LOCAL BALL

BY JOCK

The East Portland aggregation took another game from the Cherry Pickers yesterday afternoon on the local league grounds by a score of 7 to 3. The bad eye of Umpire Giles, who also made some awful decisions on bases, together with the hitting ability of the visitors was the cause of Salem being beaten so hard. Robinson's Salem's new slabster was out of his tracks yesterday, and the East Portland bunch hit the ball and capered around the sacks at will. A goodly amount of childish ball was exhibited by players on both sides, which put the game on the bum as far as interest was concerned for both players and spectators. The ump was apparently out of line during the entire game, and the decisions handed out on several occasions were just simply rotten. On two different occasions a man struck out and made an undecided run for first base and the catcher threw the ball, and threw it to satisfy the runner to first sack man, who fumbled it both times permitting a local player to reach second and a visitor to reach first safe, but the umpire would not stand for a Salem player to pull down such easy money, and called Archie Jerman out after having taken advantage of a third strike caught on a pick-up by Catcher Brock, who threw wild to first letting Jerman make second easily. On the other hand an East Portland man was allowed to hold first safe after having struck out and walking behind the catcher with the intention of going to the bench but, after being urged by the coaches ran to first and reached it safe as far as running the base was concerned, as Carey dropped the ball, which was thrown to him in a little up-and-over way by Heyser who had no idea the Portland man would run out such a cinch. According to the right dope, the Portland man should have been out for going behind the catcher and half way to the bench before starting down the first base line.

The Portland pitcher, Hurlbert, held the locals down fine although his arm was sore from pitching Saturday's game in Portland against the Frakes, holding them down to three dinky hits.

Johnson, another of the Cherry Pickers new recruits, played the third sack job great, and managed to wallop out the ball every time up. Nace and Lawrence got a two-bagger apiece, which were nice an clean.

The bartenders and the barbers pulled off their contest which was scheduled for yesterday afternoon, and the mixers downed the lather sangers by just one score, the total being 11 to 12. Although the score was somewhat to the merry, the two "amateur" aggregations displayed some exceptionally fine plays, especially sliding on bases. Miller, the bartender's pitcher done himself proud by striking out nine men and walking ten and hitting four, but all around the big Swede proved just a trifle too much for the dainty fingered knights of the brush. The twirler who did the stunt for the barbers was not the slow one and the work he did (and it was sure work), would have captured the game had he been blessed with better backing and better wind to hold out.

The bartending aggregation are now out for any and all comers who have a liking for defeat and will be most willing to accommodate.

The Woodburn champions chased the foxy Frakes out of existence yesterday on the Vaughn street grounds in Portland, piling up seven runs to the West Portlanders three. "Chet" Bowen done the act for the Woodburn huskies.

The Portland Pacific Coasters also won out against Los Angeles by three to two.

CONFESSES TO SAVE BROTHER

(Valley Press Lensed Wire.)
San Francisco, June 29.—"My reason for saying that I and not my brother, William Evans, shot George Godfrey, was that I am a single man, with no one depending on me for support, while he is married and has two children and I did not wish him to get into serious trouble."

This remarkable state was made at the city prison today by Jack Evans, who last night surrendered himself to the police as the one who did the shooting.

William Evans, who did the shooting, was arrested later on the statement of Godfrey that Jack did not have anything to do with the shooting.

The shooting was the result of bad blood between Godfrey and Evans, who is a contractor. Godfrey was discharged by William Evans some time ago, after a quarrel and since then both men have gone armed. They met in a saloon and Evans shot the other man four times, and ran away.

Jack Evans walked up to the police van that was summoned to remove Godfrey to the Emergency hospital and asked to be arrested, declaring that he had done the shooting.

MANY INJURED

Charles L. Patridge of Redlands was killed in the crash.

The locomotive was almost completely buried in the sand, taking with it both Fireman Thomas and Engineer Curtin, neither of whom have yet been found and are believed to be under the mass of broken and twisted iron and steel, which is all that is left of the huge engine. The baggage man, who name is not known, is also missing and it is feared he also is under the wreckage.

Wrecking trains have been dispatched to the scene of the wreck and the work of clearing away the debris will be rushed.

The wrecked occurred while the heavy train, which was west-bound, was running at a fair rate of speed. The timbers supporting the bridge had been burned away and there was no blaze to warn the engineer. The heavy engine piling into the dry creek and the first two or three coaches followed piling up in a hopeless wreck of timbers and steel.

The injured were brought to Winslow and placed in the Santa Fe hospital where they are receiving every care. It is not believed that any will die.

Three lives were snuffed out and 40 persons injured, many of them seriously. The dead are: Engineer Gurin, Fireman Thomas, C. L. Patridge, passenger, Redlands, Cal.

Among the seriously injured are: W. Klieckner, Los Angeles; B. F. Taylor, Los Angeles; J. B. Dame, Pasadena; F. Greiger, Pullman conductor.

BRYAN TO WIN

official statement from the Bryan headquarters that the Nebraskan's friends are so sure they are willing to announce the result in advance. They have predicted it before, but never with the present air of finality.

Dahlman for Chairman.

Denver, Colo., June 29.—If William J. Bryan can bring it about there will be a new chairman of the Democratic national committee to succeed Thomas Taggart of Indianapolis.

Mayor James C. Dahlman of Omaha, is said today to be Bryan's choice for the head of the committee and manager of the campaign.

It is reported on the best authority that, even if Taggart is re-elected, Bryan will not permit him to manage the campaign and will appoint his own manager and force Taggart to confine himself strictly to committee affairs.

This phase of the situation has developed much discussion. It is known that Taggart desires to succeed himself and it is generally expected that there will be a fight.

It was a notorious fact that during the campaign in 1904, Chairman Taggart was a figurehead at the headquarters in Chicago and was hardly consulted in the formulation of plans.

Bryan intends to make the greatest campaign of his career and is particularly anxious to have a manager with whom he is closely acquainted and with whom he can keep in close touch. Bryan, it is pointed out, has had experience in operation of campaigns and has his own distinct ideas about what should be done. Dahlman is a man who apparently would fill the bill from the point of view of the Nebraskan.

PLAY BY SALEM TALENT

Great interest is beginning to be manifested in the production of Winston Churchill's remarkable drama, "The Crisis," which is to be presented by local talent for the benefit of the Salem Library association at the Grand Opera house on July 7. The play will be produced under the personal direction of Mr. Fordyce, an experienced actor of wide reputation, who will take one of the parts in the cast. The library association is fortunate in securing the services of this actor, as it is seldom that the local amateurs have the advantage of being coached by a professional.

"The Crisis" needs no introduction to the reading public. It is perhaps the best story that Mr. Churchill has ever written, and its production on the stage by James K. Hackett was pronounced by critics the greatest success of the season. Fordyce has obtained permission to stage the play from Hackett, who owns the copyright.

The library association has taken hold of the work with the determination of making the production of this play one of the most successful amateur theatrical events ever seen in this city. The cause is a worthy one, and it will undoubtedly receive the support that it deserves. Salem is justly proud of her new library and of the excellent showing that the management with its very limited capital has made, and the receipts from "The Crisis" will help materially in placing the institution where it belongs, among the best public libraries on the coast.

Watch for further announcements of "The Crisis."
