PORTLAND GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

RAISES $10,000 FOR EDUCATION

The good roads conference ended in a plan being adopted to raise $10,000 for educational work in the whole state, and County Judge Webster and ex-County Judge Scott to be employed to carry on the campaign. Senators Johnson and Kay made a fight for an endorsement of the Johnson road law that was vetoed by the governor at the last session of the legislature.

Senator Andrew C. Smith and John H. Albert and others opposed this, and on motion of County Judge Ryan, the whole matter was referred to the committee on resolutions and there left to sleep. Mrs. Woodcock, of Multnomah county, had a front seat, dressed in white and wearing a cherry widow hat, and coached the chairman part of the time, making the conference a great deal of a farce.

The Resolutions. Resolved, That we are in favor of co-operation of state, county and district in the construction of improved, permanent highways under the supervision of a state highway commissioner, and that the legislative committee be instructed to work with the legislative committee of the State Goods Roads Association, and of the State Grange, in the preparation and submission to the state legislature of a bill embodying such legislation and that the road law known as the Johnson bill and the resolution of Judge Webster relating to appropriation for that purpose be referred to said committee for their consideration.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that a law should be passed at the next session of the legislature providing for the working of convicts in the state penitentiary in the construction of public highways.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that legislation be enacted giving the power to our county courts to restrict, regulate and control the use of county roads.

Resolved, That the thanks of this meeting be and are due to Tom Richardson, Hon. W. K. Nowell, W. M. Ladd, J. W. Bailey, state dairy and food commissioner, and others who actively participated in the convening of this good roads conference.

Resolved, That the thanks of this convention are due the Commercial Club for the use of its convention hall and the freedom of this club.

Need $10,000 at Once. The report of the committee on ways and means was as follows:

Your committee on ways and means begs leave to report that, in its opinion, the sum of $10,000 must be raised to defray the expenses of an enthusiastic and energetic campaign for good roads.

We further recommend that two men be employed to carry on the work and that these two men be Judge Lionel R. Webster, of Multnomah county, and Judge John H. Scott, of Marion county, providing satisfactory arrangements can be made with these gentlemen by this committee.

It is further the sense of this committee that it should have permanent existence and be the medium through which the work of this conference be carried on.

W. L. Crissey has been made permanent secretary of this committee.

"That Which Is Worth Having Is Worth Advertising For"

The old adage that what is worth having is worth asking for is still true—true of the more intricate life of today. The thing you want—whether it is a used piano or a home, whether it is a ready-made business or a lost pocket-book—is obtained readily through advertising, and with difficulty, or not at all, through other means.
