MOVE KANSAS TOWNS TO ESCAPE PAYING

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Hutchinson, Kas., Feb. 6.—Escaping payment of $35,000 bonds and $1000 interest, Ulysses, capital of Grant county, is today located a mile and a half outside of its own city limits. Only a frame courthouse and a school building mark the spot where 20 years ago stood a prosperous village of 1200 inhabitants.

The bonds, which were issued 20 years ago to build waterworks and make other municipal governments, are held by an Eastern national bank.

When the bank commenced legal proceedings last October, to collect the bonds, which amounted to more than the entire assessed valuation of the town property, the people of Ulysses decided to move. The case was postponed until the March term of court and the townsmen busied themselves in removing their houses, stores and offices outside the corporate limits. Today the task was completed and news of the strange move given to the world.

No railroads run through Grant county and the nearest telegraph station is 24 miles from Ulysses. It was an easy matter to maintain the secrecy necessary to prevent an injunction being issued which would stop the wholesale movers.

mother. It is said that she then went to the orphanage at Georgetown and returned with a baby.

HOTEL OREGON BUS MEETS ELECTRIC TRAINS

Manager Dickinson writes The Capital Journal that a special free bus has been put on to meet the Oregon electric trains that arrive in Portland at 10:55 a. m. and 4:55 p. m. These are trains Nos. 6 and 12—the limited. Those who have not tried the Oregon since its new annex has been opened should do so. The rooms and the furnishings in the annex are the most perfect that money can equip, and for real comfort there is nothing like it in Portland. It is absolutely impossible for this building to burn, as was shown in a recent trial, and the convenience of a free bus from the electric trains will certainly be appreciated by the public.

BORROWED A BABY TO GET ALIMONY

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Bellingham, Wash., Feb. 6.—That in her anxiety to secure alimony Mrs. Cora Welch borrowed a baby from an orphanage and brought it into court as her own, is the interesting evidence that came out in the divorce proceedings started by her.

After the matron of the orphanage testified that the infant held by Mrs. Welch was the same one she had adopted from the institution the court denied the plaintiff a divorce but gave one to the husband. When Mrs. Welch filed suit she secured $400 suit money, informing the court that she was about to become a

Among those who witnessed the launching were Governor James Pennington, of Delaware, and his staff of officers.

Immediately following the launching, the invited guests were driven to the Warwick Hotel, where they were entertained at luncheon by the shipyard officials. Governor Swann, of Virginia and Governor Pennington and others were present.

Whatever its merits, government by commission can scarcely be called self-government.
