdown of the delegates from the second ward, out of 22 only three stood for the convention program—A. N. Gilbert, J. N. Smith and F. T. Wrightman. The rest were with Kay. Ever since he has been accused of bad faith and with throwing down the machine program, and Smith who was pledged to Kay for President of the senate notified him that he could not support him if he intended to stand by the people's choice for senator.

Kay May Win.

As a holdover senator and of pronounced reform views Kay will have supporters outside of Statement No. 1 men, and is more than likely to win. He got out of Smith's way for chairman of the ways and means committee, when Smith had no real claim upon the place, having supported Hodson for president of the senate and he was defeated. So it is a fight to a finish between Kay and the Marion county machine politicians. Kay says this county indicated its delegation by a vote of three to one to vote for the people for senator, and he will not see how an honest man could get out of doing what the people want him to do on a matter of public issue.

An Unstable Laboring Class.

(From Ray Stannard Baker's "The Western Spirit of Restlessness," in the July Century.)
The prospector of the mountains and the cowboy of the plains are each a sort of Bedouin, with no permanent abiding place—here today, there tomorrow—usually with a long story of experiences in different places—going to Alaska and back, rushing of new discoveries, trying new ranching ways moving. Indeed, some of the class of the West, as a man repairing the defective crossings will begin immediately.

every important road had heard coast, and the high.

To the better from the railroad in regard to the county, which state the Sheridan & Williams railroad crossings maintained the life of the farmers in that section, general manager O. K. Edwards has written to the commission stating that the work of the company has been dangerous to the life of the farmers in that section, and that the work of the class of the West, as a man repairing the defective crossings will begin immediately.
