THE WEDDING OF THE COOS BAY COUNTRY TO THE VALLEY.

Two years ago last May when the first big development convention was held on Coos Bay, people in this part of the state did not know how to reach that part of the state.

The steamer Willamette was chartered by the Willamette Valley Development League and ONE HUNDRED DELEGATES WERE TAKEN TO THE FARMERS AND SHIPPERS CONGRESS AT NORTH BEND.

That congress broke the ice between these distant regions, started the warmer currents of affection flowing and the two sections of the state are now engaged to be united in marriage.

The commerce of southwestern Oregon that was monopolized by San Francisco has been turned this way, and PORTLAND IS NOW GETTING FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE TRADE THAT FORMERLY WENT TO CALIFORNIA.

So the ban on any further separation between these regions has been proclaimed; the betrothal announced and all that is necessary to complete the union is Harriman's band of steel.

That union is bound to take place, either by way of Roseburg, by Eugene, by Drain, or down the coast from Astoria. THAT UNION WILL BE OF THE GREATEST VALUE TO WESTERN OREGON.

Few people can imagine the effect of connecting up the great interior of Oregon with a deep-sea harbor that is entirely surrounded by a fine quality of merchantable coal.

The Capital Journal Special Coos Bay edition twice a day during the State Fair will have much to do with making public sentiment for the happy consummation of this MARRIAGE OF THE PACIFIC OCEAN AND THE INLAND EMPIRE.

Preserve this copy of The Capital Journal for future reference and if you have an interest in Coos Bay plan to take a trip down there and become a stockholder in western Oregon's greatest enterprise—the opening and development of a great deep-sea harbor and fortified naval coaling station by the combined efforts of the state and the national governments.

WHERE IS A RAILROAD MOST NEEDED?

Portland papers declare with double head-lines that all Harriman extensions are to stop until after he has built the Columbia Southern from Shaniko to Klamath Falls.

TO GET THE DIRECT BENEFIT FOR PORTLAND OF ANY POSSIBLE RAILROAD EXTENSION, Manager O'Brien and a delegation were sent to see Harriman at Pelican Bay.

The Columbia Southern leaves the O. R. & N. Just above The Dalles on the Columbia river. It extends 50 miles south into a wheat and cattle and sheep country, a region that is waiting for water for irrigation.

BUT IT IS DIRECTLY TRIBU-

TARY TO PORTLAND AND WOULD LEAVE OUT ALL SOUTHERN AND WESTERN OREGON.

That extension would be of no direct benefit to western Oregon or the Willamette valley or the coast country.

But it would be a good thing for Portland and the central part of eastern Oregon and we hope it may be built.

But when it is stated by the Portland papers that all other extensions of the Harriman system MUST STOP FOR THIS, and that the extension from Shaniko south is the one most needed many will beg leave to differ.

What possible traffic is there for the extension of the Columbia Southern?

WHEAT AND LIVESTOCK—NO OTHER GREAT LINES OF PRODUCTION IN THAT REGION.

What great lines of traffic await a railroad to Coos Bay or Tillamook?

There are grain, fruit and dairy products. Cattle, sheep, goats and swine. These are minor products.

THERE ARE COAL, TIMBER AND LUMBER PRODUCTS ALL THE YEAR AROUND.

A railroad to the coast has summer resort travel in summer and home seekers and timberland locators all the year around.

THERE IS A CONSTANT VOLUME OF FREIGHT AND PASSENGER BUSINESS ORIGINATING AT A HARBOR.

HARRIMAN SHOULD BUILD WHERE THERE IS THE MOST URGENT NEED OF A RAILROAD, says the Telegram.

That is where there is the largest volume of traffic ready and waiting—WHERE CITIES ARE BUILDING AND POPULATION IS RAPIDLY INCREASING.

Western Oregon is spending $150,000 a year on publicity and promotion work to bring in people and stimulate enterprise.

THAT IS WHERE RAILROADS ARE NEEDED TO ENCOURAGE THE PEOPLE TO KEEP UP THEIR GOOD WORK.

GOOD MAN FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTOR.

The selection of A. Huckenstein of Salem for one of the Presidential electors was a wise act on the part of the Democratic state committee.

Mr. Huckenstein is a political debater of more than average ability, and has A GOOD PRESENCE AND A CLEAR VOICE that can be heard by a crowd.

He is, besides, one of the manufacturers of this state, employing labor, and not merely a trumped-up politician who has to live off politics.

This is about the first honor ever handed to Mr. Huckenstein, who has LABORED LONG AND FAITHFULLY IN THE DEMOCRATIC VINEYARD.

The Democrats reward their campaign workers as a rule, and we hope to see Mr. Huckenstein get some substantial recognition.

MURDERED IN FIGHT OVER GLASS OF WATER

Bellefontaine, O., Sept. 14.—The police are looking today for Mike Rulu and John Barica, who are supposed to have murdered Frank Darish in cold blood, in a quarrel over the last drink of water in the Ohio railway's construction camp yesterday afternoon. Darish wanted the water for his wife, who is ill.

