SHARED CAKES WITH BEAR

Lost Child Cried When Taken Away From Frightened Bruin.

Not heeding a warning not to wander far, 10-year-old Maggie Fanning of Chicago, who with her mother is visiting relatives near Farnwood, Sullivan county, N. Y., was lost in the woods the other day. When found she was sitting on a log feeding a half grown bear with cakes from a paper bag. At the approach of the searching party the bear fled, and the child cried because they had scared it away. The little girl said she had walked a long way, picking and eating huckleberries, and at last became tired and sat down on a log to eat her cakes when the bear, which she thought was a dog, came out of the brush, and she handed it a cake. This was followed by other cakes until the whole dozen had disappeared. Then she said she was about to follow her doggie to his home, where she knew there would be people who would take her home. The child had been gone five hours.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an east bound O. R. & N. R. train from Pendleton to La Grande, Or., writes Sam A. Garber, a well known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, "There is a woman sick unto death in the car. I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic; her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and while a deathlike look on her face. Two of my three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank and a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands and in 20 minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into La Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into La Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." For sale by Dr. Stone's drug store.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD AGENT DARLING

Takes the First Layoff in Twenty-five Years to Visit His Parents.

Station Agent O. L. Darling left last night to visit his father and mother at Astoria, Ill., where he left as a young fellow in 1883, and has been constantly in the employ of the Oregon & California railroad, now part of the Southern Pacific system, and this is the first time he has been on a vacation for any length of time. He has been agent at Salem and McMinnville, and when he went to work the Salem office under W. W. Skinner, that part of the city was all in the brush. Acre lots were selling out that way for $75 and were not picked up very fast. Lots fifty by hundred now sell for $700 each. Mr. Darling and son accompany him on his first visit to his parents. Mr. Darling is one of the best known and best liked railroad men in this part of the Willamette valley.

Best Treatment for a Burn.

If for no other reason, Chamberlain's Salve should be kept in every household on account of its great value in the treatment of burns.
