BIG RED LIGHT OF METHODISM

Rev. T. K. Ford, former presiding elder of this district, is in the city all this week, lecturing on plain, practical theology at Kimball theological seminary. He will speak at 9:30 a. m. and 2:15 p. m. all this week, and Friday goes to Woodburn where he lectures before the Grand Army of the Republic on Abraham Lincoln. Rev. Ford is one of the biggest men in many ways in the Methodist church, and the ground bends down a little when he walks along over any subject. Ford is one of the hardest men in the Northwest to tackle in a debate, and since the death of Dr. Driver, is the theological champion of Christianity on the Pacific coast.

Better. Healthier Women

are known to exist in this country by thousands because freed from pain and suffering by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Could such a record be made without actual and superior merit? Read what this woman says, and realize that the results secured in her case could not have been made except by a very good medicine.

Detroit, Mich. — "For more than ten years I suffered with all the troubles women have. I had one doctor after another without receiving any benefit. They advised an operation, but I refused to have one. My body and feet were swollen, caused by my female trouble. I was very nervous, had no appetite, indigestion and heart trouble."

"About six months ago I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and in six weeks I was well and strong."

"I have had the pleasure of seeing five friends made well by this medicine, and I want to say to all suffering women take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If any woman is in doubt she can write to me and I shall be most happy to give her all the information I can." — Mrs. Freida Rosenau, 554 Meldrum Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Science in surgery and electricity has advanced much in the past 30 years, but the treatment of disease by the old fashioned roots and herbs method has never been improved upon. The fact that this leader of them all—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—is to-day the largest seller of any similar medicine in the world, is proof positive of its value and superiority, for with all our enterprise and advertising we could not keep fooling the people for 30 years. Merit and merit alone is what has made Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the standard medicine for treating diseases peculiar to women.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.

WHO IS IT MAKES THE LAWS?

Can a Committee Clerk Override a Legislative Act and Legislate for the People of Oregon?

Can a mere enrolling clerk change the deliberate action of the legislature?

An old Oregon Supreme Court opinion exalts the legislative clerk into a full-fledged lawmaker.

The old theory was that the journals of the houses were the best and only proof of what transpired in the general assembly, but that is now changed.

Unable to get a proposition through the legislature just in the way they wanted it, resort was had to protecting the graft by having the committee on enrolled bills in the legislature change the law from the way it was deliberately enacted by the legislature.

That is declared by the legal department of the state as good law.

This was done in the case of the bill allowing nine thousand dollars additional for the deputies for the office of state and food dairy commissioner.

The proof that the law was probably doctored and tampered with lies in the fact that this bill was fixed in this way, and is proven by Attorney-General's Opinion.

Under date of April 2, Attorney-General Crawford writes as follows:

"In accordance with your inquiry of recent date, as to whether Senate Bill No. 26, was passed by the legislature in such a manner as to become a law; and if so, who makes the appointment of the deputy dairy and food inspector thereunder, I find upon examination that the bill passed the senate, in the regular way, was transmitted to the house, where it was read the first and second times, and referred to the ways and means committee; that it was reported back from said committee February 11, with the recommendation "that it do pass;" on the 20th of February, a motion was made to reconsider, which carried, after which the bill was amended by striking out after the word "commission," in line 6 of section 6; the words "the dairy and food commissioner," and inserting in lieu thereof "the governor with the advice of the dairy and food commissioner." Said amendment was adopted in a committee of the whole, after which the bill was regularly read the third time and passed. The senate concurred in house amendment February 20, 1909. The bill was signed by the president and speaker February 20, 1909, and filed by the governor with the secretary of state, February 25, 1909.

An examination of the enrolled bill, however, fails to discover the amendment added in the house, and leaves the bill to read, line 6 of section 6, the words: "The state dairy and food commissioner." The question is, whether the bill, as signed by the speaker of the house and the president of the senate, and filed by the governor with the secretary of state, is a legal act, or whether the journals showing the bill to have been passed with the amendment offered in the house, which amendment was concurred in by the senate, and not showing that said amendment was reconsidered, and dropped vitiates the act.

