PROTECT SHEEP ON RANGES

Fencing the range to protect the sheep from the attacks of predatory animals has met with excellent results in the Wallowa national forest, Oregon. The problem was to find a strong fence that would make the sheep from the attacks of predatory of a herder.

The chosen fence, which is built of woven wire with barbed wire on the top, has kept out all the minor animals such as wild cats, lynxes and coyotes, but has not withstood the attacks of the grizzlies, which are apparently able to pass through it with little trouble.

Sheep numbering 2200 head were placed in the enclosure with their lambs upon June 20th and have been allowed to graze at their free will with no attention whatever from any herder. They have done splendidly and as far as the observation of those in charge of the experiment goes, a given area grazed by sheep under such conditions will carry more sheep per acre than one grazed under the charge of a herder.

Tracks along the fence show that predatory animals come to the fence constantly and follow it around but, with the exception of the bears, do not seem able to enter.

The hunter employed by the service for hunting predatory animals in the vicinity of this fenced enclosure has killed no less than six large grizzlies this season, besides numerous other animals of the predatory class.

The results of this experiment are so satisfactory thus far that private individuals are profiting by it. Mr. J. W. Emmons of Troy, Oregon, has a large area of private land fenced with a special wire fence in which he has this season lambed a herd of 670 ewes without a herder's care and with very little attention and great success. Mr. Emmons is extending his fence, for he finds that it pays.

Careful record will be kept of the weights of lambs raised inside this fence with a view of comparing them with the same grade of lambs raised outside the fence on the same class of range, so that any gains or losses in weight and growth may be determined.

Granulated Sore Eyes Cured.

"For 20 years I suffered from a bad case of granulated sore eyes," says Martin Boyd of Henrietta, Ky. "In February, 1903, a gentleman asked me to try Chamberlain's Salve. I bought one box and used about two-thirds of it and my eyes have not given me any trouble since." This salve is for sale by Dr. Stone's drug store.

AUTOS SPOIL AMUSEMENT BUSINESS

The amusement places of Chicago are having slim crowds and fat deficits this summer and the mystery is mysteries—foreboding mystery for the managers—is "What's the reason?" All along the line the excuse is made that they are losing money, that the crowds are small, the receipts are light. From White City, Forest Park, Luna Park, Sans Souci, Riverview and Ravinia to the box offices of the summer theaters comes the same mournful query: "Where are the people?" Is it an aftermath of the financial depression? Great complaint has been made by the merchants that automobiling has hurt their trade, that women spend so much time in autos that they don't take time to shop and moreover are able to do without many new clothes because so much of the time they go about muffled in dusters and auto veils. The dearth of receipts at the summed gardens is charged in part to the same thing and what has become of the throngs without automobiles who, for recreation, have been enticed into riding the "figure eight," the swift sensational "roller coaster" and the "shoot the chutes." Squealing girls and bolsterous men have hitherto fought for a chance to squander their dimes on the "airships," the "house of mirth" and the "bump the bumps," the "streets of Venice" and the 'social whirl." The "scenic railway" and the "loop the loop" have previously allured many seeking for "thrills," but this year little gaudily painted cars have traveled the "death-defying" route carrying few passengers. Attractions, side shows, and concessions of all kinds planned to entice the merry throngs are so comparatively deserted that the patrons do not need to jostle for a chance to treat their partners.

She Likes Good Things.

Mrs. Chas. E. Smith, of West Franklin, Maine, says: "I like good things and have adopted Dr. King's New Life Pills as our family laxative medicine, because they are good and do their work without making a fuss about it." These painless purifiers are sold at J. C. Perry's drug store.

ELECTRICTY TO COUNT THE VAST CROWDS

Modern Turnstiles to Be Used at Gates of Oregon State Fair.

An electric turnstile which is operated by dropping a coin in a slot, and which counts every person passing through and records the number in the secretary's office, is the latest invention for handling the great crowds entering a modern exposition grounds, and the appliance will be used by the management of the Oregon state fair, which will be held this year from September 14 to 19.

Six of these electric turnstiles have been purchased by the management of the fair, and four will be installed at the main entrance to the grounds and two at the entrance to the grandstand enclosure. The machines are the identical ones used at the gates of the St. Louis world's fair in 1904.

The appliance will do away with ticket sellers and gate keepers and other employes at the entrance. It will be necessary to have a man on the outside to make change as the slot will not admit any other coin than a half dollar. Men will also be needed to watch the crowd and see that no lead slugs or other counterfeit coins are introduced in to the slot.

