AWAKENING TO NEED OF FOREST PRESERVATION

"In the last ten years," says the Yearbook of the department of agriculture for 1907, "forestry has advanced in this country from an almost unknown science to a useful profession. In that time the number of technically trained foresters has increased from less than a dozen to over 400. Ten years ago there was not a single forest school in the country; now there are several professional forest schools which rank with those of Europe, and a score more with courses in elementary forestry whose usefulness is steadily growing. Forest lands under management have grown from one or two tracts to many, aggregating 7,503,000 acres, scattered through 39 states. The national forests have increased from 39,000,000 acres, practically unused and unprotected, to 165,000,000 acres, used, guarded, and improved both in productivity and accessibility. The number of states which have state forests has increased from 1 to 10; and of those which employ trained foresters from none to 11. The membership of forest associations has increased from 3600 to 15,800. Ten years ago, except for a few of the foremost botanists, European foresters knew more about American forests than did the people of this country. In Europe they were then using preservatives to prolong the life of beech trees, and so adding from 20 to 40 years to their life. Here, on the other hand, scarcely a treated tree had been laid, though there are now 60 treating plants, 27 of which treat ties exclusively, and an engineer who recently returned from Europe reports that both in size and mechanical perfection the treating equipment of this country is ahead of any to be found abroad.

"And yet American forestry has only safely passed the experimental stage and got ready to do something. Action, immediate and vigorous, must be taken if the inevitable famine of wood supplies is to be lessened. We are now using as much wood in a single year as grows in three, with 20 years' supply in virgin growth in sight. Only the application of forest knowledge with wisdom, method, and energy in the next ten years can prevent the starving of national industries for lack of wood.

"California tanbark oak, hitherto considered of principal value for the tannin in its bark, has been found through timber tests to be suitable for cooperage and wagon manufacture. In strength it compares favorably with eastern oaks and hickory. Eucalyptus planting has been given much attention in California. The interior of one of the largest buildings in Los Angeles was finished in eucalyptus imported from Australia at $250 a thousand board feet. This tree grows very rapidly, and is especially adapted to that region. Four companies have been formed which will plant in the aggregate several thousand acres with eucalyptus. It is with this tree that the Santa Fe railway is planting 8650 acres near San Diego to test its suitability for the production of ties.

"Prominent among the projects carried forward by the state forester of California was the publication of a comprehensive bulletin on the commercial production of eucalyptus. Preservative treatments of cedar, pine, and fir ties and poles, conducted in co-operation with the forest service at Los Angeles, showed that a 40-foot pole, worth $7.50, can be preserved with creosote at a cost of $2 so as to secure additional service worth several times the additional cost. The state fire patrol was materially strengthened.

"Hawaii, early to take up forestry, conducts systematic, practical work under two main heads—the maintenance of protection forests on important watersheds, and the planting of waste and barren areas with useful trees. Lectures are given by the superintendent of forestry before the students of the college of agriculture. An examination was made during 1907 of the forest back of Hilo, Hawaii, which it was found necessary to preserve as a protection to a watershed. It has been demonstrated that rubber grows well in Hawaii, and a large area will be planted with rubber trees, which afford a good forest protection to the land. A Hawaiian corporation has agreed to furnish an American railroad with 500,000 ohia ties yearly for the next five years.

"The progress of forest work in Washington for the past year is especially marked by increased activity on the part of the state and owners of timberlands to protect the timber from fire; the inauguration of forest instruction at the university and at the agricultural college at Pullman; and the better appreciation by the people of the national forest policy. The work of the deputy fire wardens in the several counties of the state entirely prevented destructive timber fires. About one hundred forest rangers were appointed, usually at the request of mill men and timberland owners by whom they were employed. At a meeting of prominent lumbermen in Seattle a ranger service was organized for the fire season of 1908. This organization represents some 4,000,000 acres of timberland, and it is the plan to assess holdings at the rate of 1 cent an acre for fire protection. Other timber holders of the state are doing something in the same line. One company, for example, has a force of men in the field which is as effective as the state force.

be sent by telephone, and the roads, trails, and bridges make it possible to obtain help promptly.

"The regulation of the range by the government has proved a decided success. No longer hustled from one place to another in competition for insufficient feed, stock is now brought through to the end of the summer in better flesh and with fewer losses than formerly. During 1907 improvement of the range by protection was supplemented by experimental investigation to determine how the amount of forage can be increased; how plants of little value can be replaced by others more useful; how poisonous plants can be got rid of or their effect upon stock counteracted by treatment; and to plan a system of handling stock that will result in the most economic utilization of the forage crop.

"Experiments in seeding portions of the range with cultivated grasses were begun, and careful detailed study was made of typical range areas to learn under what conditions the best native grasses propagate successfully. An experimental pasture was constructed where the action of sheep under various systems of handling could be investigated, and the effect of each system upon the forage crop ascertained.

"The article, from which the above are excerpts, gives a brief summary of recent achievements in forestry in the United States, a list of forests laws passed in 1907, and directory of state forest laws, forest associations, and forest schools. It has been printed as a separate, and can be had free upon application to the Forester, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Another Shift by Bryan.

Only a few months ago, speaking in Carnegie hall, before the Forum, William J. Bryan denounced the Stock Exchange as a "Fagin's den of thieves" and described Wall street as "a gambling hell" in comparison with which Monte Carlo was insignificant.

Yet Friday night in the same hall in a political campaign in which he is anxious to get the votes of the conservative business element of the east, just as in his speeches in the west he appeals to the radicalism of that section, Mr. Bryan said:

"We are not even opposed to the exchange or the stock market."

"When does Mr. Bryan speak his true mind?"—Wall Street Journal.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an east bound O. R. & N. R. R. train from Pendleton to La Grande, Or., writes Sam A. Garber, a well known traveling man. 'I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, "There is a woman sick unto death in the car. I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic; her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and while a deathlike look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in 20 minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into La Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into La Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deep-seated and so insidious. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Factors of Safety

The human body is a wonderful machine, provided with muscular, nervous and mental energy far in excess of normal needs. In health, the organs and tissues can do double their usual amount of work without strain or friction, because they have stored energy to meet the extra demand.

When you feel "all tuckered out," these factors of safety are nearly exhausted and you need to resort to to renew the supply of energy, wherever it may be called for. Indigestion, bilious attacks, constipation, loss of sleep, nervousness, dizzy spells, and warnings that the factor of safety in the stomach, liver, bowels or brain, is low, or nearing the danger point and needs to be replenished.

Beecham's Pills increase the supply of blood, strengthen the stomach, operate the bowels, feed the nerve cells, build tissue, and create a reserve supply of energy, which is the only natural and effective way to
