RIDDLES FAITHLESS HUSBAND

YOUNG GIRL SHOOT FIVE TIMES

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Franklin, La., Oct. 3.—Shot five times by his 19-year-old bride, while he was sitting at the desk today, A. Sydney Bouterie, editor of the "New Era," of Patterson, near here, is dying in a local sanatorium. His bride, Jesse Bouterie, a beautiful young girl, is held in jail. She admits the shooting, and says that her husband refused to live with her.
The shooting caused a big sensation here, as both the young people are well known and of good family connection. The young girl walked into her husband's office today and fired point blank at him while he was at work.
She emptied the revolver into his prostrate body after he had fallen from the chair, and then calmly allowed herself to be arrested.
Joe Stansbury, John Glina and Roland Vitter, three young men of the town, accompanied Mrs. Bouterie to the office of the New Era, and have been arrested as accessories to the crime.
The shooting was the outcome of the marriage of the couple last Wednesday night. It is alleged that Bouterie was forced to marry the girl at the point of a gun in the hands of her father, and that the wedding took place at midnight.

WOODBURN BURGLARS MAKE HAUL

The Steelhammer & Scott flouring mill office in Woodburn was broken into last evening by some unknown party and $70.00 in money and several valuable papers were stolen. The burglars first broke into the Moshberger blacksmith shop and procured the necessary tools with which to gain entrance to the office, after doing which they broke the combination from the big safe with a sledge hammer and pried the doors open with crowbars. Steelhammer is well known in this city, having been a resident here for a number of years, and also having relatives here. Robert Scott, who is mayor of Woodburn, appointed a night watchman a few days ago for the purpose of protecting the Woodburn population from sneak thieves, but this precaution did not seem to have rendered his own property very secure.

SPOKANE GETS NEXT IRRIGATION CONGRESS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 3.—Spokane, Wash., was chosen as the next meeting place of the National Irrigation Congress at today's session, and the congress adjourned until next year. The following officers, who were elected yesterday, were installed today:
George L. Barstow, Texas, president; H. D. Loveland, San Francisco, vice-president; I. D. O'Donnell, Montana, second vice-president; E. A. Fowler, Arizona, secretary; E. McQueen Gray, New Mexico, foreign secretary.
Today's session was enthusiastic and no reference was made to the forestry fight that ended yesterday in the adoption of resolutions favoring the policy of Chief Forester Pinchot, but asking for a court of review of the actions of the forestry department.

TUBERCULOSIS CONGRESS NEXT MEETS IN ROME

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—The International Tuberculosis Congress, which held its final session here today, decided to meet in Rome, Italy, in 1911. President Roosevelt delivered a short address to the congress just before it adjourned. He complimented the delegates on the work being done for the advancement of science, and emphasized the importance of the war against the great white plague.
Has any one the courage now to assert that the low prices for farm products in the nineties were due to "over-production?"

SKINNER

lived in Oregon for 46 years and Pacific coast for 50 years. He earned distinction in many ways since he came to the Pacific coast, not the least among which is that of having set up the first telegraph post for the Western Union Telegraph company in Oregon. This historical occasion occurred in 1862 on the corner of First and Stark streets in front of Ladd & Tilton's store. After this, Mr. Skinner helped out the telegraph company's system through the state to the California line.
Mr. Skinner was born at Mt. Loraine county, Ohio, in 1836, at the age of 18 went to Chicago where he clerked and worked as a telegraph operator for four years. He went to California in 1854, and in the "golden state," he came to Oregon, where he has lived ever since and he states about Salem have lived 72 years, and you stake your life on it if an old man's word is worth anything there's a better place to live on God's green earth than Salem.

INSECTS

Mr. Skinner is to receive a reward from the railroad for his faithful service, there not having been a complaint worth mentioning against him during his long employment. He worked a year as agent at Hamburg before coming to Salem.

Salemites to Hear Beveridge—Arrangements are being made for the engaging of a special train to carry 150 Salemites to Portland next Tuesday night to hear Senator Beveridge speak.