The visitor must have his 50-cent piece ready, but aside from that he will be put to no inconvenience. He hands the coin to the man at the gate, who drops it in the slot. This turns the stile and admits one person. The stile is immediately locked until another coin in dropped in.

Each turning of the stile is recorded by a machine which adds the number of persons admitted. The number is also recorded by electrical connection in the office of the secretary, or at any other point on the grounds. At midnight each day the officials of the fair will know exactly how many visitors have passed through the gates during the day.

Formerly it was impossible to count the big crowds accurately, and the attendance could only be estimated. The new turnstile has been tested at the fair grounds at Salem and has been found to work perfectly in every detail.

The only difficulty will be the failure of visitors to the fair to bring the right change, but after the first day or two, when fairgoers have become familiar with the new system, no further trouble is expected.

Fly-Casting.

The men most expert with rod and reel from Maine to Oregon have whipped the Washington Park lagoon to a froth without catching a fish—or trying to. Equipped with the finest tackle made, they delighted themselves and the spectators—and the carp in the lagoon—as their lines sang through the air and the feather flies lit temptingly upon the surface, for insetad of cruel steel hooks on the ends of their silk lines they were only "casting blanks." Prizes valued at $1500 were angled for, the contest being held under the auspices of the National Association of Scientific Angling clubs. It was merely a contest of accuracy, distance and expertness in both bait and fly-casting. The bait casters had half ounce weights, and the fly casters had hookless flies, which from a platform at the water's edge, they cast at target posts some 100 yards or more from shore. The The posts took the place of the lily pads under whose cool leaves the gamy fish was supposed to lie. The men whose eyes were clearest, whose sands were steadiest and whose thumbs slackened the pace of the flying weight at the right time and came nearest to the target carried off the prizes. Some, whose wrists are strong and supple, have cast the half ounce weight over 247 feet and can strike a defined spot with almost unbelievable accuracy. Serious matters, too, were handled in the evenings by the tournament delegates who came from 20 different clubs throughout the United States, having a total of over 2500 members. The "game and fish hogs" were discussed and it was decided that education in the ways of proper sport was the best way to eliminate the men who are fast killing out the game in forest and field and slowly but surely overcoming the increase of the fish in lake, brook and river.

There are many imitations of DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve but just one odiginal. Sold by all druggists.

SKIN GRAFTING A SUCCESS

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Portland, Or., Aug. 28.—One of the most remarkable cases of skin grafting ever performed in Portland now promises success. Leonard La Rone, a lineman, was so severely burned by coming in contact with a live wire at a recent fire that the burns refused to heal. He submitted to operations of skin grafting and large pieces of skin were taken from his hips and transplanted to the burned places. The announcement was made today that La Rone will recover without any serious disfigurement. He underwent the operations without taking an anaesthetic and stood the ordeal without flinching.

INDEPENDENTS WIN IN COURT

San Francisco, Aug. 28.—Members of the Independence party of this city are elated today over a decision handed down by the supreme court awarding the party the right to have two representatives on the board of election commissioners. The opinion upon which the Independents based their contest for representation were that in the gubernatorial election of 1906 the party polled the second highest number of votes and that this showing entitled them to two members of the election board this year. Mayor Taylor refused to make the appointments and the matter was carried into court.

PUBLIC PLAY GROUNDS IN CHICAGO

The enthusisastic attendance this summer at Chicago's 11 public playgrounds, three public bathing beaches and the 117 acres of small parks has shown how much they were needed, the attendance record in the play-grounds during July alone being 225,000 children. Last year the attendance during the first six months was 644,485, and the record for 1906 was 1,561,757 There is relief from the blazing heat of the streets and ready made means for fun in these parks, the fun including baths and showers—with regular days for the girls—gymnasia, libraries and assembly halls. To the urchin in a torn hat and two doubtful garments such a place is Eden when the mercury in the back room off Halsted street is at 100. Progeny of all the polygot races of Chicago are seen splashing and squirming on the trapezes of these parks in which the city has invested approximately $1,000,000—with no kick from the taxpayers. The park systems of the city now comprise 3191 acres of land which is priceless for commercial use but more so as life saving stations. Discipline in the playgrounds is the difficult thing to attain but each year, with directors in charge, shows some improvement which many park advocates put down as a great gain to the city in lessened grime of the rising publicly-washed generation.
