SAVING THE HOP INDUSTRY

After music by the Jubilee Glee club the speaking began. The speakers all were received with applause, and the musicians were recalled several times. Their names are C. A. Hughes, director; Wm. D. Gray, Clyde Rogers and Henry R. Morgan.

There were about a thousand people present at Marion Square. H. B. Thilisen called the meeting to order and said that the hop industry was worthy of fair treatment. He said Oregon produced one-half the hops of the United States, a crop that was worth $2,000,000, and employed 75,000 wage-earners in Oregon. He advocated separation of fermented and distilled liquors.

Conrad Krebs was introduced and made a witty address. He was frequently interrupted by applause and got a great deal of fun out of the crowd. He told a number of funny stories. He advocated the submission to the people of two laws—one to prohibit whisky and the other to prohibit beer and vote on them separately.

There was more music by the quartet, "The Gospel Train Am Comin'."

Rev. Barr G. Lee was the next speaker. He said he had no apology to make for appearing at this meeting. The speakers at this meeting in general were on the right track. He spoke as a citizen, not as a priest of the Episcopal church. He did not seek to divest himself of his religious character, but he wouldn't pretend to speak for the church. In clear questions of right and wrong the church spoke for the right. But the church did not enter into politics and sociological questions of any age, as in such matters the church was not infallible.

Even the head of the Roman Catholic church did not claim to be infallible in deciding minute matters, but the pope confined himself to general principles and did not enter the details of human conduct. In his pulpit he dealt with problems of sin and human conduct. He aimed to preach on religion only in his pulpit.

Temperance means moderation and self-control, holding the even balance. Conditions of the liquor traffic in our country could not be much worse. The abuses were great. He did not believe that Prohibition of the liquor traffic was practical and permanent—not absolute Prohibition. Human greed was back of the traffic. The restriction of the traffic was more likely to produce good results. Sentiment could not settle this problem. Legislation must step in. The saloons should have all glass fronts. He believed in strict regulation of the quality of liquors sold. The trade and public sentiment must co-operate. The respectable place where malt liquors alone were sold—that would promote temperance.

He advocated anti-reat leagues. It led to drunkenness. The "Dutch" treat was to be commended. He was glad to be able to raise his voice for temperance. Let us all do our best to minimize this great social evil. (Applause.)

There was more music and this closed the program. Their imitations of the steamboat whistle and the banjos' playing brought a recall. In conclusion C. A. Hughes sang the "King of Zululand."

This is a world of hard knocks, and one does well not to be sensitive over little things.

RUSHING WORK ON COOS BAY

The new government dredge under construction at Portland for use on Coos Bay will be completed and tested about August 5, and will be ready to be towed to this port about August 15 to begin work, according to a letter just received from Walter Lyons, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who was sent to Portland to see that the dredge wouldn't be diverted to some other point. Mr. Lyon says that it is practically certain that Major McIndoe, who succeeded Col. S. W. Roessler recently in charge of the government work on the North Pacific coast, will issue the order just as soon as he receives the letters from Coos Bay banks notifying him that sufficient funds are deposited here to operate it. These letters will be sent today or tomorrow. Dr. J. T. McCormac, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has so notified Mr. Lyon by wire and he has also instructed him to remain at Portland until it is absolutely certain that the dredge will be sent here.

Dredge Powerful One.
Mr. Lyon says that the dredge is a large powerful one and the experts who have seen it are very much pleased with it. It has a capacity of 6,000 cubic yards per day but in soft mud like it will work in in the Coos Bay channel most of the time. It can handle from 7,000 to 9,000 cubic yards per day. Inspector Starkey who has had charge of the dredges around the Puget Sound for a number of years, will have charge of the dredge here. Mr. Starkey has suggested that an inspector be sent to Coos Bay in advance of the dredge to instruct local property owners how to construct bulkheads and etc. for the disposal of the dredgings. While small retaining fences will hold the dredged dirt in filled lots, it will be necessary to fill all localities and not leave a low lot here and there which would become a menace to the public health.

It is the intention of Mayor Mc-

Indoe and Inspector Starkey to have the dredge go over the entire channel first and cut down the high shoals that cause the most trouble to navigators now. As soon as the shoal are cut down, the dredge will start in to deepen and widen the entire channel systematically.

McGrath Is Coming.
Mr. Lyon says that he also had a conference with T. J. McGrath, the head of the Holland and European line of steamships which is likely to make Coos Bay its port. McGrath said that the steamers of the line had a draught of about 23 feet and was certain that the harbor and bar here would accommodate them providing suitable docks and warehouses can be obtained. The Real Value

If you have headache or neuralgia you want relief; want it quick. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills stop the pain in just a few minutes. But their real value lies in the fact that they leave no bad after effects. They do not create nausea or derange the stomach. Nothing can therefore take the place of Anti-Pain Pills for the relief of headache or other pain.

"Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do all that is claimed for them in curing headache and neuralgia. I was in Farmington and I had a fearful headache; the gentleman of the house said, 'Take one of my wife's Pain Pills,' and I did, and in less than one-half hour I felt as well as ever. I asked the name of these and he said Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. I purchased a box, and told my family I had found a great prize—something to cure headache. My three daughters also used them. A thousand thanks for such a remedy."

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the common council of the city of Salem, Oregon, will, at 8 o'clock p. m., on the 3rd day of August, 1908, at the common council chambers in said city, assess the cost of improving North Cottage, D., and Seventh streets, between North Mill Creek and the Fairground road, on the property liable therefore.

At which time, all persons interested in said improvement, may present objections, if any they have, and apply for the privilege of doing the work, in lieu of their assessment, if they so desire.

Done by the order of the common council, this 20th day of July, 1908.
