

Is Pe-ru-na Useful for Catarrh?

Should a list of the ingredients of Pe-ru-na be submitted to any medical expert, of whatever school or nationality, he would be obliged to admit without reserve that each one of them was of undoubted value in chronic catarrhal diseases and had stood the test of many years' experience in the treatment of such diseases. THERE CAN BE NO DISPUTE ABOUT THIS WHAT EVER. Peru-na is composed of the most efficacious and universally used herbal remedies for catarrh. Every ingredient of Peru-na has a reputation of its own in the cure of some phase of catarrh.

Peru-na brings to the home the COMBINED KNOWLEDGE OF SEVERAL SCHOOLS OF MEDICINE in the treatment of catarrhal diseases; brings to the home the scientific skill and knowledge of the modern pharmacist; and last but not least, brings to the home the vast and varied experience of Dr. Hartman, in the use of catarrh remedies, and in the treatment of catarrhal diseases.

The fact is, chronic catarrh is a disease which is very prevalent. Many thousand people know they have chronic catarrh. They have visited doctors over and over again, and been told that their case is one of chronic catarrh. It may be of the nose, throat, lungs, stomach or some other internal organ. There is no doubt as to the nature of the disease. The only trouble is the remedy. This doctor has tried to cure them. That doctor has tried to prescribe for them.

BUT THEY ALL FAILED TO BRING ANY RELIEF.

Dr. Hartman's idea is that a catarrh remedy can be made on a large scale, as he is making it; that it can be made honestly, of the purest drugs and of the strictest uniformity. His idea is that this remedy can be supplied directly to the people, and no more be charged for it than is necessary for the handling of it.

No other household remedy so universally advertised carries upon the label the principal active constituents, showing that Peru-na invites the full inspection of the patient.

running over the new track. Grading will be carried on as late this winter as possible, but with the arrival of the rainy season, work will have to be suspended until next spring. By October, 1909, it is expected the extension will have been completed.

The extension of the road to Salem will give the line a splendid outlet, with a desirable connection with the Southern Pacific main line and the Oregon Electric Railway Company. A desirable feature of the extension is that it will give an outlet to the Willamette river at Salem far logs hauled over the line from the timber at the other end of the line. As the road is being pushed further west into the timber of the Coast mountains all the time, the timber and lumber traffic will continue to be the leading source of the road's revenue.

However, the country to be traversed by the new mileage is very productive farming country, and will provide a large amount of new tonnage. Between Salem and Dallas is one of the most heavily traveled country roads in the state. The country between the two cities is now thickly settled, but the farms are being cut up into smaller tracts that will provide homes for a more dense population, and consequently furnish increased business for the prospective railway.

The ultimate destination of the Salem, Dallas City & Western on the west is the ocean at the mouth of the Siletz river, making a road from Salem to the coast, tapping some of the best timber in the world.

PROMINENT CLUB MAN MURDERED

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, July 29.—Detectives today are hunting for the murderers of Harry S. Cornish, a prominent club man, whose body was found in Gravesend bay. Cornish was one of the central figures in the trial of Roland B. Molineaux, who was tried and acquitted on the charge of murdering Mrs. Adams, Cornish's aunt.

The body of Cornish, which was found in the bay Sunday night, has just been identified, and the police believe they are about to unearth a sensation which will eclipse the Adams murder. They profess to have learned that Cornish was murdered while yachting on the bay, but say they have been unable to learn the names of the other members of the party. His death was caused by a blow on the head with an axe.

Mrs. Adams was killed by a poisoned bromo seltzer, which had evidently been intended for her nephew. She was feeling indisposed one day, and Cornish offered her some of the bromo, which had been sent to him. She drank a small amount of the mixture, and died within a few hours.

Molineaux was arrested for the murder and acquitted upon trial.

of Seattle and the lines out of Vancouver by the Canadian Pacific will soon be offered for sale, and that the purchasers will be the Japanese.

In sending out these notices, the railroads carried out their threat made to the interstate commerce commission some time ago, when rule 84 was promulgated. The rule requires the roads to publish the overland portion of their rates from foreign ports to inland ports in America and not to depart from this published tariff under three days' notice of the lowering and ten days' notice for an increase.

The Canadian Pacific, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Oregon Short Line and Santa Fe roads are the roads that have sent out the notices, and their officials here say they will adhere to the policy of refusing goods for export trade.

The railroads claim that unless freight rates can be changed overnight, they cannot hold the Oriental trade, which amounts to $250,000,000 a year, because the Suez canal draws so much trade from the Orient.

LONG TERM IN PRISON FOR YOUTH

San Francisco, July 29.—William Harvey, 16 years old, went back to his cell in Folsom prison today to spend 50 years. He was released two weeks ago and taken to the long reform school, where, after four years of good behavior, he would have been set free, but he could not stand good fortune, and tried to escape.

Harvey was convicted of highway robbery with Dallas, 22 years old. They made a brutal attack upon a wayfarer at a lonely place near Fresno. When they were convicted Harvey's youth caused much sympathy to be expressed for him, and through the efforts of several societies and Attorney Tiley L.

Ford, he was given a chance to gain his release at the age of 20 instead of 65.

The boy ran away from the long institution Saturday. He spent that night hidden in a barn loft, and all Sunday and Sunday night in a clump of bushes, as he knew the officers were tracing him. Monday night hunger forced him to visit a farmer's house, and the farmer telephoned to the officers, who arrested him.

NON-UNION MEN MAY WALK OUT

San Francisco, July 29.—Although the employes of the United Railroads are none of them union men, they are seriously considering a strike today, as the result of an announcement by the railroad that the 10-hour day will soon be put into effect. The machinists, car repairmen and electricians are the ones concerned in the movement, and they are trying to enlist the support of the central labor council.

The railroad people say there are many more men on the waiting list than they can hire, and that the 10-hour day will not be an injustice, as most of the men are paid by the hour.
