

A CHARMING YOUNG MOTHER SAYS:

"I
Want
To Recommend
Pe-ru-na
To Mothers."

MRS. E. W. BROOKS.

Weak, Exhausted, Pe-ru-na Gave New Life.

Mrs. E. W. Brooks, 5415 S. Steele St., South Tacoma, Wash., writes: "I want to recommend Peruna to mothers. When my little girl came, I felt very weak and exhausted, and it seemed that I could not regain my strength. "My mother bought me a bottle of Peruna, after I had tried several other much advertised remedies without relief. I had little faith, as I was very weak, but within a week after I had commenced taking Peruna I was like a different woman. "New life and vitality seemed to come each day until in a few weeks I was in fine health and a happy woman. Thanks to your splendid medicine, I have enjoyed good health for several years. I always keep Peruna on hand, as a few doses will set me right when I am feeling badly."

Catarrh of Ears.

Mrs. G. W. Hoard, Hempstead, Texas, writes in regard to her son Carl: "My son's ears had been affected since he was a baby. He seemed to have rings in his head. He would be very fretful for several days, then his ears would run profusely what appeared to be corruption. "The last year I thought he had almost lost his hearing and had a local physician treating him for about six weeks. He pronounced him well and for a few weeks he was not troubled, but since that time the discharge from his ears was almost constant and very offensive. "Finally I began giving him Peruna and Lacupia, and after he had taken two bottles of the Lacupia he was entirely cured. "I cannot praise Lacupia and Peruna enough."

LONDONERS BEGINNING TO TRAVEL HEAVY
Londoners have begun to "travel heavy," as war correspondents say. The most remarkable feature of the holiday season is the vast and increasing quantity of luggage they carry. There was a time when a carpet bag and a brown paper parcel sufficed for the needs of an entire family on the occasion of the annual holiday.

Now every member of the party has his own trunk and traveling bag. Four-wheelers and railway omnibuses groan under the weight of the baggage they take to the station—the trunks, the bags, the bicycles, the perambulator, the cot and the baby's bath. The habit has come from America. When the American travels he carries his house with him, like the snail. His trunk is like a wardrobe, furnished with drawers and hooks and presses, so that his clothes will always be handy and nice. His hat box has the cubic area of an office desk. If he is given to sport he takes his implements with him half way round the world. When he gets to the custom house he assumes an eligible central situation in the middle of his own baggage, which provides enough protection to resist a cavalry charge. Unfortunately, he says, it does not save him from charges of another kind. The "sea-side stations" of London present a marvelous sight at this time of year. Luggage pours in from morning till night, tons and mountains of it, containing, it would seem, enough clothing and toilet requisites to supply the German army for a winter campaign. There are about three baggage vans to each long-distance train; and the guard maintains a perilous position on the top of it. The overflow goes into the cloak room, and the overflow from that into spacious underground vaults. The new Victoria station has the most convenient baggage room in London. Even there, if the parcel is not wanted for three days, it has to be taken down to the sarcophagus to make room for more urgent demands. —London Mail.

A WOMAN'S BACK

The Aches and Pains Will Disappear if the Advice of This Salem Citizen Is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains. Most times 'tis the kidneys' fault. Backache is really kidney ache; That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it. Many Salem women know this. Read what one has to say about it:

Mrs. R. Schreiber, of 560 High St., Salem, Or., says: "The good reports I had heard concerning Doan's Kidney Pills induced me to procure a supply. I had been suffering from incessant backache which not only troubled me through the day but broke my rest at night. I began to feel the effects of Doan's Kidney Pills after I had taken a few doses. Relief speedily came and then an absolute cure. There has been no sign of the backache nor any other symptoms since. I am only too pleased to let others know of such a valuable and effective remedy."

JAPAN PLANS GREAT WELCOME FOR ARRIVAL OF THE BIG FLEET

Tokio, Oct. 7.—As the American battleship fleet nears these shores Japan is perfecting her official and civic plans for a welcome that will surpass any since the recent war. Officially, the American warships will be welcomed several hundred miles off the coast by the imperial fleet of 29 ships designated as the "Welcome squadron." These vessels are now at Yokohama awaiting the word to weigh anchor. The citizens reception committee has received a communication from the postal department that in honor of the visit a special series of postal cards will be adopted for circulation. The individual civic preparations include free transportation on the tramways to Hiblya Park, the central recreation ground for the citizens of Tokio. Amateur and professional companies of actors are preparing performances illustrating the ancient civilization of Nippon. At Yokohama the school children are being drilled by musicians and will board a float to greet the fleet with a great chorus singing.

