LATE CYCLING NEWS

(By Frank J. Moore.)

Makes a Century a Day.

One hundred miles a day on a wheel! Carry the news to Oler that the man who does it habitually is a leetle over forty.

Foreign Cracks Coming Over.

Attracted by the opportunities offered by the new bicycle National Circuit, many of the best foreign riders have already signed to appear over here.

Eastern vs. Western Cycle Racers.

Plans are now under way to hold a series of sprint, pursuit and motor-paced races between teams of Eastern and Western riders.

mately result in a series of races between their respective riders is only what was to be expected.

Kramer to Meet Clarke.

Stung by the taunts of some western sporting riders, who have for some time been asserting that A. J. Clarke, the Australian now riding at Salt Lake City, is the superior of Kramer, the latter is out with a challenge to meet his new rival.

On the other hand, Kramer professes to feel no uncertainty over the outcome of the race. "I will meet Clarke in a month's time and will wager $1000 that I defeat him," he says.

The Why of the Motorcycle.

In a timely article on why the motorcycle is growing more popular every day, the Buffalo Courier makes the following pertinent points: "In addition to being a source of much pleasure to its owner the motorcycle can be used to great advantage by any individual or business house."

"Since their invention motorcycles have been found indispensable by large corporations and business men employing a number of men on outside work. Many local business houses use them for their collectors with the result that one man on a motorcycle can cover the ground and accomplish more satisfactory results than three men depending upon other means of transportation."

stated that all of the large power companies at Niagara Falls keep dozens of them on hand at all times, to be used by the many men called to distant parts of the lines to repair breaks.

Defending the "Pop-Pop."

The Kansas City name for a motorcycle is the "Pop-pop," according to the Star, of that city, which, in an interview with a local enthusiast, thus defends the machine from the charge of jolting:

"There is a-er-what you might call a vibration—that's all. It is really part of the sport. It gives one a feeling of exhilaration—like an electric facial massage, only you get it all over. It stirs up the liver, aids the circulation and refreshes the nervous system—all at less money than it would cost to ride on the Central Branch out in Kansas. Of course nobody but a rider can appreciate it because it takes practice to get into the spirit of the thing, don't you see, but once he learns the taste of it—once it gets into his blood—he has got all other terrestrial sensations discounted.

The Motorcycle Viewpoint.

Next to the being who is obliged to walk, the person most looked down upon by your true motorcyclist is the user of an automobile. Next to croquet the motorcyclists consider motoring the most effeminate sport going.

A Long Tour Ahead.

A. R. Hull, a former Madril (la.) boy, has started from Los Angeles to visit his old home, and will make the 2500-mile trip by bicycle. With good luck Hull expects to make the long ride in six weeks.
