

SOCIAL AND DRAMATIC EVENTS OF THE WEEK

S.O.C.I.E.T.Y.

40th Wedding Anniversary
 Mrs. W. H. Byars celebrated her 40th anniversary Wednesday evening at her home on North Commercial street, the affair being planned as a surprise in honor of Mr. Byars' fortieth wedding anniversary. The time was pleasantly spent with cards and an informal dinner. Refreshments were also served.

Wedding
 Daniel Webster, Ed. Briggs, Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence, Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, Col. and Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mrs. LaCroix, Mrs. Foster, daughter, Mr. and Mrs. White, Mrs. Coursey, Mr. and Mrs. Hatch and daughters and the Wright family.

Wintering in California
 Georgia Whittier, of Portland, formerly of this city is home on vacation spent in California. She stopped off at San Francisco and other coast towns, going south as Los Angeles, where she spent the Thanksgiving week. There she met a number of people, among whom were O. Thomas and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey and the Stinsons, all of whom are wintering in the South.

Klightinger-Hensley
 Mrs. Elsie Klightinger and Mr. B. Hensley were married Wednesday at the bride's home in South street.

Wedding
 At 8 o'clock Miss Alma Nye, accompanied by Miss Olga Gray, a talented young singer, played wedding music as the bride and groom entered the parlor. They stood under a large bell of mistletoe and holly. Preceding them were Misses Lois Nye and Anna Golden as flower-bearers. Rev. Erret performed the ceremony about 40 relatives and friends.

The bride wore a becoming gown of cream colored net over cream tulle. Immediately after the ceremony light refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Gray, Mrs. O. S. Richardson and Mrs. T. S. Golden, and during the evening Miss Mary Nye served punch. Miss Alma Nye and Mrs. Golden received.

The decorations gave a Christmas atmosphere with mistletoe, bells, Oregon evergreens and holly being used. Mr. and Mrs. Hensley are well and favorably known here. Mr. Hensley is an employe of the asylum. They will be at home to friends at 1422 Saguaw street after the first of the New Year.

Doe-Graves
 A simple little wedding took place Monday evening, December 21, 1908, at 7:15 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Doe, and the fair bride was united in marriage with George H. Graves, of Salem. Rev. H. T. Bebeck performed the solemn impressive ring ceremony in the Presbyterian church.

The bride wore a tailored dress of navy blue silk chiffon broadcloth, and carried a bunch of long stemmed carnations and ferns, tied with a ribbon streamer. The wedding was a quiet one, only immediate relatives and friends being present, but what was lacking in numbers was made up in merriment at the wedding supper which followed the ceremony. The rooms were beautifully decorated with holly and white chrysanthemums. About a number of their friends were present, and a serenade, which was highly appreciated. The bride is an only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Doe; is a pronounced blonde and one of Salem's most beautiful and accomplished young women. She has cared but little for society although her attractive personality would entitle her to the appreciation of the social world. The bride and groom were the recipients of handsome presents from many friends consisting mostly of glass and silver of the choicest kinds.

Mr. Graves is a well-known traveler, having resided in Salem for a number of years, where he has many warm friends to wish success in his married life. The happy couple took the 9:58 train and a shower of rice

PLAYS BILLED FOR COMING SEASON

Dr. Obermer is there, and brilliantly written, is "The House of Boudoir," in which Florence Roberts is soon to appear in this city. The play is in three acts and is the work of Seymour Obermer.

According to the press in general all over the country where he has been appearing as "Rip Van Winkle" for the past eleven years, Thomas Jefferson's success in the famous play is an assured fact, and it is pleasing to note that the grand old American classic lives and is kept up to the high standard given it by the late Joseph Jefferson.

Plays of this city will have turn for the practical. His judgment of dramatic values and his fine sense of proportion are perceptible in his choice and placing of characters and in the things he provides for them to undertake—each according to his nature, education and exigent motive.

