FOUND ON ROAD TO SILVERTON

OLD LADY WALKED EIGHT MILES

After a search of 24 hours, during which every road leading out of Salem was covered for a distance of about 10 miles, Mrs. Eunice Roberts, 70 years of age, a resident of this city, who disappeared Saturday from the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. I. Staley, was found lying in a straw pile near the home of Ed. Murphy, on the Silverton road, eight miles east of Salem, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.
Mr. Walker, who lives on the adjoining farm, telephoned at once to the children of Mrs. Roberts, who went for her in an automobile. Mrs. Roberts is now at the home of her children, and is rapidly recovering from her long journey on foot.

'FRISCO HAS MOST MEN IN LINE

SIXTY THOUSAND PARADE

(United Press Lensed Wire.)
San Francisco, Sept. 7.—With the big parade in which 40,000 workmen affiliated with the Building Trades Council in the organizations affiliated with the San Francisco Labor Council took part, Labor Day was celebrated here.
Sixty organizations were represented in the parade of the building trades in this city. Many unique and attractive features pleased the crowds which gathered to witness the parade a loving cup and other attractive trophies having stimulated competition on the part of the unions. Later many of the marchers went to Oakland to join the celebration there, while others went to the prize fight. This evening exercises will be held and labor speeches delivered.

TRIED TO TAKE HIS OWN LIFE

THOUGH HEAD OF ANTI-SUICIDES

(United Press Lensed Wire.)
Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 7.—Driven by sheer force of mental suggestion to attempt to end his own life, Brigadier Scott Girard, head of the State Anti-Suicide Bureau of the Volunteers of America, lies in a precarious condition in the hospital here today. He swallowed 50 strychnine pellets he had taken from a man he had dissuaded from committing suicide Saturday.
After he had swallowed the poison Girard wrote his sensations as the hands of death clutched at his heart. Five sheets of manuscript were finished in description of his emotions, and he ended with blotting the last sheet after he had written:
"I feel my wife's arms about me. My head whirrs. Her lovely face is turning to that of an old hag. The teeth grow long. The flesh shrivels from the skull. I see every bone. I know the face—it is the picture of death. I choke. I rise to inhale the gas from the open jet. Devils crowd- ing."

FEAR FOR LIVES OF SIXTEEN

BELIEVED TO HAVE DROWNED

San Pedro, Cal., Sept. 7.—Sixteen persons are believed to have been drowned from the gasoline fishing launch "O. K.," which has been missing since yesterday.
Efforts are being made to communicate by wireless with Catalina Islands, but no news of the missing craft had been received at 12:30 this afternoon.
The passengers on the launch when it left here yesterday morning were: Captain John Gishler, Mrs. D. H. Walker, Frank Gates, Mrs. Frank Gates, Lester Gates, Mrs. Harper, Mr. Harper, Mr. Allen.
Two young women, names unknown, and six men, names unknown. When the party boarded the launch yesterday it was with the intention of returning to San Pedro last night, after spending a day fishing in the vicinity of Catalina Island. A few hours after the departure of the "O. K." a severe squall blew, and it is feared the little craft, which was but 30 feet long, was unable to weather the storm, and the fact that none of the friends or relatives of the missing passengers have heard from them makes it highly improbable that they are safe at the Catalina Island hotel. Most of the members of the party were residents of Los Angeles.
Fearing for the safety of friends on the missing launch, Carl E. McStay, president of the McStay Supply Company, hurried here from Baird-town today and organized two rescue parties. Shortly after noon the launches "Lou Kelly" and "Pearl" were sent out to hunt for the "O. K."
Along the water front here little hope for the safety of the craft is expressed.

The Search.

When the news of Mrs. Roberts' disappearance was received at the sheriff's office, a systematic search was at once begun. Eighteen men, friends of Mrs. Roberts' family, divided themselves into ten squads and started out upon the various roads leading from the city. Sheriff Minto led one party, and Deputy Esch and his assistant remained in the office and received the telephone communications from the several searching parties. L. K. Hertz, with the prison blood hounds, rendered valuable assistance.

About 8 o'clock last evening Deputy Esch received word from one of Mrs. Roberts' children that the elderly lady had been found, and the searching parties were called in as soon as they could be located by phone. W. I. Staley, Miss Roberts and Ed. Thielsen left in the Thielsen automobile for the Murphy farm. Shortly afterwards Dr. Morse started in his auto with Henry Meyers and Harry Albert. Mrs. Roberts was found by the first auto party, who started back with her to the city. An accident occurred to the Thielsen machine about two miles this side of the Murphy farm, and Mrs. Roberts was conveyed from there to Salem in the auto belonging to Dr. Morse.

