SMITHSON BREAKS RECORD AT STADIUM CONSTITUTION IS PUBLICLY PROCLAIMED IN TURKISH EMPIRE

ESPEE BEGINS FIGHT

ON LUMBER RATES

SUIT IS FILED AGAINST INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION—RAILROAD ATTORNEYS CLAIM THEY WILL WIN.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, July 25.—For the first time on the Pacific coast the Southern Pacific company has taken the offensive stand against the interstate commerce commission. A suit has now been filed in the United States circuit court against the commission to restrain the enforcement of the new lumber rates between

ATTEMPTS TO DROWN DAUGHTER

AND KILLS SELF

SEATTLE WOMAN THROWS LITTLE GIRL IN RIVER, THEN PLUNGES IN HERSELF—CHILD IS RESCUED.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Seattle, July 25.—That little Melba Markley is alive today after she had been thrown into Lake Washington by her mother, Mrs. Tressa Markley, who leaped into the water an instant later and was drowned, is considered remarkable.

After falling in one attempt to kill her 7-year-old daughter and herself by gas, Mrs. Markley, who, it is be-

AMERICANS WITHDRAW FROM RACE

LET BRITON WIN

ENGLISHMAN RUNS ALONE AND IS GIVEN MEDAL—JUDGES FREELY CRITICISED—EVENT WORTH FIVE POINTS.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
London, July 25.—Robbins and Taylor, the American runners, refused to enter the 400-meter race which was re-run at the Olympic games today, contending that Carpenter of Cornell university, won the event fairly when he defeated Lieutenant Halswell Thursday, and the Englishman was allowed to dash around the track alone taking the gold medal and being officially declared victor. Halswell ran the distance in 50 seconds, one second slower than he made in the preliminary.

Criticism of the unsportsmanlike attitude of the British officials made by James E. Sullivan, president of the Amateur Athletic union and American commissioner at the Olympic games, is heartily concurred in by every foreigner here. It is generally conceded that it would have been impossible for Carpenter to have fouled Halswell at the 300 post as he was three strides ahead of the Englishman at that time and the British officials are severely censured for rushing into the track, breaking the tape and refusing to allow the event to be officially timed before the commission had passed upon the charges against the American runner.

Heved, was temporarily insane, led the child to the lake late Friday night. Suddenly she seized the girl, tossed her into the lake and then plunged in herself. The mother was drowned, but her daughter, after spending an hour in climbing a steep hill, reached the home of Arthur L. Mottlinger, drenched to the skin, and told her story. Mrs. Markley was the wife of Norman E. Markley, an attorney.

The body of the woman was recovered.

"We walked a long distance," said Melba, in relating her thrilling experience, "and were near the lake when darkness set in. Suddenly mamma grabbed me and threw me in the water. It was shallow where I struck and I could keep my head above the surface. A moment later I heard a splash and knew mamma had fallen in. I called to her, but heard no response. Then I climbed the hill and came here."

WIFE THREW COFFEE POT; WANTS DIVORCE

Because his wife, Mrs. Idemia Jamison, threw a coffee pot at him on one occasion and for the whole 15 days of their married life that they lived together accused him of infidelity and a few other things, William H. Jamison, this morning began suit for divorce in the circuit court. The couple were married in Portland on July 6 last and managed to remain together until the 21st.

A Coos Bay editor wants a condensed sleep that will enable a man to take 20 minutes of it just before breakfast for the customary eight hours.

TRI-CITY LEAGUE ON WANE

MAY BE DISBANDED

FINANCES NOT OVER FLUSH—SMALL ATTENDANCE IS THE CAUSE—MEETING TO BE HELD IN PORTLAND.

The Tri-City League will probably disband and break up for the season. Manager Heyser of the Salem Tri-City League Club received a telephone message yesterday from Secretary Smith, asking if he wished the scheduled game with St. Johns here, pulled off, and the local manager not being able to see his way clear, said he would rather let the game go. This is the first failure of any of the teams in the league to play a scheduled game, and owing to the fact Secretary Smith seemed to approve of Manager Heyser's refusal to play St. Johns at this city tomorrow, the league will, in all probability, disband for the season.

For the past few weeks, most every club team in the league has had a struggle to make both ends meet financially, and were also forced to let good men go and hire cheaper material in order that the team may stand on some even footing. The direct cause of the Tri-City League being unable to exist can not be figured out by the different club managers only that the attendance to the games has fallen off greatly of late. The ball season is now just at its height, and all leagues are playing the game in the most careful manner possible, as at the end of the next two months the pennant winners, especially along the Pacific coast, can be pointed out almost to a certainty by any eye following the records up to date. The Cherry Pickers had a fighting chance for the Tri-City pennant, they being only fourth place, with the other clubs above them winning mostly on luck, and the Salem fans will regret that Manager Heyser is compelled to drop his team without having a fair opportunity of showing what he could make out of them. The different franchise holders in the league will meet next Tuesday in Portland to take the matter up, and also make arrangements for next season's ball program.

