TAILOR-MADE SUITS

$12.50 to $65.00 each superb display of new tailored suits now ready for your choosing. Three times the assortment you'll find anywhere else about town, exclusive models, and, as usual, the most reasonable prices prevail here. Long coat suits in very attractive models, skirts of the latest fashions and materials to please every individual fancy. The display is worth coming to see, and includes tailored suits of all grades. It is no trouble for us to show our goods. We want people to know that we are selling to and pleasing more people for less money than any store hereabouts.

MEN

You may have your pick here any day of the richest display of fine clothes that was ever shown in this town. If you think a minute you'll realize that as many people see your back as your front, the cut of your coat, the hang of it, the way it fits the back—you can't see it yourself, but a lot of other people can, you want it right; and we offer you clothes that make it right. They're made by Hart, Schaffner & Marx.

$12.50 to $35.00

OVERCOATS

As smart and stylish garments as you'll ever set your eyes on or put your frame into. Hart, Schaffner & Marx made these overcoats for us and for you if you say so; they are all wool and all right.

GEN. LUARD ENDS HIS OWN LIFE WAS SUSPECTED OF KILLING WIFE

(United Press Special Wire)
London, Sept. 18.—Unable to bear any longer the pained accusations that he had killed his wife whose body was found shot through the heart in a lane at Seven Oaks August 24, Major-General Charles Edward Luard is believed to have thrown himself in front of a train on the Southeastern railroad today.

General Luard's body was found literally ground to a pulp near his home. All the circumstances point to the theory that the famous army officer committed suicide.

The coroner's jury, which had been called to investigate the death of Mrs. Luard, adjourned yesterday afternoon until September 23 without having reached any decision. It was intimated by the officers in the case that the murderer would be arrested before the coroner's jury was called together again.

Luard is thought to have feared that he would be accused of the murder of his wife. He left a note declaring that he could no longer bear the strain of accusation. The body was found at his home.

The murder of Mrs. Luard was one of the mysteries of London. The general and his wife were walking through a lane in the evening, when Mrs. Luard complained of feeling badly and started back home. She had not gone far when she was killed by a rifle shot.

A cross-eyed hop picker was arrested by Scotland Yard detectives but was afterwards released. No motive has ever been advanced for the possible killing of Mrs. Luard by her husband.

"YE LIBERTY"

One of the greatest animated pictures ever shown is now being featured at "Ye Liberty," the beautiful little play house on Liberty street, and was applauded by a large audience this afternoon. The management has secured the Great Marathon Races as a special feature for this week. The picture shows all of the principal races, and especially the finish of the race that made Oregon athletes famous. Every event is clearly shown, and was very much appreciated. The "Ye Liberty" is playing to capacity, and if the manager continues to present the class of entertainment in the future as in the past there is no doubt as to the success of the new venture.

ORDERS IMPROVEMENTS

FOR N. P. TERMINAL

The Railroad Commission has filed its report on the inspection of the yards of the Northern Pacific Terminal company at Portland. The commission finds, among other things, that the trestle at the north end of the Almsworth Dock track is in very bad condition, and recommends its immediate repair. It also advises that the grounds be kept cleaner, and that Stark street, near the terminal grounds, be kept open its entire width in order to prevent accidents. In a letter to the Railroad Commission the Northern Pacific Terminal company has promised to comply with the recommendation of the commission.

NATIONS WASTED LUMBER

Few people have the slightest conception just how important a part timber and manufactured wood play in the trade between the world's great nations, and doubtless it is news to many to learn that the lumber importations of the various countries amount to $285,600,000. This is according to estimates for the whole world compiled by Dr. Ernest Friedrich, of the German commercial high school at Leipzig. Notwithstanding the fact that it finds its own supply dwindling, the United States furnishes about 20 per cent of the lumber imported by other countries. Austria-Hungary furnishes 19 per cent, Russia 16 per cent, Canada 13 per cent, Sweden 18 per cent, Finland 10 per cent, and Norway and Roumania a small quantity.

The countries importing wood are those on the highest economical plane, which were themselves in earlier times densely wooded, but whose forests have been denuded to a greater or less extent to make room for agriculture and other industries, says Vice-Consul James L. A. Burrell, of Magdeburg, in a report to this government. Only 4 per cent of the territory of Great Britain is covered with forests, and during the year 1906 that country imported lumber to the value of $135,561,750. Germany has still 26 per cent of its territory covered by forests, but imported in 1906 lumber valued at $61,285,000. Belgium and the Netherlands, that have but 8 per cent forest lands, Denmark, that has 7 per cent, France and Switzerland, with a small percentage, are all compelled to import lumber.

Besides these countries, those lands lying on the dry western side of the sub-tropical zone lacking forests are forced to import wood. Egypt imports wood and coal to the value of about $16,660,000 annually; Algeria, Tunis, Spain, Portugal (with only 3 per cent forest land), Italy, Greece (with 9 per cent forest land), the eastern part of Asia, British South Africa, the western part of Chile and Peru, the Argentine Republic, and Australia, all poor in wood, are dependent upon import.

PENDLETON PIONEER DIES AT OLD AGE

(East Oregonian.)
J. D. Price, pioneer resident of the city, died at 3 o'clock this morning from a complication of troubles with which he had been suffering for several years. The funeral service will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the family home on California street.

The deceased was a native of Danville, Illinois, and was 78 years of age when he died. He came across the plains in the early '50s and had lived in this town continuously for 29 years.

Aside from his wife the old pioneer is survived by three sons and one daughter, all living within the city. The sons are A. P. Price, Fred Price and J. O. Price, while the daughter is Mrs. Minnie Daniel. A fourth son is dead.

During his long residence in Pendleton the deceased became well acquainted, especially with the older residents and he had many friends who along with his relatives, mourn his death.

R. A. Heritage left today for North Yakima and other points where he has musical engagements.
