THE PREVAILING MODE

Is hardwood finish for interiors. For a private residence nothing can equal it, in being at the same time artistic, beautiful and durable. However, those who cannot afford hardwood trim need not have the plain, old-fashioned styles. I make a specialty of the latest designs in interior woodwork in both hard and soft woods and my prices are very low.

SMILES ON THE STATE FAIR:

Ezra Meeker is at the State Fair with his team of oxen, his Conestoga wagon, his book on the Oregon trail, and photographs of himself and the President taken in front of Roosevelt's boarding house in Washington, D. C. Ezra has spooks about a national highway across the continent, on the line of the old Oregon Trail. He has trailed it going and coming, and thinks it ought to be converted into a good automobile road. He is camping in a kind of wigwam teepee, and has been holding receptions with the old pioneers. He used to be the King of the Hop Growers but he and King Lupulin fell out, or rather the bottom fell out of the lupulin market several times when Ezra was holding for prices, and he went into the Trail business. He has a mighty fat pair of steers that don't look as if they had trailed it across the continent and back but they are the real thing, and remind us of the times when we trailed a yoke of oxen around the stable-lands in Iowa and plowed out nests of young rabbits and digger squirrels and our time was not worth ten cents a week to anyone. Mr. Meeker expects to have an opportunity to present his trail proposition to a state fair audience and he ought to be given a hearing by Judge Scott, H. B. Thielsen, John H. Albert and the rest of the Good Roads boosters.

J. E. Hosmer of Silverton is the inventor of a wonderful garden cultivator. He has quite a strong appetite for a kitchen garden and has never been able to break himself of the habit. He used to have his wife bear down on the garden rake while he dragged it down the rows of sweet corn and then he had her ride on it and work the thing like a riding cultivator but he found if he fixed a box on it with a few large rocks it worked just as well as to take Mrs. Hosmer's time. He had a long-toothed rake made and equipped it with a box to hold rocks that regulate the depth of cultivation and has it patented. He furnishes the rake and you furnish the rock, and by the influence of the little invention of Sir Isaac Newton, called the attraction of gravity, he can hoe a garden while the ordinary man is spitting on his hands and thinking about it. He has his invention at the State Fair and is prepared to show it to all but Missourians, as the real Missourian will never hoe a garden with anything but a mule.

Senator Bourne will be up to the State Fair with his latest golfing trousers on, checks three inches square.

D. H. Weyant has a display of the Oregon Sienna Mineral paints made by York Richardson and the rest of the crew that operates the big paint factory at Salem. It is not generally known but Col. Page put the Mazuma behind that enterprise at the critical moment that made it go, and Weyant and Richardson and some others picked it up and made it a success. There are all colors of it and we judge they are seeing the color of gold and banknotes in the venture the way it is selling. Weyant has a contract to paint the Oregon Exposition buildings at Seattle and wears a smile that won't come off and warrants anyone putting the paint on the inside or outside of a building will wear the same kind of a smile. If the paint wears half as well or spreads like Weyant's smile it is about the best thing on the market and will make this state famous.

If you have any trouble finding Food and Dairy Commissioner Bailey around the cheese and butter building, just look him up holding a stop-watch on the Jersey coming down the home stretch in front of the grand stand. He can time a short-horn heifer to the fraction of a second. You will find him around the Kentucky milk-shake machine early in the morning.

Dr. Morse was suddenly called out to the Fair Grounds Monday night at midnight, and to his surprise was led by a couple of dark looking foreigners to a thicket in the grove where a Gypsy woman was in the throes of childbirth. He soon had her sleeping soundly and Tuesday morning she was happily delivered of a bouncing young fortune teller and horse-trader combined. The lady was soon made comfortable although the Doctor says she did indulge in some lurid profanity before it was all over. But it is given away as a professional secret that she is not the first woman who ever forgot herself and swore some real swearwords and to the credit of the sex be it said, the men would do a great deal worse in their choice of a vocabulary under similar circumstances. It was the first Gypsy

Bad Symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weaknoses and arrangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not result fatally.

No medicine extant has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong and potent endorsement of each of its ingredients worth more than a dozen times as much as any other medicine. The very best ingredients known to medical science for the cure of women's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, habit-forming drug is to be found in it. Its ingredients printed on each bottle wrapper and attested under oath in any country of the female system.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only good-saver harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. To much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sincerely confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

event of the kind the Doctor ever officiated at and he feels he has added one bead to his professional rosary that not all members of the profession can boast.

Archie McGill of the Oregon Nursery company was at the fair Tuesday. He is the founder of the new town of Orenco, Washington county, and has made a barrel of money over there selling walnut trees by the 40-acre lot planted and cultivated, while Archie lives in a two-story bungalow with tiled bathrooms, etc., and rides in a red auto, he still knows the old town where he got his start selling apple trees with the Geo. Washington label. And everybody at Salem will always be glad to see McGill.

One of the characters at the State Fair is the Gypsy fortune teller, Mrs. S. Wharton, who has her booth just east of the floral palace. She is a fortune teller from away back. It has run in the blood of the family for a thousand years and the Whartons told the fortunes of the English kings and queens in the middle ages and before barns were built. Mrs. Wharton, like some other distinguished women, is at the fair every year and has told the fortunes of some of the most distinguished men in Oregon. She predicts your future and tells your past and she can't help doing it. Mrs. Wharton is Queen of the Oregon Gypsies, and one of the finest looking women of that nationality, as is also her daughter, who stays at the booth with her and is equally skillful in forecasting humanity's ifs.

Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway is at the State Fair. But what is the use of saying any more. She is still working for that suffrage amendment. Give her time and we all know what will happen.

A. B. Huddelson and J. H. Anderson of Cambridge, Idaho, are at the fair. Huddelson came very near being elected sheriff of Marion county once, but has reformed and now associates with bankers and first-class people only. He is still a Democrat, but in Idaho where the Republicans are nearly all Mormons that is the only thing for a respectable man to be, says Huddelson. Huddelson had only one fault, as a practical politician. He could not drink enough whiskey or beer to be a successful office seeker in Marion county.

Mason Bros., the South Salem florists, took several nice premiums on cut flowers in the State Fair flower show this year. The boys have a genius for growing hothouse flowers and will make a mark in that business if they don't get spilt and go into politics or the newspaper business.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup does not constipate like most of the old-fashioned cough cures, but on the other hand it gently moves the bowels and at the same time heals irritation and allays inflammation of the throat. Sold by all druggists.
