EUGENE BOOSTER CONFESSES GREAT LIKING FOR SALEM

The Saturday Booster Journal was very much appreciated. Every copy was sold out, and many have sent their papers away to friends to advertise Salem.

Next Saturday there will be another Booster edition. It will be not over 12 pages and convenient for mailing for one cent. Bring in your items of improvements, new houses and crop stores.

John Hartog Writes.
John H. Hartog, the $5000 salaried booster for the University City, has written The Capital Journal a letter about that Saturday paper, which we take pleasure in printing, as his opinion is worth something. "I received copy of your Saturday edition, and beg to say that you certainly got out a fine paper. I had already remarked this while in Salem Sunday, as I happened to find your paper at the hotel, AND READ IT THROUGH."

"I SEE YOU BLAME ME FOR THE DROUGHT. I mentioned this today at a luncheon of representative men, and some of them said that you evidently were referring to the fact that I had sent out so many glasses of water, that no rain was necessary. I note, though, SOME VERY INTERESTING 'LETTERS FROM CHILDREN,' why they like to live in Salem. In vain I have looked for the frank confession of some child, reading: 'I like to live in Salem because I have never seen Eugene.' All joking aside, you know that I AM VERY MUCH IN LOVE WITH SALEM. I come down every fortnight to see the children, and have seen a good deal of your city. The lighting up of your streets is a big improvement, and the result is shown in THE NUMBER OF PEOPLE ON THE STREETS in the evening as compared with the very few who used to be out before your started illuminating."

DIED IN PENNSYLVANIA—

BURIAL AT ALBANY
Mrs. Dana Burmeister died yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rev. C. R. Stevenson, in Vandergrift, Penn., of heart trouble and kidney complaint.

Rev. and Mrs. Stevenson and daughter left this morning with the remains for Albany, a request before her death being that her burial be at this city.

She was born in Iowa August 12, 1845, and crossed the plains with her folks in 1865, settling in Albany where she afterwards spent most of the remainder of her life, several years ago going with her daughter to Vandergrift. She was a member of the United Presbyterian church, a noble Christian woman, beloved by all knowing her. News of her death was received here yesterday with extreme sorrow. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Stewart, brother, George Humphrey, of Portland, and other relatives, as well as many friends, who sincerely mourn her death.

It is thought the funeral will be on Friday, but the announcement will be made when the time is known.

For Chronic Diarrhoea.
"While in the army in 1862 I was taken with chronic diarrhoea," says George M. Felton of South Gibson, Pa. "I have since tried many remedies but without any permanent relief, until Mr. A. W. Miles, of this place, persuaded me to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, one bottle of which stopped it at once." For sale at Dr. Stone's drug store.

YEW PARK REPUBLICAN CLUB REORGANIZED

A very enthusiastic Republican meeting was held in the Yew Park fire house Monday night. The meeting was called to order by Geo. H. Dawson, the precinct committeeman, and Paul H. Stege acted as secretary for the evening. The chief purpose of the meeting was to re-organize the Young Men's Republican club and nominate a councilman from that end of the ward.

The officers of the new club are as follows: Emile Donaldson, president; Mr. Gamble, vice-president; Paul H. Stege, secretary and treasurer.

Great enthusiasm was shown during the evening and a number of short talks were given. C. M. Inman, Earl Pace, Mr. Hunt and others showed a hearty support for Paul H. Stege. The new organization will hold meetings every Monday evening at the Yew Park fire house and everybody is welcome to debate, especially Democrats.

The principal object of the meeting was to nominate a new councilman from that end of the ward. As a result Edward Sauter was unanimously voted for councilman of the Fourth ward.

Mr. Sauter is a staunch Republican and progressive in every way, and it will be to the interest of every property owner of that ward to support Mr. Sauter in the coming election. The meeting adjourned to meet next Monday in the Yew Park fire house. Everybody welcome.

