

BABY POISON SQUAD ORGANIZING

Dr. H. W. Wiley to Investigate Baby Foods—Starch Indigestible to Babies Under Two and One-Half Years—Milk Ideal Food.

Washington, July 23.—The news that the Bureau of Food and Drug Inspection of the Department of Agriculture is about to begin a comprehensive inspection of baby foods will interest mothers everywhere.

The Baby Food Campaign. It is said that a poison squad may be organized on the plan of the adult squads that have been employed to test canned goods and other food products.

The "Pure Food Department," as the bureau is popularly termed, will no doubt find a way to make their investigations thorough and conclusive, and those baby foods that emerge, stamped with the approval of the board will enjoy increased prestige and prosperity.

An Expensive Experiment. Unfortunately all work of this sort entails great expense to all concerned engaged in the manufacture of baby foods. Those whose preparations are of high grade suffering as much as the firms producing unworthy or deleterious foods, for, until the completion of the investigation, all these foods are more or less under suspicion.

Starch Indigestible. It is said that experts find many of and one-half years of age, unable to digest starch, hence this ingredient is to be tabooed in all preparations labeled "Baby Food."

Whatever the requirements of Dr. Wiley's department may be, people will no doubt feel much safer in using these foods after they are stamped with the endorsement of the department.

In baby foods, above all others, it is essential to avoid the use of any doubtful ingredients, since an infant's digestion is a dangerous subject for experiment, as too many people know to their sorrow.

The Ideal Form of Nourishment. The ideal nourishment for a baby is the one that Nature provides, when the mother is thoroughly strong and well and able to devote herself exclusively to the care of her child, but as from the conditions of modern life, an increasing number of women are obliged to bring their children up on artificial food, the subject of securing the best substitute for perfect mother's milk is one of wide spread and vital interest.

Cow's milk properly diluted, if it can be obtained perfectly fresh and from a dairy where the most rigid precautions against infection, are maintained, is recognized as the best substitute for the natural food. It is because of the uncertainty that most people feel about the purity of the milk supply that the prepared foods have become popular.

Uniformity of Diet. Another reason has been the uniformity of diet thus secured. All recognized authorities agree that uniformity of diet and surroundings are prime necessities for the child's proper growth and development. It is an open secret known to most physicians and trained nurses as well as to many experienced mothers that few preparations labeled "Baby Food" are as satisfactory in results as the long known and well tested condensed milks of the Borden Co.

For Traveling Purposes. The baby that gets his nourishment from a dilution of this sweetened absolutely pure milk, or from the unsweetened form of the same condensation known as "Peerless" can be taken anywhere without interference with his diet, if only care is taken to use a selected bottled water in making the dilution or a boiled water properly cooled where that is preferred.

Pamphlets Giving Information. Any person can obtain pamphlets giving full and explicit directions for the care and feeding of babies and young children. These are distributed by many different agencies interested commercially or philanthropically in this particular field. Upon the chief points all authorities agree and these regulations are perfect cleanliness of surroundings, regularity—like clock-work—in the time of feeding, bathing, etc., and uniform, and unvarying excellence of the food supplied.

A Physician's Advice. The advice of the family physician should be had at once if the child does not seem to be thriving after a normal, happy fashion. No matter how experienced and intelligent the mother may be, the advice of the trained medical man is valuable and necessary to avoid complication that may threaten the baby's existence. Sometimes more phosphates are required than the milk contains and in such cases the dilutions are usually made with barley water.

Too many fool contests in these Olympic games. What does javelin throwing amount to any way in these days of bullets.

Making Good.

There is no way of making better friends like "Making Good," and Dr. Pierce's medicines will exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a tonic and a purgative, and with all its ingredients printed on bottle wrapper—no secret, no hocus-poens humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit, Insist on your right to have what you call for.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant-Pellets, the original and best of all pills, although the first and best of its kind in the market. All lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a dose. Much imitated but never equalled.

This near beer requires a government stamp and takes a tax receipt just the same as the regular beer, a fact which tells its own story.

Over Thirty-five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by Dr. Stone's drug store.
