This department is the most important feature of the institute and embraces

TERRIBLE AGONY OF DYING MAN

TOLD IN HIS DIARY

LOST IN MOUNTAINS WITH A BROKEN LEG, WRITES OF SUFFERING AND INCIDENTS.—W. H. GULLIVER.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Helena, Mont., July 27.—After living in terrible torture and agony for 13 days, alone and without food, death finally came to the relief of a young man by the name of W. H. Gulliver in the mountain wilds near Olive station, Sanders county. The man was a stranger in this part of the country, and nothing is known of him, other than what was gleaned by Coroner Victor Seward from a diary kept by the unfortunate man. He evidently became unconscious, dying soon afterward. The first entry in the little book reads as follows:

"My name is W. H. Gulliver; my home Birmingham, England. Notify my wife, mother and child at K. E. South street, care Rand & Smith. Am a brother-in-law of Rand. Fell down mountain and broke my leg."

The next memoranda were dated on later days. On July 16 the story of his terrible fight against death and his struggles to reach civilization and help was concluded.

He dragged himself through miles of wilderness for 16 days, his broken leg dangling behind him, striking rocks, trees and stumps, with the grim spectre of death ever hovering over him day and night. On the seventh day he says:

"Could see section men across the river on handcar. Haunted. They surely heard me, but went on. My leg so badly swelled have to crawl on my back."

On the twelfth day he wrote: "Two young men passed me this afternoon, and promised to go for help, but never returned."

This last is believed to have been an hallucination of a deranged mind. On the sixteenth day he still had vitality enough to write: "This is my last day," closing forever the story of one of the most pathetic tragedies ever occurring in these mountains.

BASERBALL LEAGUE TO STOP GAMBLING

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, July 27.—President Cal Ewing, of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, today declares that he will continue to make arrests at Recreation park as long as spectators make bets on the games, and that he will stamp out the gambling evil which threatens to take hold of the game here. This decision was announced today, when Ewing was informed that three men arrested yesterday intended to fight the charge in the court, and make a test case of it. Charles H. Dodge, chief deputy in the registrar's office; Charles Roland, a restaurant keeper, and Fred Fairchild, a merchant of Oakland, were the men arrested yesterday.

Dodge and Roland had just made a bet when they were arrested. Fairchild was arrested for interfering with an officer because he tried to persuade the detective to let the men go.

LEADERS FEAR BOLT FOR BRYAN

DELEGATES ARRIVE

HINGEN NOT CANDIDATE FOR FIRST PLACE—SOUTHERNER WILL BE NAMED—HEARST TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, July 27.—At conference held today by the leaders of the Independence party, the national convention of which opens here tonight, it was practically decided that Thos. L. Hingen, of Massachusetts, will be candidate for the presidency, and that a Southerner, not yet chosen, will be named for vice-president. Delegations are arriving today from many states, but there is little enthusiasm so far, and little cheer. It is understood that the Southerners fear that the Democrats may make an attempt to capture the convention, and bring about the endorsement of Bryan.

William R. Hearst, head of the Independence party, declares positively that there will be no compromise with the Democratic party, and that any attempt to endorse Bryan will be futile. He says that the Independence party is out to make an independent fight against both the old parties and that it is gathering strength every day. Though his quarters in the Auditorium Annex were near those of Bryan yesterday, he exchanged no courtesies with the Commoner, and there was no show of friendliness of any kind.

The program for tonight is as follows:

7:30 p. m.—Convention called to order by Charles A. Walsh, of Iowa, secretary of the national committee.

8:05 p. m.—Nominations for temporary chairman of the convention.

8:10 p. m.—Election of temporary chairman.

8:15 p. m.—Speech of temporary chairman.

9:15 p. m.—Roll call of delegations for nominations for members of credential, rules, resolutions and other committees of the convention.

9:30 p. m.—Announcing of standing committees of convention.

10 p. m.—Adjournment to Tuesday afternoon.

It is expected that Hearst will be named as temporary chairman, and will deliver the "key note" speech. This address is expected to be a severe arraignment of the two old parties and a "call to arms to the independent voters" of the country.

Hingen was the Hearst candidate for governor of Massachusetts, and made a strong race, establishing the Independence League as the second party in that state.

WESTERN FEDERATION FOR MINE EMPLOYES ONLY

Denver, Colo., July 27.—The Western Federation of Miners today tabled applications from numerous timbermen's unions in Montana and other Northwest states for membership in the federation. A resolution was adopted declaring that the Western Federation shall always remain distinctly an organization of laborers placed in mines and mining mills.

Miss Theta N. Stephens was drowned in the Columbia river at Portland yesterday.

