 Dec. 14.—President Taft sent congress a special message regarding the Brownsville case. His message is in part as follows: "A report of the investigation of the Brownsville case by the war department with which I am investigating the case. The report fixes some responsibility on the murderer and establishes the fact that the soldiers did this."

Union City, Tenn., Dec. 14.—The first court of hearing of the night rider cases, wherein 134 men are indicted for participation in murders, assaults and other outrages, began this afternoon before Judge Joseph Noons, in the United States circuit court. The town is crowded with visitors, mostly friends of the accused men. The charges in the indictments range from that of the murder of Quentin Rankin, the attempted assassination of Colonel Z. Taylor, through a gamut of assaults, house burnings, women whippings and similar offenses, to that of going upon premises while masked to commit assault.

 Washington, Dec. 14.—Senator Fulton, of Oregon, is considerably worked up because President Roosevelt greeted Governor Chamberlain of Oregon, as "senator-to-be" when the governor was here last week and he paid his respects at the White House. Senator Fulton, it is understood, has given it out in Oregon that President Roosevelt and President-elect Taft both wanted him returned to the United States senate. It is stated here that Senator Fulton had made considerable progress in his post-card vote proposition by using this argument. Senator Fulton is understood to Flushing, Long Island, Dec. 14.—Erect of form and with eyes snapping, Thornton Jenkins Hains, the brother of Captain Peter C. Hains, charged with participation in the shooting and killing of William E. Annis because of the suspected relations of Annis with Captain Hains' wife, faced the court at the opening of his trial this afternoon. Hains was attired quietly in a dark business suit and appeared unconcerned with the proceedings. He exchanged glances of sympathy with his father, brother and other relatives who were seated near his counsel's table. Hains sat next to Attorney McIntyre, his chief counsel. It was five minutes of one before the court convened. The court room was unable to hold all of the 250 talesmen summoned for examination for jury duty. A considerable number of them were forced to remain on a lower floor of the courthouse. Technical argument between opposing counsel relating to the drawing of panel occupied a greater part of the afternoon. A decision in the matter will be handed down later. The charge under which Hains is being tried is that of aiding Captain Hains to shoot Annis. It is alleged that Hains stood with drawn pistol and prevented others from going to the aid of Annis while Captain Hains was shooting his wife's alleged betrayer. The prosecution will also endeavor to show that Thornton Jenkins worked upon his brother's credulity and impelled him to do the shooting of Annis. The defendant is brought to trial first to permit an inquiry into the case of Captain Hains.

 San Francisco, Dec. 14.—The murder last March of Durham White Stevens, the American diplomat who for many years stood high in the esteem of the Mikado's government was described today by Ed B. Finley at the beginning of the trial of in Whang Chang, a Korean charged with the crime. Finley testified that he saw one of a number of Koreans strike Stevens in the face but was unable to identify Chang as the man who had fired the shot that killed the diplomat. He was engaged at the time in handling Stevens' baggage and the confusion that followed the first shot made him uncertain as to which Korean did the shooting, according to his statement. The attack upon Stevens was the outgrowth of a belief on the part of the Koreans that the diplomat was on his way to Washington to misrepresent Korean affairs to the President. The defense is preparing to set up a plea of emotional patriotic insanity.

FEAR LIBERALISM'S RESULT IN INDIA

Calcutta, Dec. 14.—A clash between Lord Morley, secretary of state for India, and the Anglo-Indian element of the population, is imminent as a result of the former's plan for suppressing the wave of sedition by liberalizing the colonial government. The Anglo-Indians believe that sedition will have to be crushed ultimately by military strength, and they are opposed to all temporizing measures. The longer the delay in proclaiming martial law throughout the country, the fiercer will be the fight to perpetuate the Anglo-Saxon domination. Even the most conservative Britons declare that if the insurrection is allowed to continue much longer, their country's ascendancy can never be restored. The foundation of Lord Morley's plan is the opening of an increased number of administrative government posts to natives and a slight increase in the Indian council, a theory so far advanced as to be the subject of a bill for India, on matters concerning the colony.

NINE PER CENT DIE FROM ACCIDENTS

Washington, Dec. 14.—Between 30,000 and 35,000 workmen are killed during one year by accidents throughout the United States, according to a report of the bureau of labor, made public today. The reports, covering the years from 1900 to 1906, show that in more than a million deaths of males, more than nine per cent were due to accidents. The reports, in giving the statistics of the toll that the workman pays to the cause of circumstances, show the different causes that result in the deaths and the number of fatalities. Prominent among them is the failure of corporations to provide safety appliances for their workmen in various lines of business where life and limb are involved.

WOULD CELEBRATE LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

Washington, Dec. 14.—Senator Deak, of Ohio, today introduced a resolution in the senate, urging that February 12, 1909, the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birthday, be fittingly celebrated by the nation. He suggested a joint session of congress, with addresses by prominent men and a meeting in all the cities throughout the country, and in all the educational institutions. The motion met with no opposition.

POLICE MUST BE AT ALL TIMES

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 14.—Acting Chief of Police A. D. Cutler today put into effect a new order, the first one he has issued, which will compel all captains of districts to tour their territory, and particularly inspect the tenements and "resorts of a suspicious character" between midnight and 6 o'clock in the morning. Each morning, after having completed the excursions, the captains will be expected to file with the chief a written report of what they have seen and heard. Cutler has repeatedly expressed himself as of the belief that police vigilance relaxes after midnight, and that practices are permitted in the early hours of the morning that would be frowned down in the daytime or early evening. Many irregularities have resulted from this easy-going system, and Chief Cutler proposes now to stop everything that is not strictly open and above board.

MINISTER BELIEVES IN ADVERTISING

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 San Rafael, Cal., Dec. 14.—The latest demonstration that advertising pays is that adopted by the Rev. J. W. Simmons of the Methodist Episcopal church of this city who declared today that since his incumbency, a period of two months ago, there have been more conversions than were ever made in the church in any one year. "I believe in advertising the pulpit," said Mr. Simmons. "I have concluded that the church must be advertised, but advertising only brings people to the church. Then you must deliver the goods. No matter how much good music, or how much social life you have, you will not make a convert unless you reach him by means of the pulpit."

PURSUED CONVICT CUTS BLOODHOUND'S THROAT

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Walla Walla, Dec. 14.—After being chased in a circuit for 20 miles by three bloodhounds and cutting the throat of one of the animals when overtaken, a convict who escaped from the state pen here is today occupying a dungeon in prison. The prisoner made his escape early yesterday while he was repairing an arc light. Bloodhounds were immediately put on his trail. After a chase of five miles one of the animals caught him. He cut the dog's throat and made a fresh start but was finally captured.