KEEP MONEY IN OREGON.

State University Establishes School of Correspondence.

A new bulletin of the Correspondence-study department of the University of Oregon has just been received. The scope of the work has been greatly enlarged over the beginning of last year, and now covers courses in English Classics, Shakespeare, Pedagogy, Botany, History, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Analytic Geometry and several courses in mathematics for teachers.

By means of this work any student who has not time to attend college or high school, can pursue, with hardly any cost, practically the same work by correspondence through the University courses, and receive credit for it. Thousands of dollars each year are sent out of Oregon to various correspondence schools, and the University believes that a large part of this might just as well be saved to the people of this state. The enrollment of this department will reach three thousands students for the year.

Had a Close Call.

Mrs. Ada L. Croom, the widely known proprietor of the Croom hotel, Vaughn, Miss., says: "For several months I suffered with a severe cough, and consumption seemed to have its grip on me, when a friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. I began taking it, and three bottles affected a complete cure." The fame of this life saving cough and cold remedy, and lung and throat healer is world wide. Sold at J. C. Perry's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

An Important Artificial Fertilizer.

Consul W. H. H. Webster of Niagara Falls, Ontario, makes the following report on the establishment of a factory for the manufacture of cyanamide and lime nitrogen:

One of the many industries in this growing city is the manufacture of cyanamide. Hundreds of men are now employed in erecting the first permanent building, the contract for which was awarded to a firm in New York city. The structure now being erected measures 150 by 150 feet, being 66 feet in the highest part. Three other buildings will be started during the month of August, each of which will be 100 feet square.

Coke and lime are used in the manufacture of cyanamide by means of an electric furnace, the resulting compound being in turn pulverized and combined in a second electric furnace with nitrogen from the air, secured by a liquid-air process. The material thus obtained contains 20 per cent in weight of nitrogen, the balance being the coke and lime compound which serves to bind the nitrogen. This compound is calcium cyanamide or lime nitrogen, and when sown in the soil it decomposes and dissolves in contact with the soil moisture, is then absorbed through the roots of the plants and becomes a valuable constituent. Three years of actual use upon farms in Europe has proved the value of this substance in connection with the wheat, corns, oats, barley, rye, rice, tobacco and other crops. Some crops have been doubled by its use.

The present plant, which is of 5000 tons capacity, must be regarded as an introduction of this new industry. Plans are already in preparation for the establishment of a plant of 20,000 tons capacity.

The Oriental Love of Gems.

Clifford Smith may or may not ponder private jewels, but as a librarian in the Victoria and Albert Museum he has had much occasion to consider the treasures of the national jewel cases at South Kensington. He does not admit it, but jewelry has entered into his blood even as it has entered into yours and mine. Precious stones, rather than the finished ornaments or settings, command the pulses of the enthusiast, as they have inspired the pens of poets and of the Robert Louis Stevensons of all ages. At the core of how many romances are set precious stones? Whether it be the hand-borne by the sly hero of the "New Arabian Nights" across the smoked emerald grass of Kensington Gardens, or whether in the folds of Paganini and the Beautiful's robes, the ruby and its sisters and brothers and cousins outlast through the literature of fabulous adventure. And yet it is against the conscience of both romancers to be found personally engrossed with the loveliness of the jewel; each would prove, even on a fabulous page, the futility of such riches. A feeling of guiltiness creeps through the Western mind when it has much traffic with precious stones. Even duchesses have been known to pale under the burden of concentrated and hoarded wealth in pearls, and the Empress Eugenie refused a wedding gift of diamonds from the city of Paris, that the small fortune which it was proposed should be expended upon them might be devoted to the endowing of a hospital. Only the Eastern mind is perfectly content in great possessions. The Western woman puts even her earrings in Father Ignatius' collecting jar, and the American financier spends it on the stones of French libraries, which have now a little connection with jewels, since Clifford Smith's book will be found in them.—London Sketch.
