WAS ONCE

he had been at any time during the past two weeks. Late last evening, however, he suffered a relapse, and at 10 o'clock he passed into a state of unconsciousness, from which he never recovered.

All night long relatives sat at the bedside. At 6:40 the nurse announced that the patient was dying. A telephone message was sent to Dr. C. R. Harris, the family physician, but in five minutes the end had come.

Uric acid poisoning, resulting in the last stages of Bright's disease, is given by the physician as the direct cause of death. The former governor had been a sufferer of rheumatism and kidney troubles for years, and made two trips abroad in search of health.

Last spring he returned from Europe in seemingly good health, and prepared to resume the practice of law in this city, but it was only a short time before he was again taken ill, and a month ago he started for Lake Tahoe. Soon after arriving there he collapsed, and was hurried to a San Francisco hospital. Two weeks ago he was brought to his home at 1239 East Channel street, in this city, to spend his last days.

Budd's History.

Stockton, Cal., July 30.—James H. Budd was born in Janesville, Wisconsin, May 18, 1851. He accompanied his parents to California in 1858, the family settling at Old Liberty, San Joaquin county. Shortly after the family moved to Woodbridge, where the father, Judge Jos. H. Budd, practiced law for a short time. In 1861 the family located in Stockton, and James commenced his education in the local schools.

From 1866 to 1869 he attended the old Oakland college, which afterwards became known as the University of California. In 1869 he entered the first class in the University of California, and was a member of the first class to graduate from the institution in 1873.

The profession of law was marked out for him by his parents' wishes, and his own inclination, and, returning to Stockton, he entered the office of his father, and devoted himself to study. He was admitted to practice in 1874. He then practiced with his father for a number of years, building up a large clientele, and appearing in most of the important litigations in this and other adjoining counties. During this time he was also associated with the late Judge Swinnerton. In 1876 he received the unanimous nomination of the Democratic convention for assemblyman from this district, but he declined to make the run. In 1882 he ran for congress against Horace F. Page, and made what was widely known as "the buckboard canvass." In a largely Republican district he succeeded in being the first Democrat to be elected to the national congress. He served one term as congressman, and was very active in securing the passage of measures calculated to benefit this district.

Returning from Washington he continued in the practice of law in this city until 1894, when he was elected governor. This also was a very close and exciting campaign. The energetic young lawyer developed a wonderful ability as a campaigner, running 33,000 votes ahead of his ticket, and winning over his opponent, Morris M. Estes, the Republican nominee, by a comfortable margin.

As governor James H. Budd instituted and brought about many reforms in the interests of economy and good government. He was indefatigable in the discharge of his duty, and his term was one of the most successful of any governor of California. After retiring from the office of governor he practiced law in the city of San Francisco, and was interested in many of the most important cases in litigation during the past few years. He held extensive legal interests in the state of Nevada, and was very successful in several famous mining suits there.

During the past year his health failed, and he practically retired from law, in an effort to regain it. He traveled extensively in Europe, but the relief was only temporary.

Among the members of the legal profession he was regarded as a lawyer of remarkable ability.

He is survived by his wife, Ida M. Budd, who has attained considerable prominence as an author of religious and astronomical works. He also leaves a mother, the widow of Judge Joseph H. Budd, who occupied the bench of the superior court of this county for nearly 20 years, and a brother, Attorney John E. Budd, of this city.

Here's a Natural Strength-Giver

You'll find the beneficial effects of this tonic are permanent because it helps you to build up your body and become strong and healthy in a natural way. The effects of other tonics are only temporary because they supply a false stimulation to the system. As soon as you stop taking them, you remove this stimulus, and the feeling of exhaustion returns.

