Building Passing Track—
The Oregon Electric Company is constructing an additional triangle track on High street between Ferry and Trade streets, in order that the incoming cars may pass the outward bound without the trouble of running back to the triangle switches at the depot. The cars arriving from Portland now stop at the intersection of State and High streets, permitting passengers to get off, but passengers are not allowed to board the cars going out except at the station on High and Bellevue streets.

How Firm Dissolves—
The hon firm of Lachmund & Pinous, which has been doing business in this city for the past 12 years, has dissolved partnership. Both members of the firm will remain in Salem, but will have separate offices.

Want Railway Extended—
H. W. Smith, who lives on Salem Heights, near the stone quarry, south of the city, went to Portland yesterday to try to induce President Johnson, of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, to extend the street car service to the stone quarry. Mr. Smith represents about 75 families living on Salem Heights.

Divorce Granted—
Judge Galloway yesterday granted three divorces, one to Susan Nadrau, one to Edna Harkins and one to Rachel A. Meakin. The last two were granted by default, the husbands complained against failing to show up.

W. D. Claggett has filed a suit in circuit court against C. W. Yankke for the recovery of a bay mare by the name of "Margaret," and a set of harness. Claggett alleges that Yankke took possession of the horse and refuses to return it. He also alleges that he is damaged to the extent of $10 by the temporary loss of the horse and harness. Pogue and Kaiser are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

Concert Tonight—
The Salem Military Band will give the regular mid-week concert tonight in Willou avenue at 8 o'clock.

TEACHERS TO BE MORE PLENTIFUL THIS YEAR.

(Dallas Chronicle.)
That Wasco county will not experience the customary dearth in public school teachers during the coming school year, is the opinion of County School Supt. J. T. Neff, who is making preparations for the teachers' examination to take place in this city August 12 to 14, inclusive. Regarding this condition Mr. Neff said: "I think there will be plenty of teachers this year, many more than we have had before. In past years it has been almost impossible to secure sufficient instructors to fill the positions in the seventy-seven districts in the county. I anticipate a change in this condition this fall, though many of the new teachers will be young, this being the first experience of a great many."

BOUGHT A WAREHOUSE ON RIVER

W. H. Mahoney, who bought the Durette place a few years ago, has become the owner of the Wm. Hager warehouse, store and farm of 83 acres at Fairfield. He has rented the store and residence to John Savage, and will operate the warehouse. It was the establishment where Breyman Bros. got their start, and where Wm. Hager, a poor Swiss deckhand on the river, made a fortune of $150,000. Mr. Mahoney is just home from a ten-days' trip to San Francisco. He says Oregon has all California beat as a producing state. He brought back many advertisements of the E. Clemens Horst Co., at 215 Pine street, announcing that all their hops but one yard would be picked by machinery, including the Wheatland yard near Salem. The Horsts have been perfecting a machine, and made it a complete success.

SMELTER

willing to commence actual erection until you can report to us that there is in your treasuries a fund sufficient to actually mine this ore and to deliver it to the smelter.

Third—We know of no other district where it would be possible at such a small expense to deliver the product of a mine to market, and his expense can be reduced to a minimum if your mines will form some sort of a joint plan for the erection of whatever plant is deemed best and most economical for the delivery of ore to the smelter.

Again, there is sufficient water in the neighborhood to furnish power to do the mining for all the mines, and to operate the smelter, and here again we suggest that this could be done most economically by all the companies, or a number thereof, joining in the erection of a power plant for the use of all.

Finally, as a fourth condition, we must request that the actual work of development of the mines of your district be undertaken under the advice and suggestions of some well known, competent mining engineer. We again believe it advisable for all or several of your mines to join in the employment of such a man.

I will add in closing, only the remark, that we are more interested even than yourselves, perhaps, in the speedy erection of this plant for the reasons I have outlined you in private conversations, therefore we only await the fulfillment of the above conditions before we will commence the actual erection of the plant.

