THE BANKERS' CONVENTION.

The State Bankers' association is meeting at Salem in its annual convention.

The Capital City has enjoyed a good name and reputation as a city where banking HAS BEEN SUCCESSFULLY CONDUCTED.

This city has had its share of failures and is not in position to throw stones at any other section of the state.

Indeed, this is not the age of the world for throwing rocks as a profitable occupation IN ANY LINE OF BUSINESS.

Speculation, inflation, and political schemes are the foes of good banking, and yet they offer continuous baits for the unwary.

It is an open question whether the Oklahoma plan of SECURING THE DEPOSITORS OF ALL STATE BANKS is possible of realization.

That plan will probably have its advocate at Salem, and perhaps the state association cannot avoid taking a stand on the question.

Whatever happens, the stay of the state bankers' association will be an interesting event in the history of the city.

PEDAGOGS IN SESSION.

The State Teachers' association in session at Eugene has many difficult problems to consider.

Among them are raising the standards of the profession AND THE COMPENSATION OF ITS MEMBERS.

Educational interests in Oregon are looking up, and the provisions for better training are improving.

One step much needed to be taken is to give those who take a normal school course A DIPLOMA FROM THE STATE.

As the matter stands, no degree from any institution protects the teacher against harassing annual examinations.

The fact is, the county examinations admit about as many unfit teachers AS THEY KEEP OUT INCOMPETENTS.

With better standards prevailing, with better opportunities for equipment, the teacher's lot should be a happier one.

CHOOSING A GODDESS.

Next to the revival of the old custom of keeping a Mayday and selecting a Queen of the May, the Goddess of Liberty custom persists.

As the country grows older it will become more sentimental and will grow more enthusiastic over

-SMILES-

Uncle Bill Anderson has promised us a copy of a love letter written to him when he was in the Blue Mountains, by a Salem girl who wanted very much to have him come back to Salem. If he gives it to us we will print it.

It will be just as well to lock up your valuables. The bankers are in town.

Each one of the bankers should be given a copy of the 1000 facts of the production of the Willamette Valley.

After hearing Mayor Rodgers the bankers will conclude that this is a dry town in the vintage of its wit.

Tom Kay has a little too much brains to suit the machine. Their standard is one degree above the tadpole.

In 1810 a learned writer tells us that potatoes are preferable each alternate year to summer fallow for wheat land. Yet there are many persons in Oregon who still summer fallow their wheat.

The Capital Journal is embarrassed in the Goddess of Liberty contest as a very popular office employee is leading favorite, and this paper never likes to boost any of its own people. In this case we shall make an exception and ask all the young men at least to cast their ballots for Miss Myrtle Montgomery.

A $50 gown for the Goddess and a $20 gown for the Columbia are the prizes in the Salem Fourth of July popular contest for young ladies. Watch somebody blow his money at the last moment and swipe the coveted honor for his best girl.

Mr. O. Neelands, the mixologist at the Annex, has shown the editor of The Journal a book printed in 1816, a kind of farmers' almanac and genotherwise wicked practices. The are able articles on making and preserving cider, and making wine from berries and currants, and making small beer, and other directions in matters bibliatory and succulent and otherwise wicked practices. The character of a Virginian gentleman is set forth as seen through the eyes of an English traveler. He principally loved race horses, game cocks and gambling. Although printed in 1810 there was a communication to this almanac dated 1806, as the mails were not very fast in those days. Uncle John Minto would be interested in an article on the management of sheep, and we are not right sure John did not write it. Grubs in horses, lockjaw, gout, vapours and sore eyes troubled people then as now. The book is intensely interesting.

FORM ONE MORE HABIT

YOU HAVE probably not yet formed enough "habits." It is likely that you would find the "ad-answering habit" a dividend-paying one—and one that would never lure you far away from the best thrift-creed ever devised. A habit is usually formed through yielding to natural inclination. The ad-answering habit will have to be cultivated—perhaps against present inclination, and through an effort of will. You are not in the habit of saying "impossible," are you?
