

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN COLUMN

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 21.—Passing review before thousands of people on the line of march, followed by a parade of many hundreds of marchers and speaking to more people than sound of his voice could reach, J. Bryan last night made a brief speech in Louisville for Mr. Bryan's campaign of one of the busiest of the campaign and the outpouring here equalled any and surpassed anything in the way of demonstration the candidate has had since he was notified of his nomination.

Continuous Ovation.
From the time he left New Albany, just across the Ohio river, until he spoke his final words of farewell Bryan was the recipient of a continuous ovation.

Arriving at Phoenix Hill Park Mr. Bryan was cheered for 15 minutes and it was with difficulty that the crowd could be induced to check the enthusiasm long enough to allow him to speak. He found it necessary to deliver three addresses, one to an audience that packed Phoenix Hill, another to an even larger crowd in the park outside, and a third to the paraders massed in an open space near the park. He made a short speech at two other points, one of them being an address to a delegation of railroad employees.

Stops Crush in Audience.
In beginning each of his three speeches Mr. Bryan devoted considerable attention to the welcome given him. He declared, amid frantic yells, that, that the turnout had been of charge that the Republicans were expecting to buy the election, if purchase was possible, and declared that a high tariff was a breeder of panics.

The visit to Louisville was of but three hours duration, but in that time the Democratic candidate made five speeches. The Bryan special left at 11 o'clock over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for Newark, O., where the first of a series of speeches in that state will be made early in the morning.

Ovations in Indiana.
The tour today of Mr. Bryan through Indiana was a notable one. Accustomed though he is to large crowds and lusty cheers, the demonstration accorded him today were commented upon by the candidate as being exceedingly gratifying. A such a size as to leave the Democrats no option but to make "My Old Kentucky Home" the national anthem when they assumed charge of the administration. Before he had spoken more than five minutes Mr. Bryan found it necessary to issue a witty but peremptory order to the crowd around the platform to give way, the crowd obeying just in time to prevent the possible injury of a hundred or more persons who were standing upon chairs and were endangered by throngs pressing in from the outside. A large mass of people unable to get back on the floor was swaying dangerously.

Repeats Corruption Charge.
Mr. Bryan's main address emphasized two points. He repeated his pleasing feature of the trip was the repeated call for Mrs. Bryan, who shared in the handshaking with her husband. She was overwhelmed with attention at every place where a stop was made, and was the recipient of many handsome floral pieces.

The Democratic candidate, although he had but six hours' sleep, appeared fresh and strong when he delivered his first 16 speeches of the day at Hammond at 7:30 o'clock. His voice was in splendid condition, and he commanded the strict attention of his audiences. His favorite themes today were the Democratic platform relating to labor, the guaranty of bank deposits and the publicity of campaign contributions, and he frequently aroused his hearers to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

tant to take charge of the Coos Bay recruiting station.

This was about a month ago, and he hasn't returned yet. One of his victims, while in Portland, went to the recruiting office there to inquire about Lieutenant A. B. Hinds of the United States Artillery, who was to open a recruiting station on Coos Bay, and was told that they had never heard of him. After making some more inquiries, of course he didn't confess about being "stung," he was told to have Mr. Hinds arrested in case he should run across him again.

While here Mr. Hinds wore a khaki suit but did not show any other insignia of his connection with the army, saying that he did not care to have his presence generally known and that he was a peculiarly anxious not to have anything said in the newspapers about his visit.

WANTED MONEY TO BOGUS ARMY OFFICER
(Coos Bay Times.)
There is A. B. Hinds?
This is the question that several Coos Bay people are asking each other and some of them would like to know to the extent of $25 or so. A number of Coos Bay people are determined to steer clear of individuals posing as military authorities until they have the proper credentials.

Mr. Hinds appeared here several days ago and announced that he was here by the United States Department to open a recruiting office on Coos Bay. He engaged a room to be used, and spent several days going over the county to see if there was plenty of material to recruit from. He was very genial, was a former member of military information and became intimate with a local man. He went fishing one day and dropped his pocketbook in the stream. They saw it go down, and when he told them that he had lost the ready cash he had with him, their sympathy took substantial form and some immediately loaned him money.