COMMITTS SUICIDE

AT MEDFORD, OREGON
Medford, Or., Aug. 5.—Lawrence H. Belsler, a well-to-do real estate dealer, of Wenatchee, Wash., aged about 50, committed suicide last night by blowing the top of his head off with a rifle in his room in the Nash hotel. He came here a week ago to purchase an orchard. Just before the tragedy he sent for several acquaintances, shook hands with them, and then stepping into an alcove, seized his rifle, and before they realized his intentions, had fired the fatal shot in their presence.

As far as can be learned, there was no reason for the act. Belsler had spent money freely here, and was of a jovial disposition. He was rational up to the minute of his crime. A bank book on his person showed a balance of $1800 in his favor.

One of his sons lies at the foot of death in a Portland hospital, and the young man's mother is with him. He leaves another son.

Coroner Kellogg is holding an inquest today.

POPULAR CITY BOND ISSUE

ONLY TWO BIDS ARE RECEIVED

The city's advertisement for a bond subscription to $24,000 street paving bonds has met with but two applications, so far, one for $5000 and one for $2000, which the city cannot accept, because the bid calls for tenders for the whole $24,000.

The bonds are gilt-edged, and it is the opinion of Chairman Isidor Greenbaum that a popular loan with bonds from $25 upwards, and the smallest subscribers served first, would result in all the bonds being taken.

He is looking up the legal aspects of the matter, but believes that the charter gives the committee full power to make a popular loan.

Under the terms of the first advertisement the highest bidder for the whole sum of $24,000 takes the bonds, even if they go below par, while on the popular loan plan the bonds will be readily subscribed at par. On the popular loan plan whenever there is any money on hand from the street improvement assessment it is applied and interest stops, while on the other plan the whole $24,000 draws interest, and the money paid in lies idle in some bank until the whole amount is due. He says it will be far better to give the people with idle money a chance to get these gilt-edged securities, and keep the interest at home.

ZEPPELIN AIRSHIP

BURNS IN CLOUDS

Berlin, Aug. 5.—Count Zeppelin's great dirigible balloon was torn from its moorings on a plateau five miles south of Echterdingen this afternoon in an electrical storm, caught fire and sailed away in a cloud of smoke.

It is thought that Count Zeppelin escaped injury, though the details are meagre so far. Nobody is known to have been on board at the time it disappeared.

The great airship, which was the wonder of the world yesterday, is practically certain to be destroyed, if not already burned up or hopelessly wrecked.

The count was forced to bring the balloon down on the plateau at 8 o'clock this morning on account of a defective motor, which was in such bad condition that he could not repair it.

Realizing that he had failed in his effort to reach Friedrichshafen within the 24 hours set for his flight, he moored the balloon and dispatched men to Friedrichshafen to get expert mechanics. He then prepared to wait, not hoping to get started again before 6 o'clock this evening.

This afternoon the velocity of the wind increased, and the ropes holding the balloon were redoubled, but soon the storm had become violent, and, accompanied by lightning and thunder, swept over the plateau with such terrible force that the great gas bag was flopped about like a toy balloon. It is supposed that the trappings became ignited.

The balloon was seen to rise in the gale and move rapidly away into the clouds, the flames apparently increasing as they were fanned by the wind and the movement of the craft.

DESERTS WEALTHY MAN

TO LIVE WITH NEGRO

Philadelphia, Aug. 5.—Mrs. Emily Wood, wife of a wealthy physician, of Magnolia, N. J., is under arrest here today as a result of her elopement several weeks ago with Bernard Smith, her negro chauffeur. The woman, who is 23 years old and good looking, was captured yesterday, in a house occupied by negroes at the instance of her stepfather, J. W. Tiley, a wealthy resident of St. George, Staten Island.

When she was arrested the woman created a scene, denying her identity and pleading for secrecy.

Afterward she became defiant, and admitted that she had spent $1500 on the negro, and declared that the officers could do what they liked with her.

The negro, who was arrested, had a number of pawn tickets calling for jewelry and silverware, alleged to have been taken from the Wood mansion, upon which more than $1000 had been borrowed.

Samuel B. Johnston, of "Dufur," aged 38 years, who died at his home last Saturday, was one of the best known citizens in his section of Oregon.
