The Circus
 acrobat finds it necessary at all times to keep his muscles and joints supple. That is the reason that hundreds of them keep a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment always on hand. A sure cure for rheumatism, cuts, sprains, sore throat, lame back, contracted muscles, corns, bunions and all points. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by all dealers.
 Dr. McLoughlin's house was once used for a saloon. That settles it. The doctor himself was probably a drink'ng man, and, like most of the first families, probably sold whiskey. Take his picture out of the state house.

WILL UNDERTAKE STREET SPRINKLING

COMMITTEE ON ACCOUNTS AND CURRENT EXPENSES HOPE TO DO THE WORK AT ACTUAL COST

The matter of street sprinkling has been referred to the committee on accounts and current expenses, of which Alderman Greenbaum is chairman. Mr. Greenbaum has taken the proposition up with the mayor, and is in a fair way to work out a plan by which the city will do the sprinkling of the streets after May 1st at actual cost to the business men and property owners, and whatever surplus is left over at the end of the season will go into the city treasury. The city owns the street sprinklers, and if the cost is apportioned fairly to the property owners there can be no graft in it, and every dollar will either be paid for labor or be returned to the city treasury. It is his intention to work out some plan by which the sprinkling will be done at the lowest possible price, consistent with good business management, and all will pay at the same rate for the service, and those who do not pay will not have their premises sprinkled. A large amount was paid out by the city for street sprinkling the past year, and the committee proposes to save this if possible, and put some money in the treasury at the end of the year. Property owners and business men do not object to paying a fair price if the money is really expended for labor or goes to the city, and all grafts are cut out of the proposition, and that is the only basis on which the committee on accounts and current expenses will try to handle the business. Mr. Greenbaum is putting in considerable time trying to learn just what was paid last year, and what it cost the Board of Trade, which had charge of the matter. The program includes sprinkling the streets around the postoffice, the court house and the state house, but not on the residence sides of the streets, unless the owners are prepared to pay for it. There are many the committee find, who assume that it is the business of the city to sprinkle for them free gratis, but such is not the case. Mr. Greenbaum is hopeful of making a schedule that will give the city the best service it has ever had, and work out financially on the right side of the ledger.

HORSEFLESH BRUISED; FEELINGS LACERATED

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Seattle, April 21.—Thirteen hundred dollars is the sum demanded by Swan Henkstad in a damage suit against James P. Ash because of a disappointment in horseflesh and the incidental lacerations of the plaintiff's feelings and anatomy. The suit, which has been filed in the superior court, recites that Henkstad purchased the horse, whose name is Rachael, from Ash for $215, same to be paid in installments.

Rachael was represented, Henkstad states, to be a marvel of equine docility, but her first performance, he alleges, gave proof that she possessed none of the virtues attributed to her ancient namesake.
 Last Sunday Henkstad hitched the horse to a light wagon and took his family on an outing. A passing automobile excited the animal and in an incredibly short space of time the wagon had been transformed into kindling wood by Rachael's busy hooves.
 Mrs. Henkstad was kicked in the hip, the eight-year-old Henkstad spilled one by one out of the swaying vehicle, if you can basket and contents reduced to an unappetizing jumble of imported Swedish delicacies, and Henkstad himself received many bruises from his efforts to quiet the catatonic in arness.
 To add poignancy to the woes of the Henkstads, Ash today filed a counter suit asking $250 damages because of injuries to the horse's leg, sustained during the process of demolition of the Henkstad carriage.

CENTRAL LODGE TO HAVE NORMAN CASTLE

Central lodge No. 18, of the K. of P., has decided to have a new home, and one of which not only the local lodge may find delight but one that will be a credit to both the city and the big order of Knights. The lodge has purchased a tract 54½ feet by 165 on High street between Chemeketa and Court. The building as at present planned will be the full width of the lot and 100 feet deep. It will be built in imitation of, in fact will be a reproduction of, an old Norman castle, with turrets and battlements, steep and acapement, and will be one of the finest lodge homes in the state. While the plans have not been completed this general style of architecture has been selected. The building will be of brick and will be an exact reproduction of one of the old picturesque castles of Normandy. There will be neither moat nor drawbridge, but outside of these useless appendages the reproduction will be perfect. Plans and estimates are now being made and it is expected work will commence in a very short time.

STENOGRAPHER SUES BUSTED MINING KING

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 San Francisco, April 21.—Interest in the affairs of Colonel W. C. Greene, the mining king who recently encountered financial difficulties, was revived today by the publication of testimony given by Anna C. Busted, a public stenographer who has commenced action demanding the removal of Samuel N. Rucker as administrator of the estate of the late Major Frank McLaughlin.
 Miss Busted alleged that United States Senator Per. Ins. Governor Gillett, George Hatton, Fletcher A. Cutler of Eureka, and M. M. O'Gorman of Los Angeles were involved in a suit for $10,000,000 which McLaughlin was instructed to file against Greene. This suit was based on the sale of some grazing lands to the mining magnate, she said, by Senator Perkins and others. The land proved to contain valuable mineral deposits and the original owners claimed that these rights fully belonged to them. McLaughlin was instructed, Miss Busted said, to settle the case for $1,000,000 if Greene would agree.
 Miss Busted's statement was made while she was endeavoring to prove her familiarity with Major McLaughlin's affairs.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Chicago, April 21.—James A. Patten, the wheat king, is on his way West to investigate crop conditions, according to an announcement made today on the floor of the wheat pit.
 Wheat rose slowly, and at noon May touched $1.25. There was nothing sensational about the trading today.

To Attend the Funeral—

Superintendent L. R. Fields and Master Mechanic T. W. Younger, of the Southern Pacific and several other old employees of the company, are here today to pay the last tribute of respect to their old friend and associate, W. W. Sklaner, whose funeral took place this afternoon. They brought tributes of flowers to be laid upon the grave from many old railroad friends, whose work for the company forbids them leaving their places. His daughter, Mrs. Lura O'Neil, of Ely, Nev., and son, William, of Spokane, are also here to give their last token of love to the father whom God has called.