The water supply has become depleted during the past two weeks, and the tenders have had to walk two miles to the Lewiston reservoir for water. Yesterday Rulu and Barica arrived at the falls just as Darish was pouring out the last drop to carry to his wife.

The men demanded that he divide with them and when he refused he was shot dead. The people here are greatly excited about the shooting, and the railway company is taking measures to have the water supply brought nearer to the camp.

Oh, well, we'd rather be president of several good banks than United States senator, anyway, although most people are neither.

It is now announced that the Methodists will fight Joe Cannon. But the Methodist brethren should remember that Uncle Joe is a hard-earned winner and he has his entire district as a reliable congregation at his back.

SPLENDID PROGRAMS AT FAIR NEW FEATURES ALL AROUND

THE OREGON STATE FAIR HAS OPENED TODAY WITH A GOOD ATTENDANCE, AND EXHIBITS IN ALL DEPARTMENTS.

New Floral Exhibit. Adelhelm Wyrach, the florist of St. Benedict's Abbey, for the first time has 15 specimens of potted plants, mostly very rare specimens. He shows a Rex begonia with leaves 20 inches long, the tubarora begonia, the Cedar of Lebanon from Jerusalem, the salvia Zurich, and four rare ferns. The Abbey also sends 12 feet long hemp from a seven-acre field, and specimens of onions. They will have an exhibit of Burgundy grapes in Wednesday. This is the first time the Abbey sends a floral exhibit and it is very creditable to their enterprise.

Fine Chicken Show. A large number of birds are in the coops and nearly as many more arrived Sunday. The following exhibitors have so far housed their birds under Mr. Schellthous's care: Obed Pickard, Marlon, games, Ed. School, Albany, game, duck, bronze turkey, white cockin bantams, and brahmas.

Glen Eoff, Polk county, black Minors, white Holland turkeys. This turkey exhibit is the largest that has ever been seen at an Oregon fair.

D. M. Calbreath, Monmouth, black, blue and splashed Andalusians, F. K. Wismer, Gresham, golden, silver and white wyandottes, dark and light brahmas, silver seabrights, blue pile game, black East India ducks.

E. N. Keeney, Turner, brown leghorns. A. E. Underwood, Yoncalla, buff orpington ducks. L. D. Elliott, Montavilla, black Minors.

Richard Lyons, Eugene, buff leghorns. W. A. Mates, Corvallis, brown leghorns.

mercial streets, where the crowds get on and off the cars. This is done for the purpose of giving strangers information, and, as the officers cannot be recognized by uniforms, the chief has instructed them to pin their stars on the outside of their coats, that they may be more easily recognized.

Board of Trade Busy. The Board of Trade rooms is one of the busiest places in town this week. They have some over 1000 extra room; real-tyers, and two men, with messenger boys, are in charge, supplying the strangers with information and locating them in good rooms.

Secretary Hofer has had the rooms decorated with hops. In the absence of the regular exhibit, and it makes them attractive for the time being. An information bureau has been opened at the state fair grounds, with a man in charge, where all information is supplied visitors, and literature concerning Salem is handed out to strangers.

The securing of rooms is proving a great success. It is not only a wonderful convenience to strangers, but is a great accommodation to room owners. There is an endless amount of detail to the work, but it is well in hand and running smoothly.

Watched Races. The trotting and pacers who started in the dusk of condition, in the races this afternoon have been the object of the greatest attention on the part of their trainers for the past 24 hours. Most of the trainers stayed in the stalls with their horses, staying in the stalls with their horses, staying in the stalls with their horses, staying in the stalls with their horses.

interfering with them. Although the practice of "doping" is indulged in very little at the Salem track, there have been a few instances where a good horse has been ruined on the eve of the race.

Mail Delivery. A change in the schedule of the rural mail carriers was instituted this morning, and will be in force until the end of fair week. The carriers will leave the office at 6:30 o'clock each morning, so that people living in the rural districts, who come to visit the fair, may receive their mail before leaving home.

Yesterday's Admissions. The turn-stiles at the state fair grounds yesterday registered 400 paid admissions at 4:30 p. m.

FARMER

It had destroyed all the buildings, valued at $2500.

Mrs. Thomas and her son, who were visiting in Spokane when the crime was committed, started for the ranch today.

The son said that, as far as he knew, his father had only one enemy. He says he does not think robbers consulted the crime, as he says it is unlikely they would fire the buildings.

CONTEMPTIBLE INJURY OF STALLION

One of the meanest crimes that has occurred in this city for some time was discovered this morning, when W. L. Skipton, owner of a high class trotting stallion found the animal in its stall in the livery barn in the rear of the Willamette hotel with several ugly knife gashes on different parts of its body. The stallion was bleeding profusely, and was in great agony. A veterinary surgeon was called and the wounds were dressed, but the horse is ruined for breeding purposes. The affair was reported to the sheriff, and an attempt will be made to locate the culprit. There is as yet no clue to the criminal's identity.
