PRESIDENT LANGDON WRITES GOOD FEELING FOR SALEM

E. W. Langdon, president of the First National bank, writes The Journal as follows: "I read with pleasure the article in your paper which was also copied in the Albany papers. The sentiment expressed I think finds hearty response by our citizens evidenced by the fact that during the state fair over 500 tickets were sold in one day's attendance to Salem, showing that our people are loyal. When each locality pulls together for greater Oregon it certainly will be of benefit to each individual locality generally."

WEST SALEM MAN SHOT A BALD EAGLE Byron Harritt, of West Salem, brought a fine specimen of a Bald eagle to the Board of Trade, Saturday evening, which he shot the day before on his ranch just across the river. Secretary Hofer ordered the bird mounted, but, upon close examination by the taxidermist, it was found that he was a young bird, and that the plumage would not warrant the undertaking. Mr. Harritt supposed it was a black eagle, but, upon examining the feathers of his head, it was plain to be seen that a few months more would have brought the white feathers to the surface. The bird measured seven feet from tip to tip, and had a magnificent beak and talons.