We never tire of visits from Henry and "Ma" Canby, the contrasting He and She of the hospitable home of the Aravaipa ranchers. Tony Mustane, whose extraordinary ideas concerning the appropriate language of love comprise much of the striking humor of the play; grim and honest old Sergeant Keller of the army, whose chevrons are the symbol of a lifetime of devoted service to the flag of his adopted country; chivalrous Col. Bonham, the suave scoundrel; ment of the intrigue is such as to give the spectator views of it from different angles. The story in itself demands and gets sharp attention, and the work of the ladies and gentlemen of the company is generally commendable. Altogether the offering is one of more than common worth.

Seats on sale at box office Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

"ARE YOU A MASON"

All Week at Bungalow Theatre, Portland—New Year's Attraction By Baker Stock Company to Be the Well Known Laughing Play.

Although Dietrichstein's farce "Are You a Mason" has been presented several times in Portland, Baker stock company will play it for the first time New Year's week, opening Sunday matinee, December 27, at the popular Bungalow. It is quite well known and is considered by many to be the greatest of all modern farces. It will certainly be a "scream" of fun when played as Baker stock company will play it. It is one of those cases of a series of complications and misunderstandings among the characters of the play which afford unlimited amusement for the audience who alone are supposed to know the true state of affairs. Two men, to please their wives, pretend to join the Masons. They get along fairly well when alone with their respective wives, pleading the secrecy of the order, etc., but when introduced to each other by their wives, and each thinks the other is a real Mason, then the fun begins. It keeps getting deeper and deeper. Other characters are introduced and new complications added until one wonders where it is all going to end. "Are You a Mason" will start you laughing on the New Year and we earnestly hope you will continue to laugh and be merry all its very end, and incidentally, remain a loyal patron of Baker stock the race treat of seeing Mr. Jefferson in his delightful romance of "The House of Boudoir" at the Grand opera house during the coming week.

"The House of Boudoir," which Seymour Obermer has written for Florence Roberts, and which that distinguished player will offer at the Grand opera house early next month, is said to be a remarkably audacious play. Not that it offers anything in the least offensive, but the boldness of its central idea, which involves the performing of a vital operation by a prominent surgeon on the husband of the woman he loves, has attracted unusual attention and discussion. Miss Roberts is supported by Arthur Forrest, Thurlow Bergen, Ann Warrington, Mary Bertrand, Kent Bonworth and Harry Gibbs.

ARIZONA A TREAT FOR THEATRE-GOERS

Augustus Thomas' perennial "Arizona" comes to the Grand opera house on Monday next, December 28. It is the Hollis E. Cooley production. Interest in this play is largely dependent on the fidelity with which its "atmosphere" is represented. Mr. Cooley and his aids have succeeded in this particular and have given us a picture of ranch and military life in the far southwest that is known to be accurate. Mr. Thomas is an expert craftsman.

Captain Hodgman, faithful and honorable; Dr. Fenelon, the strangely interesting Lena Keifer, the boyishly natural and delightful Lieutenant Fenlon, even the weak and quarrelsome Estrella Bonham, had a hearty welcome every time they came to town. This is right. They are human beings, moved by impulses, passions, hopes and weaknesses whereby we ourselves might be moved in like circumstances, and therefore closely akin to us. We follow their fortunes with sympathy, so far as they are entitled to so gentle a sentiment, and with abhorrence when they disclose the contemptible possibilities of our kind.

Miss Lizette McCall as Mrs. Canby and Charles E. Graham as Sergeant Keller, are more than pleasing. The remainder of the capable cast comprises Francis Cambello as Henry Canby, Clarence Hirtage as Colonel Bonham, Edward Mulligan as the Chinese cook, Miss Hortense Clement as Estrella Bonham, Miss Julia Morris as Lena Keller, Edward J. Farrell as Lieut. Fenlon, Miss Alma Bradley, as the irrepressible Boutta Carby, Frederick Webber as Captain Hodgman, Miss Arline Fort as the school ma'am, D. J. Sullivan as Dr. Fenelon, William Morgan as Lieut. Mallock, Robert Deshon as the vaquero, Frank Fayton as Lieut. Young, and Charles Avers as Major Cochran.

The air of military bustle that pervades the play helps to keep interest up to pitch, while the develop-
