RECORDER MOORES DEALS WITH UNWARY

Three wayward men were brought before Recorder Moore's this morning when the usual roll call was made. The first "unfortunate" told the Judge that he was an employee of a certain logging company down the river, and that he met with a very dear friend of his while in the city and the result was—well, or that is, owing to the good feeling existing between them being revived, a few drinks were indulged in and then some, until they were over the sideboards and the night officers took them in tow. Judge Moore dropped him down lightly by imposing a two days' job on him at $2.00 per.

A man from way down East when asked by the Judge in regard to his particular business in jail, said he was "stowed" away there because he was intoxicated. He was also given a similar job to that of the preceding associate.

The next case on the Judge's hand was not so insignificant. It appeared as though Mr. John Doe had been requested by a minor friend of his to get him 50 cents worth of fluid, which is prohibited to boys, whereupon Mr. Doe's generosity would not permit him to refuse the favor, and it is alleged he bought the fire water and gave it to the boy. When called upon to explain the charge, Doe told the Judge that the whiskey, and he had refused; he took the money offered him by the boy and bought the liquor for himself and was intending to drink it himself, but the minor friend took it away from him. The case will be looked into further by the officers.

TO RUN A SPLENDID AMBULANCE FREE

The Cottage Undertaking Parlor have a new combination casket and flower wagon. It is one of the handsomest vehicles ever made for the purpose, with solid Morocco upholstery, rubber tires, electric lights and every possible modern convenience. Mr. Sil loan say, without any danger of contradiction, that it is the finest vehicle of the kind on the coast.

Mr. F. W. Lehbriek, of the U. S. Carriage Company, the makers of this magnificent carriage, was in the city today closing the deal with Mr. Bill for this, one of the very latest styles of Red Cross hospital ambulances. The ambulance is finished in silver gray, and is pretty enough to almost reconcile one to being permitted to take a ride in it. It will (as the Journal understands it) be used free in carrying patients to and from hospitals.

Irrigation Projects.

At the next meeting of the State Land Board, an irrigation project contract will be let for the irrigation of from 30,000 to 50,000 acres of land near Baker City in the lower Powder River valley, and as soon as this great improvement goes through, that portion of the state will be a splendid farming territory.

The Eagle Valley railroad has a right-of-way through the Valley and Almadal and Jacobs, operators of the railroad, are in line for the contract along with many others.

This irrigation is being made under the Carey act, and the United States government has withdrawn the property from entry in co-operation with the state.

Plans for the reservoir have been drawn up, which show the big water confines will be situated 7 miles from Telocaset, a little town on the O. R. & N. railroad, 325 miles from Portland in Thalet Valley. The reservoir will cover an area of 950 acres.

New York's greatest success, "Classmates," with Norman Hackett as the star, will be Jules Murray's offering at the Grand Opera House about the middle of April.

Norman Hackett, Jules Murray's newest star, will appear at the Grand Opera House soon in "Classmates."

SHERIFF AND DEPUTY PICK UP AN "ESCAPEE"

Sheriff Minto and Deputy Sheriff William Each captured the escaped convict John Nutton last night at 5 o'clock and had him back in the penitentiary at exactly 8:30.

The Sheriff got a clew from a resident three miles south of Halls Ferry on the Marion county side of the river, and he procured a rig and made the trip accompanied by Deputy Each. After making several inquiries of farmers residing in that district, he learned that a man answered the description of the escapee had been seen, and that he had made several applications for work. The Sheriff then took the Halls Ferry road and went up to a lumber camp where Nutton was seen last, and where he found him. When the Sheriff knocked on the cabin door for entrance, he heard a lively scramble within, and directed Deputy Each to go around to the rear door, which he did and not too soon, either, as the wanted man was coming out the back door on the jump, and landed in the big deputy's arms, which ended his chances for escape for good.

John Nutton was a trussy and escaped from the officials while working near the State School for the Feeble Minded. Dogs were set on his trail, but they could not follow him any great distance. The Sheriff was of the opinion at the time that Nutton would follow the wooded district toward some logging camp, he being a logger by trade, and his suspicion was right, as the escapee was intending to procure a job in some lumber camp.

When searched, the officers found what had been an old case knife ground out in the shape of a wicked looking butcher knife with the han-die bound round with a small cord. The prisoner strongly denied being the man, but his game would not stick. He still wore some of the prison garb.

TO MARRY THE HOTEL BELL BOY

[United Press Leased Wire.] Friends of Miss Marcia Lockhard, of Santa Barbara, today are watching the offices of the marriage license clerk to ascertain if she makes good her intention of marrying Harry Parker, formerly a bell boy in the Hotel Alexander, in Los Angeles.

The girl, who is 18 years of age, left Santa Barbara for this city last week. The first intimation of her whereabouts received by her father, a clergyman, was a telegram from this city to him, which said: "Tomorrow I will be Mrs. Harry Parker."

Little is known of the young man, except that he worked in various hotels on the Pacific coast, and last at the Hotel Potter, at Santa Barbara. He met Miss Lockhard in Los Angeles.
