SMILES.

If no end of books make our children smart, this will be the wisest generation of all, so far as the public schools are concerned.

* * *

Let us be thankful that our beautiful Indian summer weather continues.

* * *

Harriman and Rockefeller have both been in Salem, and how much richer are you in your pocketbook for their having been here?

* * *

Oh, yes, all we need to carry Oregon for Bryan is to have a few speeches from Beveridge.

* * *

So old man Kern had a pass from the Big Four railroads. Well, Bryan had to get some old rich nobody to run on the ticket with him, and hit upon about the only railroad lawyer in the bunch.

* * *

The "mush-mellons" hold out well

* * *

It is now explained that Brer Selleck is only here temporarily. Well, if the Methodists can stand him the rest of the people ought not to kick.

* * *

Two men who made good with the whole conference and the public—the bishop and President Homan.

* * *

The paving company is a little slow and never goes to work until it is good and ready, but then it does a good job.

* * *

Why should the rich property owners who have the lands along the proposed state fair boulevard, and hold them for speculation, have a street built for them with convict labor any more than people in any other part of town.

* * *

Oh, yes; fight the direct primary, and the direct election of senators, and everything the people have voted for in Oregon, and tuck this state away safely in the Democratic column.

* * *

The Methodists were wise in starting a movement to boost the Sunday schools. That is where the life of the future church of any denomination is coming from.

"Halcyon Martin," with Boston Minstrel Maids.

The Minstrel Maids.

When the Minstrel Maids appear at the Grand opera house tonight theatre-goers will have a chance to see the cleverst girl artists on the American stage. The company is under the Famous Juvenile Bostonian management, which alone is a guarantee that it is something out of the ordinary. The company is composed of young ladies who can sing, dance and amuse. You can go to this performance (if your soul yearns for novelty) with the assurance that the muscles of your chuckling machine will get good exercise. The performance opens up with a grand minstrel first part, introducing Miss Jacque Casad, the famous baton twirler, followed by a musical comedy. A show for ladies, gentlemen and children, strictly moral, clean and up to the minute.

Unfortunately the Country Club harness meet at Portland, unlike the state fair at Salem, was not a success because of the small attendance. To guard against a repetition, season tickets are being sold for next year's meet. Already $1885 have been realized in this way.

Henry Seaton, or "Sailor Tom," as he is called, claiming to hail from Hereford, England, and walking around the world to his native home from New York, was in Salem last night. He gave exhibitions at some of the saloons as a club swinger, claiming that was the only place he could get any help on his strange adventure. He was five months and six days getting from New York to Everett, Wash., and had stamps from all the postoffices on the way to show he had made the trip. He will go to 'Frisco and cross to Australia, and walk around the world that way.

COURT HOUSE NEWS

Walter G. Muelhaupt wishes to make the following statement, as to the lawsuit over the piano:

The facts are as follows: When my sister, Lydia, became insane and could no longer take charge of her house, the furniture had to be packed, and Mr. Adams told my brother, Oscar, that Lydia wanted Frieda to have the piano, and asked him to ship it to Frieda, which he did, at his own expense, some time last spring, I think in April; but in the course of human events, the minds of men change.

Since we do not wish to quarrel over any article bought by our unfortunate sister at the cost of her strength and reason, we have ordered the sheriff to turn the piano over to Mr. Adams.

Said a Business Man: "Keep hammering away everlastingly on thorough work. It will win out in the end." Said an Educator: "The quality of instruction given in your school makes it the standard of its kind in the Northwest."

Open all the year. Students admitted at any time. Catalogue free.