Machine is to carry two persons, one of whom is to be an observer, of an average weight of 175 pounds each, and a sufficient supply of fuel, at the start, for a flight of 200 miles, for a period of four hours at an average speed of not less than 40 miles an hour, and to remain continuously in the air without coming to the earth during the trial. They are to be constructed so as to be able to alight without damage on land or water. To float on the latter, when at rest, without getting any of the air supporting or controlling areas wet, and to be able to ride therefrom without appreciable delay under own power, without the aid of special starting apparatus.

Bidders must guarantee the delivery at the navel academy at Annapolis of at least one machine within five months after signing the contract, the remaining three in eight months. Thirty days are to be allowed for maker's trial, adjustments and official trials. After the trials of the first machines the operator is to teach two persons designated by the navy department to manipulate them to the satisfaction of the bureau's representative.

By Rail to Mecca.

For the first time during his checkered and blood stained career, the Turkish sultan, Abdul Hamid, is now playing a truly noble part on the conspicuous stage of the world's theater.

He has wrought one of the most dazzling yet useful miracles of modern times, and wrought it modestly, perseveringly, brilliantly. His work is akin to creation—unlike anything he ever before performed. Almost out of nothing, he has constructed a railway 600 miles long thrown it across the sandy desert, and linked Damascus with Medina, on the route to Mecca, surmounting overwhelming difficulties on the way, warding off dangers, and achieving success in the shortest possible space of time.

Ten years ago experienced and shrewd observers laughed the idea to scorn. A railway to Mecca, forsooth! For whose behoof, at whose expense? Mere cloud-castles—a fitting occupation for an indolent Oriental lounging in his harem, or languidly watching the curling cloudlets rise from his chibouk and vanish into thin air.

That was only ten years ago. But on September 1, 1908, the sultan's "idle dream" had become a hard reality, one of the greatest engineering achievements of today, one of the important factors in Oriental politics. Now the Parisian boulevardier can set out on his journey of vulgar curiosity at the Gare de l'Est and quit the railway carriage in the very heart of the Hedjaz, of the isthmus which is the center of three continents, the cradle of three religions, those of Jehovah, Christ and Mohammed. Truly a rare triumph in the Turkey of today!

The resourceful old sovereign who has scored it, after having long lived on a high pedestal, unpleasantly suggestive of the stock, may yet have a statue, when dead, to commemorate a reign in which he has made a deep dent in human history. It is interesting to note, in passing, that the original scheme, and largely, too, its execution, may be rightfully claimed by the redoubtable king of spies and weaver of plots, Izzet.

If great men undertake great things because they are great, and fools because they seem easy, in which category should one include Izzet, the trapper of men? The truth would seem to be that our most careful estimates of our contemporaries are sadly inadequate; there are sworn valuers for everything but men.—London Telegraph.

Why not employ the initiative and change the city government to the one board plan. Three or five men, paid for their work, would run the city much better than 15 or 20, who work for nothing, under a divided authority. Simplify and publish the charter, and give the people a voice in public affairs.

This stinging cordwood on the beautifully paved streets is a little musty. Why make the Capital City look like a suburban wood yard?

POLICE BACKED ROULETTE GAMBLERS

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Oct. 7.—The protected operation of a roulette wheel in a fashionable apartment house, where Charles W. Clark, a son of former Senator W. A. Clark, of Montana, is said to have lost $20,000, is causing the investigation of the police ring by City Prosecutor Woolwine.

Information in possession of Woolwine indicates that members of the police department compelled the millionaire to pay his losses to the ring of crooked gamblers.

Clark, it is said, was induced to visit the house, and at the time had no intention of gambling. He had little money with him, and the roulette operators were forced to wait for a check to cover his losses. The story says Clark began to suspect that he was the victim of crooks, and when informed of the amount of his losses refused to pay.
