GOOD SHOWS ARE COMING TO SALEM

LOTS OF FUN IN "THE ROYAL CHEF"

If one-half the good things said of "The Royal Chef" by both critics and playgoers of other cities be true, the theatergoers of Salem are in for a theatrical treat on Monday at the Grand, one not only out of the ordinary but which will doubtless prove a real loss to miss seeing and hearing. The music by Ben M. Jerome, it is asserted, is practicularly charming, while the story and lyrics of

Wm. H. Conley, "Royal Chef."

Chas. S. Taylor and Geo. Stoddard, is vivacious and brilliant, overflowing with rich, intelligent humor and hitherto untouched ideas that it is claimed, never for a single moment veers to monotony, either in color or style. The presenting company is declared delightful, being composed of fine singers, great dancers and comedians capable of amusing and exhilarating effects. It is claimed that beside the many entertaining features of the "Chef" its entire tone is elevating, which is much to be desired after the hideous doggerel and imbecility of a lot of so-called musical comedy triumps, which have gone before. William H. Conley, easily the most interesting of a fine company will appear in his original character of the "Royal Chef," his portrayal of "Heinrich Lemphauser" being one of the most finished character creations introduced to the stage in many a day. Mr. Conley is described as an inventive comedian, keen and energetic and his complete mastery of the rather difficult and laughable mixture of broken English and German dialect is admirable. Almost equally important is the fact that he has a fine singing voice and renders his numbers in a manner exhibiting cultivation. The feminine portion is composed of attractive young singers and dancers. The original "broilers," consisting of sixteen young girls of exact size and weight, each one a dancing expert, is a component part of the "Chef." Our playgoers who enjoy smart, snappy, wit, sweet vacuous melodies and catchy song hits must not overlook the forthcoming engagement of the "Royal Chef."

FOLK IN "THE MAN OF THE HOUR"

"The Man of the Hour" the play by George Broadhurst which is to be acted here next Wednesday night, in the Grand opera house by William A. Brady and Joseph R. Grismer's special company, is unique in one respect. This is that every character in it is describable without the use of the character name. This would seem to indicate what has all along been claimed for this good and unusual play—that the author drew his types from the life around him. What other play of real note and with an uncommon record of successes in the big cities of the country can be pointed to as containing dramatic personages who may be talked of in this wise?

The hero is always spoken of as the mayor; his chief opponent as the boss; his man chum as the idler; his sweetheart as the heiress; the chum's fiancee as the stenographer; his political ally as the alderman; the ally of the boss as the financier; the financier's allay as the broker; the official "pull" of the scoundrels as the judge; the mother is the reference to one of the good women of the play; and the easy mark is the manner in which a weak and uncertain young business man is spoken of because he wavers and oscillates between the temptation to do evil and his natural inclination to be good. And, if anybody be asked as to another character, and one of importance in the unfolding of the thrilling plot of intrigue and love, heor she will reply: "O! you mean the secretary."

Wm. Lamp and Ruby Bridges, in "The Man of the Hour." Grand Opera House Wednesday Night, October 7th.

All these sound, true, recognizable American types will be seen in the Grand opera house on October 7, next Wednesday. the mayor, the idler, the boss, the alderman, the financier, the broker, the secretary, the easy mark, the herless, the senographer, and the mother. Seats will be ready on sale next Wednesday, 9 a. m.

SUMMONS OF AEON BROUGHT TO FIJI ISLANDS

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Suva, Fiji Islands, Oct. 1.—The Canadian-Australian liner Manuka has arrived here with the crew and passengers of the wrecked steamer Aeon, which went ashore on Christmas Island July 18, and will soon leave for Auckland.

There was one more in the party that reached here than there was in the party that left San Francisco on the Aeon several months ago. A little waif was added to the family of Chaplain Patrick the night before the party was rescued by the Manuka.

None of the party seems to be the worse for the stay on Christmas Island. They are all loud in their praises of Captain Downie and his three officers, who sailed to Fanning Island in a lifeboat, and carried the news of the wreck that summoned the Manuka to the aid of the wrecked passengers.

Captain Downie and his officers reached Fanning Island with no water and few provisions, after a terribly hard trip.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an east bound O. R. & N. R. R. train from Pendleton to La Grande, Or., writes Sam A. Garber, a well known traveling man. 'I was in the smoking department with some other treving men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, "There is a woman sick unto death in the car. I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic; her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and while a deathlike look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in 20 minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into La Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into La Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." NEW YORK TO HAVANA BY RAIL

From time to time there have been rumors, doubtless not wholly without foundaton, that the Florida East Coast Railway will arrange to operate a ferry from Key West to Havana, upon which railway cars will be transferred bodily, and conveyed on Cuban railways to various points in Cuba.

The distance across the strait is less than 100 miles, and there is nothing in the proposition that is not entirely practicable from an engineering point of view. The effect of refrigerator car service both ways between Chicago and New York on the one hand and the interior of Cuba on the other at all seasons of the year can be imagined; and it would be interesting for the northern farmer to ship fresh vegetables to Cuba in the summer time, and to eat fresh vegetables from Cuba in the winter; but to depart less from the probabilities of the next few years, such car service if established now would be able to carry certain fruits and vegetables through at a profit from the south to the north, and doubtless carry beef the other way.

The freight business between the interior of the United States and the interior of Cuba, of which there is a large amount, will tend to go all the way by rail as soon as such a transfer is possible. It is difficult to see how water transportation can compete with a rail haul of this kind, even for such products as sugar, when the point of destination is in the interior of the country.—William Mayo Venable, in Engineering Magazine.

The real joy of the grand parents lies in the reflections that they don't have to discipline the youngsters, no matter how breachy they get.

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia) bowels (as mucous diarrhea), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections, it is often successful in affecting cures.

The "Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases—those peculiar weaknesses, derangements and irregularities incident to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nervine. For weak worn out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulæ of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Doctor Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition any secret nostrum.
