Bretz-Mackey.

The marriage of Miss Edna Z. Bretz and William H. Mackey, at home of the bride's parents, of Maple and Highland avenue, at high noon was a home event, at which only members of the family and intimate friends of the groom were present. The ceremony was attended by Miss Mary of Walla Walla, Wash., and Mr. A. H. Campbell of Spokane, as best man. Dr. J. H. Baughman of the Baptist church, was officiating minister. The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. The bride wore a dainty costume of white and carried a bouquet of blue and white flowers and carried white asters. The bridesmaids were, especially in the morning, in white with blue and white flowers in their hair. The wedding breakfast was served in the living room, and the bride's room was pretty with white and blue flowers. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Mackey, and is a well known musician. Mr. Mackey is the Oregon Electric's manager, and is quite well known in the city. After a honey-moon at the seashore, will be home to friends after October 1, at Maple and Highland avenue.

Albany Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Frances Albany, to Mr. Richard Albany, of Portland, was solemnized Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. French. About 60 guests were present including many out-of-town friends. The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. The bride wore a dainty costume of white and carried a bouquet of blue and white flowers and carried white asters. The bridesmaids were, especially in the morning, in white with blue and white flowers in their hair. The wedding breakfast was served in the living room, and the bride's room was pretty with white and blue flowers. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Mackey, and is a well known musician. Mr. Mackey is the Oregon Electric's manager, and is quite well known in the city. After a honey-moon at the seashore, will be home to friends after October 1, at Maple and Highland avenue.

Heise-Hewitt.

The pretty wedding of the season took place last Sunday when Rev. Hewitt was united in marriage to Lena May Heise by Professor Patterson, of Willamette University. Both of the contracting parties are in the city and are well known in university circles. A wide circle of friends.

The ceremony took place at high noon and was attended only by the immediate friends and relatives of both.

The bride was daintily gowned in real lace over cream silk and carried a bouquet of smilax and asters. She wore a beautiful wreath of orange blossoms in her hair. The simple but impressive ceremony was performed under an arch of asparagus fern and marguerites. As the bridal couple entered the room W. S. Heise sang Clement's beautiful nuptial song, "O Promise Me."

Immediately following the ceremony the company sat down to the wedding breakfast. The table was decorated with carnations and in keeping with the event being celebrated. About 20 friends and relatives partook of the luncheon.

Miss Heise is well known and was a former student at the college of music, where she was popular and well liked. Mr. Hewitt is a senior in both the colleges of law and liberal arts and is popular and has the respect of all his classmates and friends outside of the university. The father of the bride is A. Heise who lives at the west end of the Willamette river bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hewitt will be at home to their friends after October 1 at 1740 East Court street.

Philodorian Meet.

The Philodorian Literary Society, of Willamette University, held its first regular meeting this term at their hall yesterday afternoon.

The time was spent attending to business matters carried over from last year, and in electing officers for the coming three months. The members meet each Friday, and next week they will entertain their friends at an open meeting.

Weather Forecast.
Showers tonight or Sunday; warmer tonight.

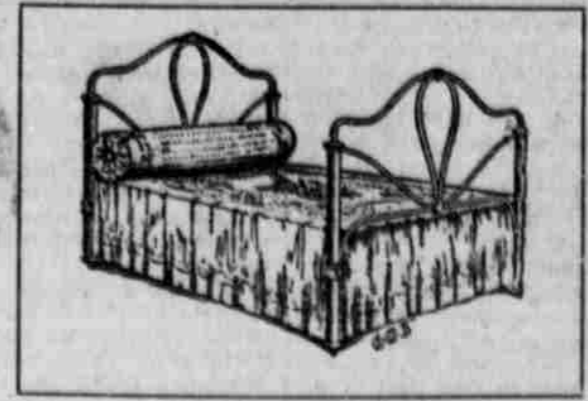

NEWS FROM HERE.

THERE AND EVERYWHERE
Haskell has resigned from the position of treasurer of the Democratic campaign committee. He says "to save trouble."

Roosvelt has refused the petition of the W. C. T. U. to stop Sunday baseball among the soldiers in the army. He states it is a good health game.

The most sanguine hopes of those interested in seeing the University of Oregon ascend to the top of college institutions on the coast, and who expect to see 500 enrolled for the present term are not to be disappointed, as the role on the second day totaled 437.

HAVE YOU EVER SEEN OUR CHILLLESS METAL BEDS. THEY ARE ABSOLUTELY THE MOST MODERN, AND THE PRICE WOULDN'T FRIGHTEN A CHURCH MOUSE.

CONFERENCE

questions of a number of prominent Methodists, who are going to send their children to Salem as a result of his appeal. R. A. Booth was elected president and Andrew Lee secretary for the ensuing year. It was decided to raise $2500 for benevolence, and the lay conference adjourned, after naming a number of committee.

Aged Church Builder.

Rev. G. P. Bennett, of Arleta, is an octogenarian, who has put up three churches in Portland the past year. His brother formerly lived at Mehama. He is a man of broad views and great business ability.

One Man Disabled.