TURNER RETURNS TO WIFE

FARMER, WHO LEFT HOME, INFLUENCED BY SPOUSE TO COME BACK TO SALEM—MENTALLY SOUND.

J. T. Turner, the man who mysteriously disappeared from his home six miles east of Salem a few weeks ago, returned to his family, or rather his wife brought him back, yesterday. Mrs. Turner learned several days ago that her husband was in Portland, and she went immediately to that city and began a search for him. She found him working in the Washington creamery. Mrs. Turner suggested that he come home at once, and, without further ceremony, Turner resigned his job and accompanied his wife to Salem.

No reason was given by Turner for deserting his family. After his disappearance his wife thought that he was demented, but since his return the man seems to be perfectly rational. Turner is a farmer and a raiser of small fruits.

BURIED WITH HIS FAVORITE HORSE

Pittsburg, Pa., July 27.—The body of Warren W. Phillips, a rich farmer, lies today in the grave where his favorite horse, "Phil Sheridan," was buried nine years ago.

Preparations had been made to bury Phillips' body in a fashionable cemetery, but when his will was read it was found that he had provided that he be interred with his dead horse.

For years Phillips had hated society, and just before his death he told his executor that his old horse had been his best friend, at the same time expressing the sentiment that "he would rather go to hell direct than be buried in a cemetery."

TO TEST FENDERS WITH HUMAN DUMMIES

New York, July 27.—Human dummies, placing themselves in the way of swift moving street cars, for the purpose of testing the fenders, will be paid $2 per day during the tests to be made at the invitation of the public service commission by the manufacturers of fenders. The commission intends to adopt a fender for the New York City cars, and wants to get the best. It has ordered practical demonstrations to be held this fall at Schenectady, and Pittsburg. About 40 manufacturers have already agreed to enter the competition. At first it was intended to use stuffed dummies, but one man who has unlimited confidence in his appliance, announced that he could get all the men he wanted to topple into his comfortable fender at $2 per day and the others had to meet the competition by promising live dummies also.

GERMANS WIN NEW YORK-PARIS RACE

(United Press Leased Wire.) Paris, July 27.—Although the German car was the first in the New York-to-Paris race to reach the end of the run, the honor of winning goes to the Americans, it is said. It will be charged that the Germans failed to comply with all the rules governing the event, and it is certain that the Thomas car will be declared the victor. The German car was greeted by a great Sunday crowd as it whirled over the boulevards in entering the city. The arrival, however, was not attended by ceremony. At about the same hour that the Germans arrived word was received that the American car had just landed at Konigsberg.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

For the second time within a year the Carnegie library at Vancouver, B. C., has been rifled and valuable books stolen.

Joseph Lamont, a well-dressed and cultured man, was arrested at Los Angeles yesterday for cutting out of garbage cans in preference to begging.

LA FORE AGAIN IN TROUBLE

ACCUSED OF THEFT

TWO ROBBERIES OCCUR CLOSE TOGETHER—GEORGE PARKER UNDER ARREST FOR STEALING TRUNK.

George Parker, a resident of this city, was arrested early Sunday morning, charged with stealing a trunk from the wagon of a huckster by the name of Campbell, who has been selling soap and other articles on the street corner for the past several days.

Saturday night the soap vender left the wagon, containing his goods, in front of Bush's bank. About 1 o'clock Sunday morning, it is claimed, Parker and two other men quietly approached the pedler's wagon and lifted out a small trunk filled with the pedler's wares. The three men started down State street, and were about to enter the alley in the middle of the block, when they encountered Policeman Welch.

Two of the men broke and fled up the alley, but Parker, who was unable to escape, was placed under arrest. The identity and whereabouts of Parker's companions will probably develop at the hearing, which is set for this afternoon.

Accused of robbing H. G. Wilson of $10.00 Saturday night, Bob Lafore, who has gotten into several serious scrapes lately, is languishing in the city jail today.

According to the police Wilson was loitering in the alley between Commercial and Liberty streets, near Talkington's saloon. Lafore was with him, and the bootblack in the cigar store nearby claimed he saw him take Wilson's purse. This occurred about 7 o'clock, and shortly afterwards Policeman Welch stepped into the cigar store to have his shoes shined. The bootblack told him that Lafore was robbing a man in the alley, and Welch went to the scene of action immediately.

The policeman saw Lafore hand the purse back to Wilson, who was in a somewhat intoxicated condition, and at the same time slip two $5 pieces into his vest pocket. Lafore was at once arrested, and Welch, after examining the purse and questioning Wilson, found that about $20 had been taken. Only $10.00, however, could be found on Lafore's person.

The time for Lafore's hearing has not been set, as no warrant has yet been issued. In the meantime he will remain in the city lockup.