He took the boat for Portland, promising to be back the next day with recruiting officer and assistance.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE AT SPRINGFIELD
The Lane county fair which was to have taken place in Springfield in two weeks under the auspices of the Grange, for reasons has been decided impracticable and instead of a fair as has been previously planned and advertised, a farmers' institute will be held instead. The date set for the big event will be Friday and Saturday, October 30 and 31. Speakers of national reputation will be present and sessions, both night and day will be held. A big industrial and art display will be one of the attractions as well as many other educational and amusing features for the young and old. As soon as arrangements are made and the plan of entertainment is completed, literature will be sent out far and near giving the two-days' celebration all the prominence possible. The entire program is in the hands of hustling committees and therefore it is bound to be a grand success.

was run down and weak from inaction and general debility, also suffering from vertigo. I saw a cod liver medicine called Vinol advertised and decided to give it a trial, and the result was most gratifying. After taking two bottles I regained my strength and am now feeling unusually well.

Henry Cunningham, Elder Baptist Church, Kingston, N. C.

Vinol is not a patent medicine—but a preparation composed of the medicinal properties of cod's livers, combined with iron and wine. Vinol creates hearty appetite, tones up the organs and makes rich, red blood. In a natural manner, Vinol creates strength for the run-down, overworked and debilitated, and for delicate children and old people. For coughs, colds and bronchitis it is unequalled.

Each person in this vicinity are invited to try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction.

LIVED IN OREGON FOR FIFTY YEARS

The Dalles, Or., Oct. 21.—Henry Willerton, who died at his residence in this city on Friday last and whose funeral occurred a week ago, was one of the pioneer residents of Wasco county. He had been in failing health for a year past, owing to a stroke of paralysis, a second stroke proving fatal. He was 57 years of age.

Mr. Willerton was born in New York city, September 19, 1851, and from that point of residence was one of the oldest settlers in this section. When an infant, his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. James Pearson, emigrated to Oregon, stopping at Oregon City for a short time, then moving to old Celilo where Mr. Pearson was one of the earliest steamboat builders on the Upper Columbia.

When a young man, M. Willerton moved to Sherman county, where in 1876, he was married to Miss Jane Eaton. Since 1890 the family has resided in The Dalles where he was connected with the O. R. & N. company's shops for many years. Besides his widow, three children survive him: Mrs. F. C. Sexton, Ernest and Bertha Willerton, all of this city.

The Public Endorsement of Our Mining Properties If You Have Not Read It Then Do So

The report of the committee appointed by the Salem Board of Trade is printed in your daily papers. It will post you on what the committee found at the mines. Now we have their endorsement we are in position to urge you to SIGN UP AT ONCE FOR ALL THE STOCK YOU CAN HANDLE. DO IT NOW. DON'T WAIT. We will try and call on you, but don't wait; come to our office and we will put you in a position to make some money. By this time with all the proofs we have furnished no one can question our mines being all we have claimed for them. Now, remember we are talking for the Gold Creek Mining & Milling Company's property. Our stock is selling at 10 cents. We have 17 claims in our group. We have a saw-mill, electric light plant, electric drill in our equipment and we have A MINING ENGINEER WITH US WITH A REPUTATION OF DOING THINGS IN CHARGE. We have spent $20,000 more on our property than all the other mines on the creek combined. We have the ore opened up to show for it. There are five great ledges across our properties. We have 1300 feet of work done showing the ore. The smelter people ask us to supply ONE-HALF THE ORE REQUIRED FOR THEIR SMELTER. As much as all the others are required to furnish. Why? Because it was there. Our engineer told the smelter people that within 90 days from the time the road was completed he would furnish the full 100 tons per day they required, and he knew he could do it. Now don't it look as though our mines were the ones to invest in—we are boosting Marion county's resources, and want you to help us succeed.
