NERVOUS

DYSPEPSIA

PECULIAR ORIGIN OF MANY CASES OF THIS TROUBLE.

Its Victims Are Often Healthy-Looking and Otherwise Well Except for This Distressing Affliction.

Nervous dyspepsia, unlike other forms of indigestion, is a disease of the nerves, not of the stomach. It is most frequent in highly emotional or hysterical persons and is brought on by any mental shock, or excess, worry, excessive grief, or sudden excitement. Its victims are usually healthy-looking and have generally reached the age of maturity.

Being a disease of the nerves it must be treated by strengthening the nerves and the use of a good nerve tonic, such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, together with a generous and nourishing diet, is the correct home treatment.

After suffering with nervous indigestion for over two years Mrs. Geo. P. Martin, of No 16 Admiral street, New Haven, Conn., tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She tells of the great benefit she received as follows:

"Following a severe run-down condition I began to suffer with nervous indigestion. Food distressed me so much that it was with difficulty I could drink water and I had to live on milk almost entirely. I lost in weight and strength. I was so nervous that I could not bear to have any one visit me. I could not sleep nights or if I did I would wake up suddenly with a startled feeling. Whenever I ate much my stomach would bloat and there would be gas on it. Oftentimes I had to vomit to get relief. On going up stairs or in over-working I was certain to have palpitation of the heart. I had dull, sick headaches which lasted for two or three days. During these attacks I was unable to do my housework. I felt sick all over and wanted to be undisturbed.

"The doctor's medicine failed to help me after a trial of over three months. I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and began using them. I noticed a difference after I had taken only a few boxes and was cured when I had given the pills a good trial. My cure has been permanent but I keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on hand to use as a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are useful in cases of acid stomach and in the treatment of over-sensitive stomachs in which the slightest irritation causes painful gnawing or burning sensations. This condition is common among growing girls. Sufferers from dyspepsia in any form who have found their condition unrelieved or actually growing worse while using ordinary remedies would do well to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are sold by all druggists or direct by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c per box; six boxes, $2.50. A diet book will be sent free, on application to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
