FINLAND ABOUT TO REBEL AGAINST RUSSIA CAMPBELL CAUGHT WITH NITRO-GLYCERIN TELLS VARIOUS STORIES

GRAFT FIGHTERS JUBILANT

CONVICTION OF RUEF

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Dec. 11.—The directors of the graft fight have over the conviction of Ruef shown clearly today in their statements:
Prosecutor Francis J. McLaughlin, of San Francisco and the state of California owe a debt of gratitude to the 12 men who were more than three months in jail and submitted to what is usually imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

REMOVAL OF COAL TARIFFS

IN TRADING WITH CANADA

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 11.—At the hearing before the ways and means committee coal operators of the Eastern states declared that they were in favor of the removal of tariff on coal shipments, if a reciprocal relation could be established with Canada.
Although the coal operators of Washington have taken no action in the matter, Representative Jones is inclined to oppose the removal of this tariff, believing that it would place the Washington mines in severe competition with British Columbia.

It has been played and highly endorsed by Minneapolis, St. Paul,

WANT THEIR LIBERTIES RETURNED

OR INSURRECTION IS THREATENED

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Helsingford, via frontier, Dec. 11.—That Finland will send an ultimatum to Russia warning the Czar that a rebellion is inevitable unless the Finnish constitution is restored is the belief of diplomatic agents of other European powers here today.
The lawmakers, at the convening of the Russian diet, early in the approaching year, will point out to the Czar that Finland has been robbed of its constitution. They hope that Nicholas will yield, but they fear there is no escaping from an armed conflict.
There will be no formal declaration of hostilities. Unless the people's liberties are given back to them, revolutionary outbreaks will begin throughout the country, gradually spreading and increasing in violence until all Finland is in arms.
Many of the legislators are among the leaders of the revolutionary movement. They admit there is no hope of beating Russia in an open campaign. Their idea is to wage no fierce a war with plot and assassination that the pressure of the world's opinion will finally force the Czar to come to their terms.

TAUGHT TO MAKE THE EXPLOSIVE

IN EXCHANGE FOR MORPHINE

Convict Campbell, who, it was alleged by the Japanese caught yesterday with a supply of nitro-glycerine and dynamite, with which, it is claimed, he was going to blow up the penitentiary, taught him how to make the deadly explosive, when put through a rigid "sweating" by Warden Curtis this morning, broke down and confessed to telling the Jap how to make nitro-glycerine in exchange for a promise to get a supply of morphine into the prison for him, Campbell.
Campbell is an old yegg man, and has had long experience with nitro-glycerine. From Campbell's statements Yashita's intentions were to blow open a safe in the town of Troutdale, for which place he was making for yesterday when Deputy Esch put the nippers on him.
Yashita's Record.
C. Yashita, prisoner No. 5456, was convicted and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary from Multnomah county on the charge of larceny from a dwelling. His standing in the place of correction is considered very bad by the officers in charge. Notwithstanding his physical condition being almost perfect, and having a tremendous strength for such a small man, he would not work unless watched continually by the guards. His main occupation while in the pen was sawing wood. A guard would set him to work at the wood pile, but on the instant he was left alone he would quit everything and meander around the grounds until put to work again. He had stated to several of his associates in the pen that he had a desire to get "lots of money," and he thought the safeblowing business about the proper and easiest manner to accomplish his desires.
May Be Deported.
The district attorney will take action to have the criminal deported to Japan under the federal deportation law, where he will not molest or be a menace to the lives of Americans.
The Arrest.
After acting suspiciously until he attracted the attention of Deputy Sheriff Will Esch, yesterday about 1 o'clock Yashita went to a local gun store, and there purchased 16 sticks of Trojan blasting powder and took them to Hong's old noodle house, on Ferry street, and cooked the deadly explosives for the purpose of obtaining the nitro-glycerine. Deputy Sheriff Esch followed him and arrested him at the depot at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Esch searched the ex-convict and pulled out a Snyder's catsup bottle filled to the cork with what the officers suppose to be nitro-glycerine. A box of dynamite caps and a coil of fuse were also taken from the person of the brown man. Sam Burkhardt, a penitentiary official, saw Deputy Esch with the man, while coming to town on the car, and jumped off at once. He recognized the man as being a former convict, and accompanied Esch to the city with him, Esch.

VALUABLE ADDRESSES ARE MADE

MORNING SESSION OF CONVENTION

The final meeting of the dairy convention was held today in the Ye Liberty theatre, at which speeches were delivered by prominent and well-informed dairymen, and were greatly appreciated by the large audience of dairymen and farmers in attendance.
W. L. Crissey, secretary of the Oregon State Dairy Association, delivered a good address on dairying and advertising, pointing out the many ways in which the dairy industry could be made widely popular among the valley dairymen. Mr. Crissey's speech was enthusiastically received by the spectators, it being a very interesting talk on successful dairying.
Dr. James Withycombe, director experiments station, at Corvallis, spoke on "The General Purpose Cow." Dr. Withycombe thoroughly explained the necessity of improving the breed of the special cow. He gave figures and statistics on how to procure the best results from grain raised on the home farm, and how to obtain the best results from the special purpose animal. According to Dr. Withycombe's experience and observations, the purer breed the milk sow is the more milk can be obtained, and if, when a small calf, the color does not exactly suit the owner, it is a great mistake to turn the animal over for beef purposes. Color does not amount for anything, said Dr. Withycombe. He dealt for a few moments on skimmed milk, pointing out the value of it for feeding purposes with a slight mixture of wheat. He answered many questions asked him by different ones in the audience who desired a little information relative to the feeding, etc.
The reception given by the dairymen at the Illinois club rooms last night was an enormous success; well planned and well executed by those taking part, in the way of speeches and addresses. Those making short but interesting talks were: John H. Albert, Mrs. B. A. Yostom, J. W. Bailey, August Huckenstein, Dr. Jas. Withycombe, H. B. Thilsen, H. D. Patton, Geo. W. Weeks, Carl Abrams, Prof. L. E. Kent, T. S. Townsend and G. M. Brown.

HOLY ROLLER GOD NEARS END

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 11.—"I did not shoot any of the police," protested "Adam God" Sharp today under the ordeal of the third degree at police headquarters, "it was God acting through me. He called upon me to do this work and protect His lambs."
James Sharp, self-styled "Adam God," is badly wounded, and probably will die as the result of an encounter between his band of "Holy Rollers" and the police last Tuesday.
His wife, a devout follower of her husband, today publicly recanted her faith in the tenets of the "Holy Rollers," declaring that her belief must be false, as "Adam God" seems doomed to die.
Two policemen died in the pistol battle with the "Holy Rollers." Several more were wounded by them, when the authorities broke up a meeting of the sect.
Louis Pratt, self-styled "Elijah III," one of the "lambs," died yesterday from his wound received in the battle. Ole Pratt, his daughter, was killed by the police while with her mother attempting to escape.
Dorando's brother declared at a banquet that his brother would never again race a Marathon with Hayes, because the later fouled Dorando in his New York race, and tried to win by unfair means.
