

-SMILES-

Light up the Salem streets at night. Let us not be a back number on that any longer.

The $100,000 bonds for the Salem and Stayton electric will be taken. It may take $10 subscriptions from truck drivers but it will be raised.

The Brownville and Callpooch railroad will be put through. That country up there is too dry to let a little think like that fall.

Last fall in the panic the Salem business men all backed the Salem banks to a finish. Now the Salem bankers are going to help build the Salem and Stayton electric in return.

Lumber dropped another notch. Building boom at Salem jumps up another notch.

Put up a box of cherries, save a bouquet, decorate that old carryall for the Cherry Fair.

BRIEFLETS

Math Janczal, an Austrian laborer at Oregon City, is being searched for by the police for that city for criminally assaulting Mary Schureher, 16 years old. He has been arrested and is in jail.

Miss Emma G. Robinson, a school teacher who has been living in a cabin at Galice, near Meola, Oregon, was assaulted, beaten and her clothing torn off by an unknown man who broke into the cabin Saturday night.

Thomas E. Watson, Populist nominee for the presidency and once Bryan's running mate, scathingly denounces him as a traitor. Herman Ridder of New York says he will support Bryan.

While the Armenian Library association was holding a meeting in Chicago to straighten out tangled finances, they got into a fight and talked long and loud until the police raided the place, thinking they were arresting anarchists.

George Wowner, on his deathbed in Chicago, after 35 years, has confessed how the vigilantes committee, of which he was a member, killed the entire fiendish John Bender family, guilty of many murders. All trace of the family had been lost.
Mildred Long, 14 years old of Portland, was drowned in a Columbia river slough at Washougal, Wash., Saturday night. Her cousin, Cora Horsford, also 14, saved the lives of her father and uncle by pulling them from the water.

The philosopher says it is easier to be rich than to be happy. Yet some of us have to skip the easier task and just be happy anyhow.
If people received pensions for wounded feelings in the battle of life the pension department would be bankrupt before Monday noon of the first week.

An Oregon editor refrains from publishing a notice of a case of smallpox on the ground that he does not want to circulate contagious disease.

The reason that man was made a little lower than the angels was that he might tie his lady love's shoe without stooping enough to break his suspenders.

Souvenir collecting is getting to be a fad at Yaquina bay. A fellow can get a great collection of spoons with a kodak at Newport any pleasant Sunday.