I find in 30 Oregon, page 588, the case of McKinnon vs. Coiter, which is almost identical case. In that case, the enrolled act in the custody of the secretary of state appeared on its face to have been regularly passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, and it was claimed to be a nullity, because an amendment to the original act provided that it should not go into effect until January 1, 1894, which appeared to have been adopted by the legislature, is not in such enrolled act. The court held in that case that the act was a valid act, for the reason that the journals did not show affirmatively that the vote adopting the amendment was not reconsidered and the amendment defeated. The court says in that case, page 592:

"It nowhere appears in the journal that it did not pass in the form as actually signed by the office of the secretary of state. It is true, the journals show that in its progress through the legislature an amendment was adopted which is not included in the enrolled act, but the vote by which such amendment was adopted may have been reconsidered, and the amendment defeated. At least, the courts are bound to presume such to have been the case. The enrolled act as filed with the secretary of state is signed by the officers of the house and senate required by the constitution to sign all bills and joint resolutions passed by their respective bodies, and is therefore officially attested in the manner required by the organic law as one that has regularly and duly passed the legislature, and this attestation must prevail, unless the contrary conclusively appears by the journals of their proceedings: State vs. Francis, 26 Kan. 724. The constitution requires all bills and joint resolutions to be signed by the presiding officers of the respective houses (section 25, article IV), and their signatures must be given full force and effect, and import absolute verity, unless affirmatively contradicted by the journals which the constitution requires to be kept."

In the light of said decision, Senate Bill 26 is a law as enrolled, and the appointment of deputies thereunder must be made by the State Dairy and Food Commissioner.

Comments on the Opinion.

Read over the opinion carefully and see how it is built up on hypotheses and assumptions that are calculated to give the benefit of the doubt in favor of tricky proceedings, always remembering that it has been the universal custom of courts to accept the journalized proceedings of a legislature as the best evidence of intentions of the lawmakers.

It will appear that the decision quoted does not refer to the vital contents of the act of the legislature, but referred only to the question of the time of its going into effect. It is well the Attorney-General calls it "almost an identical case," for in the supreme court opinion quoted, the court says: "The vote by which such amendments was adopted may have been reconsidered and the amendment defeated," while the Attorney-General says in his opinion that the records of the legislature do not show "that said amendment was reconsidered and dropped."

If the Attorney-General would express his own opinion as a lawyer he would probably say that the above decision of the supreme court of Oregon is bad law and might not be the opinion of the court as it is composed today.

But it seems that Attorney General, like other lawyers, must take the opinions of the supreme court as he finds them, until a later opinion is rendered.

But why was it necessary for the parties who wanted to draw money under this new law to get any legal opinion at all from the Attorney-General?

Were they in doubt themselves about the legality and the validity of the law which they had secured for their own purposes and were anxious to profit by its being declared legal?

Taken altogether this is a curious proceeding and a novelty in the field of predatory legislation, one of the many forms of self-extending graft being practiced on the people.

There is a saving clause in the opinion of the supreme court of way-back volume 30, where it says the court is bound to presume that the amendment was reconsidered, although the legislative journals failed to show that it was reconsidered.

Isn't that rotten legal reasoning for you? Why not presume any other legislative fiction, monstrosity, absurdity or idiosyncrasy, simply because the

DOCTORS MISTAKES

Are said often to be buried six feet under ground. But many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, and finally, the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed by the same woman who has written this article, has cured her by dispelling all these distressing symptoms, and insuring comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to women's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects. It is a powerful invigorating tonic. Female weakness, nervous prostration, the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being equalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve tonic "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus' dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One or three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

legislative journals do not show that idiosyncrasy or absurdity was not enacted? Courts can on this principle read anything into a law read anything out that a clerk or some enrolling committee will conveniently omit or insert.

The new process of amending a bill in the committee on enrolled bills the last night of the legislature, and then having it declared good law, opens a rich field for grafting that has not heretofore been worked and ought to afford the taxpayers a great deal of satisfaction.

DIAZ MAKES SHORT WORK OF FANATICS

[United Press Leased Wire.]

Velardena, Mex., April 14.—Ten men, who participated in the religious riot last Saturday, were shot today by troops sent to the scene to restore order. Five other supposed rioters are under arrest, and will be court-martialed.

The priest who participated in the ceremonies has fled to the surrounding mountains, and a detachment of troops is in pursuit.

It was learned that the mayor, who prohibited the ceremony called the "burning of Judas," and whose order caused the riot, escaped to Durango.

The execution of the rioters was at the order of the government.

The Payne tariff bill is rightly named as it is giving lots of people, especially the women a severe pain.
