Weather—
Rain tonight and Friday.

Adopt Children

The county court yesterday morning issued an order allowing Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Cromwell of this city to adopt their niece, Grace and Sylvia Cromwell, aged three years and five months, respectively. The father of the children is dead.

Ladies Work a Specialty

Miss Esther Lake, a skilled and experienced maitresse, has arrived in Salem and taken a position at Gilson's barber shop on State street. She will remain permanently and will make a specialty of ladies' work.

May Condemn Bridge

The county commissioners have returned from Mehama, where they investigated the condition of the bridge which crosses the Santiam river at that point. They report that the bridge is very badly rotted, and that a new one will have to be built. As there is at present no money in the county treasury for this purpose the bridge will probably be condemned. The Stayton bridge is also badly in need of repairs.

HAINS HAS FORMED NO PLANS

(United Press Lensed Wire.)
New York, Aug. 27.—Worried by constant conferences with lawyers and confused by sensational newspaper reports, Captain Peter C. Hains, slayer of William E. Annis, today admitted he is undecided as to what course he will pursue. District Attorney Darrin, of Queens county, said today that he had arranged to hold conference with District Attorney Jerome this afternoon and will receive advice from the famous prosecutor.

Promoters have petitioned the Albany city council for a franchise for a railroad to Brownsville.

CIRCUS AS PROMISED ON BILLBOARDS

Circus day has arrived, and notwithstanding the rain with which the day was ushered in, a goodly multitude of people from the country was present to witness the much-advertised and much-talked-of parade.

It is safe to say that the big street pageant disappointed no one. Everything calculated to feast the eye was there; wild animals, beautiful horses, camels, almost as many elephants as were advertised, gilded wagons, brass bands, fearless riders, male and female, and the omnipresent and vociferous steam callope.

The parade might have been a mile long if the street had been in condition to allow the procession to string out properly. As it was it was long enough, and was good all the way along.

The pageant was headed by the invincible Doc Gibson, mounted on a charger almost, if not quite equal to any of the steeds belonging to the Barnum & Bailey aggregation. The chief gallantly led the procession about the city, keeping it clear of the chuck-holes and the barricades erected by the Warren Construction company.

Several of the wagons were unique in their design and appointments, especially those representing historical and allegorical subjects. The fact that the servants attending the queen of Egypt kept off the rain by means of very modern umbrellas, and that the "Nights of the Golden Age" were amply protected from the Oregon mist by up-to-date rubber coats, mattered not a whit. The boats were good to look at and their equals have not been seen here.

Among the gymnastic feats there is one which has never been rivaled locally, so far as can be remembered. This is where a girl makes a triple somersault from four high to shoulders. While it is dramatic to the uninitiated, it requires a professional acrobat to realize what a corking good feat this is. A triple somersault has been considered an impossibility, yet it was accomplished twice this afternoon.

Some capital balancing acts were given, one on the second stage being particularly good. Still another, in the same display, but on the first stage, was where a boy, dressed like a bell-hop in a green uniform, was thrown around the stage promiscuously and always landed on his hands. A bareback act with three Italians is also a distinct feature. In this an athlete stands on one horse and his companion on a loping steed immediately behind. The first takes a boy on his shoulders, and the kid turns a somersault, landing on the shoulders of his man on the second animal. This is also a new stunt.

The circus was just as good as the parade. In the menagerie were exhibited rare specimens from the animal world, some of which have seldom, if ever, been seen here before. The circus proper was fast and furious from start to finish. The climax and the piece de resistance was "Autos That Pass in the Air." This feature was just as represented on the gaudy show bills, and it is well worth any person's time to see it.

The show will be given tonight regardless of rain as the tents are waterproof, so do not let the clouds keep you away.

CARD BOARD FIG LEAVES ON FIGURES

(United Press Lensed Wire.)
Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 27.—The absence of the conventional fig leaf from the figures of Miss Elizabeth Sheets, a Des Moines artist, has stirred up a war of artists in the Fine Arts building of the state fair here. T. C. Legoe of Whatcheer is the Anthony Comstock of the state fair and he has carefully placed entry tickets on all the nude figures on the urns and vases painted by Miss Sheets.

When Miss Sheets beheld the tickets taking the place of the absent fig leaves, she burst into tears and demanded that they be taken off. The beauty of the female nude figure should not be spoiled, she said, by cardboard leaves.

Legoe was obdurate and refused to consider the proposition. Then Miss Sheets declared that she would withdraw her painting from the exhibition. This was also refused but now Miss Sheets is hoping that the judges will remove the artificial clothing from the paintings before they render any decision.

FINDS NO ONE FOR BLAME OF WRECK

The railroad commission last evening filed its report on the Southern Pacific wreck which occurred near Eugene on August 23. The report states that neither the trainmen, track, or equipment were responsible in any way for the accident.

It is not known how the bull, which caused the wreck, got through the fence and onto the track. "We feel," says the report, "that the accident emphasizes the necessity for careful and frequent inspection of fences where they exist."

CROWN PRINCE A BEGGAR

(United Press Lensed Wire.)
Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27.—The officials of the McGregor Mission society discussed the strangest applicant for charity that ever wandered through their door today. It is no less a person than Prince Hendrix Hull Puawharoo, crown prince of Abyssinia, who will some day sit on the throne of that country, as successor to Emperor Menelik, his first cousin.

Prince Hendrix was sent to the mission by a butcher to whom he applied for aid. He tells a strange story of wanderings.

"My wife died while I was in New York, and I sent home $185, all I had," he said, "and now I am compelled to seek work."

"When I got to Chicago, all my clothes were stolen and I have nothing but those on my back."

The black prince is an accomplished linguist. He has travelled over nearly all the world. He says that he is seeing what he can because he will be forced to take the throne some day and then will have to stay home.

MILITIA TO CLOSE

Port was elected.

Governor Fort's pronouncement further denounces the action of the May's Laiding grand jury which ten days ago refused to indict Atlantic City saloon men for alleged violations of the law. He declares that the grand jury now in session is not likely to find indictments, and his threatened action in calling an extra session of the legislature is intended to show the grand jury the importance of the work before them.

The governor claims he has affidavits from two men who purchased liquor last Sunday in Atlantic City saloons owned by grand jurors.
