TWO AUTO MISHAPS IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—William Hunting Cooper, Miss Lulu Cliff and Charles McFarland are all in a critical condition today as the result of two automobile accidents yesterday in which the automobiles were going slowly and were hit by electric cars going at a high rate of speed. Cooper and Miss Cliff were hurled several feet when an electric car hit the automobile in which they were riding, and that neither were killed was startling.

McFarland's automobile was hit by a speeding car and pitched into a nearby yard. He received broken ribs, a broken arm and internal injuries. It is reported today that he has but a slight chance of recovery.

ACTORS ARRESTED FOR "PIRATING"

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 14.—L. R. Stockwell, veteran actor and manager, and Norval MacGregor, an actor, are preparing today to fight on the first case of infringement of copyright ever brought here in connection with the production of a play. The two men were indicted by the federal grand jury, arrested and released on bail. They say they will fight the case to the last ditch.

Stockwell and MacGregor managed Nance O'Neil on her last appearance in this city, when she played "The Fires of St. John," and it is this play that they are accused of having "pirated."

Charles Swickard, a singer now in the Ferrise-Mason Opera Company, is the complaining witness. He claims that Miss O'Neil played his version of the play, and that he warned her not to stage the piece. Stockwell claims that he had to rewrite the play, and that an infringement of copyright was not committed.

ALL OREGON

Is Cordially Invited

To see the best and largest exhibit of vehicles and farm machinery and implements ever shown at any fair. The exhibit is aimed to include everything needed on the modern and up-to-date farm. You will find this superb exhibit in the machinery building to the left, close to the main entrance gate, at the

Oregon State Fair

You will see there some of the latest and best things—some of them not before shown at any fair. You will see there a potato digger that cleans and sacks the potatoes. Your attention is called to the big hay baler, to the gasoline engine display, to the wagon display, and the display of vehicles. But you must see to appreciate. To particularize would be invidious superfluity.

From the Salem Branch

This superb display was made up at the Salem branch, with the exception of two carloads of the heavier articles. We take pride in inviting every Oregon farmer to see and examine this fine display. It will bear inspection, as a whole, and as to each individual part.
