Lighting the Alleys—Alley light have been erected on the three blocks from Ferry to Chemeketa, and between Liberty and Commercial streets, to the great satisfaction of the police department. Lights are not yet in on the three blocks just west of Commercial street, but as soon as differences can be adjusted with the companies owning the poles, then the lights will go in there. Chief Gibson and his men appreciate these alley lights, as it makes hiding places for the criminal and house breaking class rather scarce.

Hotel for Newport—There is a better outlook for an hundred thousand dollar hotel for Newport than ever before in the history of that charming seaside city. A syndicate that is building a tourist hotel at Port Angeles has just had your estates over there. They have photographed the whole country from Otter Rock to Beaver Creek and Seal Rock. The same syndicate is operating 49 or 50 hotels, and say they will build if there is a chance to get railroad accommodations in there even within five years. When Harrison is threatening to expose some money on new lines in Oregon, they have faith to believe he will put some of it into a tourist bus with through trains and sleeping car service to Newport from Portland direct.

Backed into Basement—At an early hour this morning, Eugene Prescott, living just east of the Oregon Electric depot, on Mill street, was awakened from his sleep by what he supposed to be the electric car trying to climb his front steps. It proved to be the Fairmount dairy delivery wagon seeking shelter in his basement. The horse became frightened at the car, and backed across the lawn into a double window. Whether that a smashed window and spilled milk, no damage was done.

Five Jail Emancipations—Chief of Police Gibson liberated the last of the four prisoners in the city jail today at 12 o'clock. Teabo, the man who sold the team of horses belonging to another man for $45, settled the matter. The other two and a half-day man were turned out with instructions to get, which he was glad to do.

Wives in Falling—The old Willamette is now tumbling down to the extreme low water mark, and it is predicted by the steamboat men that the water will be too low before long to permit navigation on the river. The steamers Oregon and Pomona are having fine sailing between this city and Portland, however, and the freight business, especially, is on the boom at present. On the upper Willamette business for the large boats has practically given out at this time of

WOMAN VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY

[United Press Leased Wire.] Portland, April 21.—Believing that his wife has been murdered or has been abducted or hypnotized in Portland, H. W. Mix, a member of the board of directors of the Seattle Commercial club, vice president of the Seattle Italian club, and vice president of the Pacific Coast Fire Supply Company, has come to Portland to search for the missing woman.

The police have been investigating the case all day, and one man, giving his name as E. L. Carroll, has been arrested in connection with the case.

Mrs. Mix came to Portland with $2500 in her possession last Wednesday and visited a prominent family here for a day. Then she moved to the Imperial hotel, where she stayed two days. Then she dropped out of sight. An expressman called for her trunks, and according to Phil Mettschach, proprietor of the hotel, she was presumably going east. However, it was learned that her goods were taken to a house on Thirteenth street and later moved to 250 Twelfth street, and then to some unknown destination.

This baggage is valued at approximately $750 and the man giving his name as Carroll is held under a charge of grand larceny for the theft of these trunks. He was identified by the expressman who moved the trunks as being the man who had received baggage at the house on Thirteenth street.

Carroll says he is connected with the Royal Asiatic Society of America. This is what especially worries Mr. Mix, as his wife two months ago took up a line of Asiatic studies as a hobby, and it is believed possible that her connection with these studies may have led in some way to her disappearance here.

Mrs. Mix left her husband last Wednesday evening to visit her parents in Bangor, Me., intending to visit in Portland for two days, then to go on to San Francisco, then to Los Angeles and thence east. She carried with her $2500 in checks at the time besides valuable jewels.

The trunk and two suit cases, one leather and the other cane, were filled with fine clothing and it is feared Mrs. Mix has been murdered for the money, or that she has been induced by a gang of fakers, supposedly given to Asiatic studies, to go into hiding with them.

the year, but the smaller craft are realizing a good passenger trade.

Willamette Track Team—Big Bill Hayward is putting in his Easter vacation week coaching Willamette track team. He has about 12 men in training, raw material that is being licked into shape by his sturdy methods. He says in one week he hopes to get them working on the system that will convert them into winners.

Song With a Moral—While other matters are occupying the public attention, it is worth noting that some of Salem's back alleys are not in nice condition. Don't forget that old song, the refrain of which is "Clean Up Your Own Back Yard."

Paint Is Needed—The Sienna Paint Co. is still doing business in Salem, which says "but either its product or someone else's would improve the looks of many business buildings. A wide-awake city, that wants to get there, should profit by the hunch given by the ladies, and paint up the front view."

To Build on Leslie Street—O. J. Gould, agent for Wells-Fargo, has completed arrangements for building a residence on Leslie street, between Commercial and Liberty, and Carey Martin, the well-known attorney, will also put up a handsome residence on the corner of Leslie and Liberty streets.

Ambassador James Bryce is to open the Alaska-Yukon exposition at Seattle.

WANTED PAY FOR HIS TIME

After making a trip to this city to pay his taxes, W. T. Hurt, of Silverton, failed to pay all his property tax, owing to his name being misplaced on the tax roll, and he came over from Silverton again yesterday to pay his personal taxes, which were penalized, and had interest due on them. Mr. Hurt objected to being charged with the interest and penalty over overdue taxes, and asked the sheriff to strike out that amount, which the collector of taxes was unable to do, it not being within his power. Mr. Hurt explained that it was not all his fault the property tax was overlooked, and that he thought he should be compensated with a day's wages also, having lost a day making the trip to Salem.

MASSACRES

Admiral Howe will probably dispatch a force of marines to protect European residents of the villages here.

Dispatches received here this evening say the loss of life in the massacre in the Vilayet of Aleppo is even greater than that at Adana, where more than 500 persons were slain. The population of Aleppo is more than 1,000,000, and the meagre reports say that thousands of persons were killed there within the past 24 hours.

London, April 21.—The Sultan of Turkey is to retain his throne, but his cabinet is to resign immediately, under an agreement he has signed with the leaders of the Young Turks, according to dispatches received here today.

The Constantinople correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph is authoritative for his statement, which he declares is authentic. Private messages confirm the correspondent's dispatches which say that, following the signing of the agreement between the Sultan and the Young Turks, the government sent provisions to the army outside the city. The army was scantily provisioned and needed stores badly. It is also reported that the barracks occupancy when they march into the city.

"California Raisin Day." California invites all the world to eat California raisins on April 30—every day, or that matter, but particularly on April 30—which has been added to the calendar of festival occasions as a day of rejoicing. Eat California raisins on "California Raisin Day," April 30. 4-21-2S.