A Smart Baby—Jack Smart, the good natured superintendent of the General Contracting Company here, is now the happiest father in Salem of a 9-pound baby girl, which arrived this morning at 5 o'clock. Both baby and mother are doing excellent. It has been reported that the street naming was discontinued today in honor of Mr. Smart's good fortune. Cigars? "Yes, Mr. Smart; don't care if we do."

Postponed "4:30 Club"—The "4:30 o'clock Afternoon Club" have postponed their today's meeting, and are making it a "9 o'clock Evening Club," in anticipation of a visit tonight from Portland by Jack Burke, a former member.

Transfer Remains—The body of Fred Lockley, Sr., was this morning buried in the family plot in City View cemetery. The remains were brought here from Missoula, Mont.

Dairy Expert to Speak—F. H. Scribner, the Wisconsin dairy expert, who acted as one of the judges at the state fair, will return to Salem in about two weeks and make an address on dairying. Lectures will be given by Scribner throughout this valley, but the one here is especially for the benefit of Polk and Marion county dairymen.

Pleads Guilty—James Lowery, who stole the bicycle from in front of the Willamette hotel a couple of weeks ago, and was subsequently captured in Portland and brought back, pleaded guilty yesterday before Police Judge Moores, and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. He pleaded for leniency on the ground that he had stolen the bicycle in order to obtain work.

Divorces Granted—Judge Galloway granted the following divorces last evening: Susan Nadrau from Adolph Nadrau, Mary A. Conner from Benjamin Conner and Myrtle M. Thompson from Carl P. Thompson, all on the grounds of cruelty, and in the Thompson case because of neglect, as well.

Kemano Funeral—The funeral of the late William Kemano was held this afternoon about 2 o'clock from the family residence in Yew Park, funeral being made in City View cemetery.

Had Friends Here—E. W. Swafford, of Oregon City, well known here, passed away at his home yesterday at the age of 89 years. He has a large number of friends in Salem, having made his home here at one time for several years. He leaves two sons, E. J. Swafford, of Salem, and J. L. Swafford, of Oregon City. His wife died in 1889. The old gentleman was one of the pioneers of Clackamas county, having "crossed the plains" in the year 1832 and settled at Oregon City, where he has always kept his residence. He is the last of the old pioneer members of the Methodist church in that place, he having been connected with that denomination since his boyhood.

Disagrees With Mayor—Alderman Radcliffe does not agree with Mayor Rodgers that the old Twelfth street car line is a better advertisement for the city than the Yew Park line, which is now being used. Radcliffe states that he believes there is scarcely any part of Salem more beautiful than the Yew Park district, and that if there is, it is not that part along which the Twelfth street line runs. This latter line, the alderman says, can only offer a view, on Twelfth street, of a number of billboards and a cannery factory. Radcliffe also believes the Yew Park line should be extended to the city limits.

Suit to Quiet Title—George Vinton, 84 years of age, has brought suit in the circuit court to quiet title on a piece of property lying on the east end of Lake Labish, north of this city, and on which people have lived for over 50 years without a clear title. Attorney Frank Holmes has appeared for the plaintiff.

California Sweets—15 pounds, 25c. W. A. Irvin.

Fight Over Pigs—M. Christenson has filed a complaint in department No. 1 of the circuit court against D. Morgan, Fred Voget and Garfield Voget. The complaint charges the defendants with taking possession of a number of pigs belonging to Christenson without permission, and demands the return of same and $40 damages. Attorney Holmes appears for the plaintiff.

We Have—The Merced Sweets, 12 pounds, 25 cents. W. A. Irvin.

To Arrest Sign Violators—Chief of Police Gibson was busy today looking over the signs in the city, as was ordered by the mayor last evening, and found nine of them erected in violation of the city ordinance. The city attorney is drawing up the warrants for the arrest of the delinquent advertisers, and arrests will probably be made tomorrow. The main complaint reported by the chief was the violation of that section of the sign ordinance which calls for all signs to be illuminated with at least two 8-candle power lights to every square foot of the area of the sign. Several bicycle racks were also reported out of order, having signs built upon them.