Rev. A. J. Armstrong, pastor at Lakeview for some time, has suffered from an affection of the throat, and retired temporarily. He resided at Cottage Grove, and has a wonderful collection of photos of the pinnacles in Sand Creek canyon.

Bishop Hughes on Ministers and Business.

"God does not ask more than he did of old. If every one would like as they should there would be no lack of funds. Do not dabble in outside enterprises to the detriment of your preaching ability. Preachers are supposed to preach the gospel and nothing else. They are not supposed to be engaged in farming, insurance, dealing in mining stocks, and other things on the side. Jesus Christ said to his missionaries 'take no purse or scrip.' Business interests ought never to interfere with the ministry. What the Oregon conference needs most is a spirit of optimism."

R. A. Booth on Willamette University.

"Willamette University is the one institution around which the Oregon conference must rally. If it is not supported as it should be it will reflect on us as long as we live. It must have the support of all. One hundred thousand dollars has been raised as an endowment for Willamette. This sum will serve notice on all the country that Willamette university is going to survive, but it will take an endowment of $500,000 to make it effective in competition with other schools of the state. One way to do this was to educate men in giving. Honest thieving is a co-partner with God."

Adjournment Monday.

The conference decided today to adjourn Monday in time for Bishop Hughes to leave south for California Monday night. A motion was made to hold a session Monday night at 7:30, but it was tabled. It was then voted to hold an afternoon session at 2 o'clock.

Henny Interdenominational Incident.

Bishop Bell, of the United Brethren church, was introduced and made a very heavy speech that captured the audience. He is a man of impressive presence.

In response Bishop Hughes said he had never met Bishop Bell until this moment, but he had sized him up carefully, and felt he did not want any needless competition with him. He felt a strong desire to co-operate peacefully with a man in his life. (Laughter). He prayed that God would, in his own way and in his own time, bring the sons of Wesley under one banner. (Applause).

Wanted to Show the Town.

Rev. Solleck made an effort at the morning session to have as large a number as possible visit Lee Mission cemetery and see some of the state institutions. There was a notable lack of program to entertain these visitors by the people of this city.

No effort was made to show the visitors the beauties of the Capital City. If the conference had met at Portland or Eugene, there would have been more done in the way of showing off the attractions of the Capital City. It was an oversight not to have given the whole conference a trolley ride.

Conference Notes.

T. L. McDaniel, of Portland, is one of the big factors of the laymen's work in Oregon. He is a Portland business man who gives half his time to religious work.

The District Problem.

One of the first actions of the conference today was to place the whole question of number of districts in the hands of Bishop Hughes, as a supreme expression of confidence.

The question of the headship of the church residing in the person of the bishop was delicately referred to by several and brought out a happy rejoinder from Hughes. He said the headship of the church in the bishop was a good deal like the headship of a family residing in the husband. It worked all right until he began to assert it a little too strenuously, and then trouble began. (Laughter).

his name was really Colonel. (Laughter).

"Colonel Pogue is from the South," said the district superintendent. This was one on the bishop, who smiled a broad smile.

His address set up new standards for the ministry of Oregon. Bishop Hughes is a native of West Virginia, but is only 35 years old, and is a man of college training and great culture.

Some of His Sharp Points.

"You have no right to be a sough or for not being clean, personally. Bathe frequently. Brush your clothes. Black your shoes. Dress neatly and gentlemanly for Christ's sake."

"Keep sweet, anyhow. Never lose your smile." "Childhood is the natural field of the church."

"Please don't try to show that you have been made perfect in love by finding fault with everybody else."

"Cut out affectation and all notes of unbelief, unless you would have the first business man who hears you set you down as a fraud."

"Be a man, a first-class human being at his best."

"People in this age have a right to expect that when a Methodist preacher comes to town that he shall be a gentleman in the social sense of the term."

"Don't allow your sensitiveness to criticism to close the door to success."

"Use your own voice, instead of some other fellow's."

"You were men before you were ministers, and for God's sake keep your manhood, your humanity, your individuality."

"Every man ought to have his own gospel with the touch and color of his personality to it."

"Holiness is an intense desire not to have your own way."

"We should not be set apart as something peculiar, as Sidney Smith said there were three sexes, men, women and preachers. Manhood is the best asset in this world for a preacher. Be tremendously and wholesomely human."

"When a man is dead in love with humanity he loves to be with humanity. It is only love that is sacrificial."

"A minister should never be made an errand boy for a church fair."

Ye Liberty

I have scouted the town again. I have scored a victory that will open your eyes. You might just as well get in the habit of going to Ye Liberty to see the best of everything in the animated picture line. Last week I gave you the great Marathon race picture, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. I am going to show you two of the greatest animated pictures ever produced, the great Olympic games and the play that has created a sensation unequalled by any production, "The Devil." You cannot afford to miss seeing these two great pictures. I am going to give you the best that money can buy. I do not care anything about dividends, I want to make Ye Liberty the most popular and the most attractive play house in this city, and I am going to do it. If you see the best, you have got to see it at Ye Liberty. I made the motto: "A dollar show for a dime," and I am going to make that motto good.
