CALIFORNIA SUPREME JUSTICE DEAD

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—Supreme Court Justice McFarland, one of the best known jurists in California, succumbed to a long illness caused by cancerous growth of the throat, and passed away at his residence here early today. The life of the aged jurist had been despaired of for several days, owing to the advanced stage of the disease, and, although he received the best of medical attention, he was unable to survive the malady. The end came peacefully.

Born in Mercersburg, Pa., April 19, 1828, Thomas B. McFarland evidenced a desire to enter the legal profession at an early age. After graduating from Marshall College, Mercersburg, he studied law with Robert M. Bard, and was admitted to the bar at the age of 21.

A few years later he came West and took up his residence in California. After holding the position of district judge in Nevada and Placer counties, he became register of the United States land office at Sacramento, which position he held until 1878. In 1882 he was elected to the position of superior judge of Sacramento county. He was still acting in that capacity in 1886, when he was elected to the supreme bench of California. He retained this position until his death.

As a member of the constitutional convention in 1879, Judge McFarland assisted in drafting the present constitution of the state. Later he was appointed by Leland Stanford as one of the trustees of Stanford University, when it was founded at Palo Alto. In spite of years and ill health, Chief Justice McFarland was active in the performance of his duties until recently, when ill-health compelled him to remain in the seclusion of his home.

PRISONERS MAKE BEST CONVERTS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Ill., Sept. 16.—That prisoners make the best converts to theosophy, because they have more time to read the books on the subject, is the statement made here today by followers of the creed, and it is planned to make a crusade among the prisons of the country to get recruits to the new cause.

The followers of Mrs. Annie Besant have decided that most people in this busy world have little time to give to the problems of other things than materialism, but they were filled with hope today by the statement of Irving S. Cooper, of Berkeley, that prisoners in California have made good converts to the cause.

Plans are now being formulated for the conversion of prisoners all over the United States.

ELECTROCUTED BY HIGH-TENSION WIRE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Alameda, Cal., Sept. 16.—Grasping a telephone wire which had been blown across a high power lead of the municipal lighting plant, Alma C. Ward, a nephew of the late Sir Edward Peckenham, a British lord, was electrocuted here last night, dying within a few minutes.

Ward noticed the dangling telephone wire sparking as it struck the ground. He warned passersby of their danger, and then, as the wire swung free of the ground and ceased to sputter, he evidently considered it to be harmless, and grasped it with his left hand. He sank to the ground with a groan. It was not until nearly half an hour afterward that the deadly wire was cut and the lifeless body carried to the hospital.

The young man was a resident of this city, and a prominent member of the Aeolian Yacht Club. He was connected with the San Francisco branch of the Gorham Rubber Company.

Ladies' Watches

A Lady's watch, whether it be solid gold or gold filled, should possess style and quiet elegance.

Above all things, it is important that a watch should keep accurate time, and this is the difficulty oftenest met with in ladies' watches on account of their smallness.

This store recognizes that the more difficult the obstacle, the more satisfaction in its complete solution—that's why this is the "Ladies' Watch Store" of this section.