Nothing is known of the reason for Mrs. Roberts' disappearance, as no information was given out by the family. The following statement was given out by Mrs. Staley this morning:

"The family of Mrs. Roberts was much relieved at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when they received a telephone message from Mr. Walker on the Silverton road, eight miles east of Salem, that their mother was there, and they immediately went for her. She is now at the home of her children, recovering from the fatigue of her long walk."

FISHING PARTY ENDS DISASTROUSLY

(United Press Lensed Wire.)
Galveston, Tex., Sept. 7.—John L. Moore and John Goggan are dead today and three other prominent Galveston men are in a precarious condition after a fierce battle with a gale off Red Fish reef Saturday night. A fishing party, including 20 of the most prominent men of Galveston, was caught by the storm.
The two drowned men and their three companions were swamped trying to escape in a small boat.

New York, Sept. 7.—More than 40,000 men marched in the Labor Day parade today, and it was declared to be the largest the city has ever seen. The various divisions represented every conceivable branch of organized labor. There were many floats and the representatives appeared in uniforms and carried banners.

Crowds lined the streets all along the line of march, and the enthusiasm displayed was considered particularly significant. Thousands of working people came from the East Side and joined in the big demonstration.
In all there were 46 divisions in the parade. There were many bands, and as the line of march passed through some of the tenement districts, hundreds of children joined in line, dancing through the streets.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 7.—Rain began falling at 10 o'clock today, and spoiled what would have been one of the best Labor Day celebrations ever held in Tacoma.
An elaborate program of sports had been prepared for the occasion, but most of the events were called off.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 7.—Labor Day was celebrated at the White City, Madison Park. Although the weather was chilling and threatened rain this morning, scores of families made their way to the amusement place to spend the day. This afternoon's program of sports was held and the mortgage against the labor temple was burned.

Attorney-General John D. Atkinson, Mayor Miller and other prominent citizens composed the list of afternoon speakers.

DRUNKEN BUTCHER MURDERS WIFE

Palo Alto, Cal., Sept. 7.—John Rodriguez, a butcher employed here, killed his wife at their home near here this morning by shooting her in the back, following a quarrel, in which she had upbraided her husband for drinking. Rodriguez was arrested later.
The man came home drunk last night, and proceeded to abuse his wife. He finally struck her, and she ran out of the house to escape his blows.

The Washington lumber market is much improved, and large orders are showing into the Hoquiam district.

AMERICAN PRELATES CENSURED

London, Sept. 7.—A sensation was created today in the session of the congregation of the propaganda which is preliminary to the convening of the Eucharistic congress tomorrow, by the charge made by Cardinal Martinelli that the methods used to have Dr. E. J. Hanna, of Rochester, N. Y., appointed coadjutor bishop of San Francisco were undignified in the extreme.
Cardinal Martinelli assailed Dr. Hanna and Archbishop Riordan, of San Francisco, in discussing the appointment and cited alleged instances of undue pressure having been brought by Archbishop Riordan to secure the appointment of Dr. Hanna.

The discussion was at times acrimonious, and the congregation finally decided to instruct the apostolic delegate at Washington to send the names of new candidates in opposition to Dr. Hanna. The resolution which was passed had its inception in the charge that Dr. Hanna's views are too modernistic. It is understood that Cardinal Martinelli voiced the views of the pope today when he attacked Hanna.

Catholics here take the action of the congregation today to mean that Dr. Hanna will never be appointed.

"BLACK HAND" KING ESCAPES IN MINE

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Joseph Scurla, known as the "King of the Black Hand," charged with having been a partner in the conspiracy to dynamite the home of Antonio Lima, today escaped a posse of deputies and Chicago detectives when hard pressed, by descending into a mine near Marion. The shaft was thoroughly searched, but without avail, and the search was finally abandoned, no trace of the missing anarchist having been found.

TERRIBLE BLAZE IN MINNESOTA

(United Press Lensed Wire.)

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 7.—After destroying the town of Chisholm, on the Mesaba Range, and burning over thousands of acres to St. Louis, Carlton and Itasca counties, in Minnesota, and the northern portion of Douglas county, Wisconsin, the many forest fires which have been raging in these districts were checked today, and if the wind does not spring up again, it is not likely that further damage will be great.

The strong wind, which had driven the flames before it in many timbered and agricultural districts, subsided this morning and many thousands of homeless people were given a chance to take stock of their belongings and to prepare to replace the many burned farm houses and settlements, and the once flourishing town of Chisholm, 65 miles north of Duluth.