BAD DRINKING WATER CAUSES MUCH SICKNESS

Chicago, July 30.—The cost in lives and money of the contamination of a city's drinking water, a subject in which this city has shown a $50,000,000 interest by reversing the flow of the Chicago river, soon will be fixed. Figures secured by the American Medical association whose headquarters are here, show how enormous the total for all the United States must be. Columbus, Ohio, which had 748 cases of typhoid last April has been taken as an example, medical statisticians of the association adding that the death rate from typhoid is 10 per cent, that courts have held that $10,000 is a fair estimate of the minimum value of a human life, that $50 per case was the average of doctor's bills and $125 the average cost of funerals and therefore Columbus paid about $200,000 in April for the privilege of drinking water contaminated with sewage.

"Two and a half million a year is rather a high price for one city to pay for bad water, it would be cheaper to get pure water no matter how much it cost," was the medical expert's comment. Beside the loss of 75 lives, the money expenses which the medical association is seeking to lessen are itemized thus in the illustration used: Seventy-five deaths..... $ 75,000 Loss in earnings..... 26,928 Funeral expenses..... 9,375 Medical services..... 37,400 Nursing..... 44,800

Total.....$193,503

That when our forefathers came to this country and found it well supplied with streams, rivers and lakes of pure and uncontaminated water, instead of valuing this natural resource they made every possible effort to contaminate it by emptying into every river and lake the sewage and filth of cities and towns, explains why we now drink this mixture and wonder why we have typhoid fever.

MAKE DIGNIFIED FIGHT AGAINST RATE CASE

Chicago, July 30.—The fight against the proposed advance of railroad rates, which centers in this city, progressed another step at the conference of shippers, and is being conducted with dignity, and every amicable effort to change the decision of the railroad executives, before more vigorous tactics are employed, it being made. Letters commending the dispassionate letter to President Roosevelt, sent by the shippers, asking his intervention, and the resolutions adopted by the shippers at their meeting in the offices of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, have been received from many quarters. The tolerance of the resolutions and the proposal that railroad executives hold another meeting with the shippers were especially approved, the working of the resolutions having included the following: "The shippers represented by this conference now propose to the carriers that the carriers submit to the interstate commerce commission the propriety and reasonableness of the proposed increase, and that such increase be held in abeyance until that tribunal has passed upon the question."

MILLIONAIRE'S SON CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

San Francisco, July 30.—Conspicuous S. J. Gilliam, of Santa Rosa, today took Horace Robinson, of New York, promoter of the Marconi Wireless Company, and son of a millionaire, from the St. Francis Hotel to Santa Rosa to answer to the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Robinson, who has characterized his stay of six weeks in this city with lavish expenditure of money, spent last night in custody of Detective Ryan, who stayed with the "millionaire."

Robinson's trouble resulted from the alleged sale of 20 shares of Marconi wireless for $400 to J. S. Rhodes of Santa Rosa. Rhodes charges that the promoter sold the stock with a guarantee that they would be redeemed on demand, and that he had several times visited the promoter at the St. Francis, and demanded his money back.

Robinson was extremely nervous when informed last night that he was under arrest.

"I haven't robbed a bank or stolen any money or anything else," he exclaimed.

Robinson was recently sued by J. L. Glenn, a wealthy race track man, for $50,000 damages for alienating the affections of his wife, Mrs. Glenn visited the arrested man at his apartments last night, when she learned of his trouble.

HEAD OF CARNEGIE INSTITUTE TOURING WEST

Dr. Woodward has recently visited the botanical laboratory at Tucson, Arizona, the Mount Wilson solar observatory at Pasadena and Stanford universities.

After a visit to the University of California, he will visit Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, at his home in Santa Rosa.

Burbank receives a regular annuity from the Carnegie institute to promote his investigations.

MODERN APPLIANCES FOR FAIR GROUNDS

Among the new appliances that will be used at the state fair this year will be five modern automatic gates at the main entrance of the fair grounds. These gates will regulate the number of persons passing in, and the entrance of each person is recorded both at the entrance and in the secretary's office by electric wire. The gates will be operated by the dropping of the coin.

Another new appliance is the race announcer. The machines are now on the grounds, and will be installed at once. The announcers will tell instantly the winning horses and their positions, and can be operated so rapidly that the positions can be flashed the moment the horses pass under the wire.