The Fairmount club have rented the local league grounds, and will have games as often as possible the remainder of the season.

Do Honor to Prince of Wales.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Quebec, July 25.—Eight British warships, two French battle-ships and the United States ship New Hampshire, lined up in the St. Lawrence river today and were reviewed by Prince George Frederick of Wales. The crowd present at the review was enormous, even eclipsing that of yesterday which was one of the largest assemblages ever seen in Quebec. After reviewing the ships the prince witnessed a state performance of the pageant on the Plains of Abraham. This evening he will attend a banquet at the citadel, which will be tendered to the representatives of Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and New Foundland.

SULTAN WILDLY CHEERED

FOR CONSTITUTION

"YOUNG TURKEY" PARTY IN CONTROL—WOMEN FIRST TIME IN CENTURIES WITHOUT VEILS ON STREET.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Constantinople, July 25.—The constitution granted by the sultan yesterday was proclaimed today from the imperial palace amid scenes unprecedented in Turkey.

The streets were thronged with people and the crowds cheered Sultan Abdul Hamid again and again. At the palace, the sultan received the congratulations of nearly every nation of Europe.

Berlin, July 25.—Dispatches received here today from Monastir state that the women of all Macedonia are parading the streets unveiled, rejoicing in the granting of the new constitution by the sultan. The parades are the result of an order issued by a Moslem priest cancelling the command of the koran that all women must wear veils in public and for the first time in centuries, the women of Turkey have exposed their faces to the public eye. The koran commands absolutely that no woman of the faith can appear outside her house without a veil covering her entire face with the exception of a slit for her eyes.

The fact that the Moslems have taken it upon themselves to cancel the sacred commands of the koran indicates that the advocates of the "young Turkey" idea have thoroughly entrenched themselves before beginning operations.

With the religious element on its side, the revolution in Macedonia assumes a more serious aspect and it is thought that it will be hard for the sultan to overcome the disaffection without yielding to demands of his European subjects.

According to the best information obtainable here, the whole of Macedonia, instead of being quieted by the trade of yesterday calling for the re-establishment of the parliament of 1876, is riotous because of the realization of the leaders of the "young Turkey" movement that they have frightened Constantinople.

A statement given out here today by the leaders of the movement, announces that the victorious rebels will not lay down their arms until they are assured that the call for parliament means that the representation will be fair, that the press will be free and that the great army of exiles of their party is granted amnesty.

The "young Turks" are complete masters of the situation. They have succeeded in getting the Macedonian garrisons of the sultan on their side because of the failure of the Turkish government to be prompt with the soldiers' pay and the revolution has been so carefully planned that they have not yet met with defeat.

The provinces of Kossovo, Skutari, Jania, Seifdze and Salonika are all under the control of the rebels. The Albanian troops sent against the rebels by the sultan have all joined the revolutionists.

OREGONIAN WINNER OF GOLD MEDAL

IN HURDLING RACE

MAKES FINE SHOWING—CLIPS 110-METER RACE TIME—AMERICANS ALSO COME SECOND AND THIRD.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
London, July 25.—Smithson's victory in the 110-meter hurdles today placed the American team 48 points in the lead of England, the total score in the stadium events at the conclusion of the event standing: American 114 1-3 and England 66 1-3.

London, July 25.—Running like a greyhound, clearing the hurdles perfectly, Forest Smithson, the wonderful Portland, Or., runner cut 2-5 of a second from the Olympic record, winning the gold medal in the 110-meter hurdle race at the Olympic games today. His time was 15 seconds flat.

America swept the field in this race, Garrels taking second place and A. R. Shaw finishing third.

In the 1500-meter swimming final Taylor of England, finished first, Battersby of England, finished second and Beaurepaire of Australia took third place.

Another victory was added to the already long list held by the Americans when the team from the United States won first place in the 1600-meter relay race.

Germany captured second place and the team from Hungary finished third.

The men who ran in the victorious team are: William F. Hamilton of Chicago Athletic club, N. J. Cartmell of the University of Pennsylvania, J. R. Taylor of the Irish-American Athletic club and Melvin W. Sheppard of the Irish-American club.

Ahearn of England won the final event in the running hop, step and jump. His distance was 48 feet, 1 1/4 inches.

three days that the "young Turkey" movement is so far victorious in the Balkan region is causing no little anxiety at the foreign office. Several conferences have been held every day between representatives of Russia and France, but what has transpired is being kept a secret.

It is known that the Balkan situation has been made the subject of diplomatic correspondence among the powers that comprise the pots. The Persian revolt has dwindled into insignificance in comparison with a situation that borders on the very outskirts of Russia, Austria and Germany and threatens to involve the "sick man of Europe" once more in an international quarrel.

Russia is anxious to crush out the Macedonia revolt because her southern provinces have become affected with the spirit of liberty, but she hesitates to proceed without some assurances from the other powers that her interference in Macedonia will not be taken as an indication to swing the balance of power in the Balkan in her favor.

An Atlanta minister says it is abominable the way Rockefeller has been traduced. It is also abominable the way Rockefeller has robbed the people.
