ROBERT HILDRETH. "THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS"

SALEM'S MAYOR IN PORTLAND

Gets up Against Things But Talks Out of It

When Mayor George F. Rodgers leaves Dull Care lashed to the mast at home, gingers up his big Stoddard-Dayton touring car, and goes to Portland to eat coast crabs and dally with the wives of the big city, there veritably is a happening a minute. His Honor is reticent and does not carry a chronicle with him, but some of the returns from the mayor's last Odyssey Saturday evening have filtered slowly in.

Arriving in the city Mayor Rodgers hied him with his family to the fashionable Hof Brau. The party settled down to the enjoyment of their dinner, when the door slowly opened to admit a policeman three sizes bigger than the Colossus of Rhodes—and nearly as big as Bill Taft.

The mayor criticized the minion of the neighboring city with a coldly professional eye, until the policeman

To Warm the School—The contract for the heating plant for the new Central school has been awarded to W. G. Pherson & Co. of Portland. (Hot air will be the medium used, and the price at which the work is awarded is $2,475. The same firm did the work on the heating plant placed in the high school building.

Of what trade are all our Presidents? Cabinetmakers.

Y. M. C. A. Minstrel—Tonight at Grand opera house. A few good seats left. Prices 75-50-35.

Notice to Public—The Cottage Undertaking Parlors have a new process of embalming without the use of instruments or mutilations of body by the chemical process of absorption. The Cottage Undertaking Parlors also furnishes a fine black broadcloth or any colored plush casket, including nice burial robe, free use of private chapel, hearse, embalming, and one carriage for the mourners, and furthermore up-to-date service, all for $75, making a saving of from $20 to $50, under other funeral directors' prices. We mean to do as above stated, and are here to back up our promise. We still have cheaper caskets if wanted, black cloth caskets, including burial robe, free use of hearse and embalming as low as $35.00. Our place and method of doing business is up to date and we don't hesitate to say that our place is the most up to date on the Pacific coast, barring none. Cottage Undertaking Parlors, 293 N. Cottage street. Phone 724. 4-27-1 mo after making several inquiries, came up to the mayor's table with the startling but succinct oration:

"Ver unner arres!"

"Whafor?" briefly queried the arrested one, while his family choked over their pate de foi gras in sudden vision of the head of the family languishing in the dark cell on a diet of corn pone and pain.

"Number on yer masheen's too blame little, an' I gotter take yer in," was Portland's ultimatum. Mayor Rodgers speared rapidly for wind and got the policeman to talking, and then by stealthy verbal passes rushed him into a hopeless egal argument, and instead of "takin' 'im in" forthwith, the policeman sent for help and a volume of the state code and a copy of the city ordinances.

The Portland ordinance demands letters five inches high and the state law only three. Those on the mayor's machine were only three.

"Where yer from?" said the mammoth cop.

"I'm from Scio. I ran a grocery store up there," authentically vouchsafed the mayor of Salem, at once denying his own town and putting a severe wrimp in the record of a disreputable consort of Sapphira.

It saved him, though. "Aw, well," drawled the cop in disgust, "if yer'd live in civilizashun yer'd know more. Better take that number off or else stay down in th' jungles at Scio. I'll letcher go jus' fr' n'ight. Skip, now."

Hizzoner skipped. The mayor's troubles were not yet over, however. He sent his family to the Hotel Portland and went to a barber shop. Accounts then differ. Hizzoner did, though, emerge with another man's overcoat and went to the hotel. Shortly thereafter still another officer and the owner of the coat traced him to his room. The mayor returned the coat with the statement that the porter had given it to him by mistake. The irate owner took the coat but expressed the frankest and most brutal disbelief.

The mayor was then on the point of starting for "Scio" with the car before worse should befall, but he took one more chance; went down stairs, fixed something on the register after earnest confab with the clerk, handed the clerk something, scurried back to the room, piled the furniture against the double-locked door, but as to whether he slept or not dependent saith not—he don't know.

The return trip was made in two hours, ten minutes. By reference to a distance table, the laws of Oregon and reversion to the time made, even the casual reader will observe that the mayor was in a rush to get back to the sacred precincts of "Scio," and that he broke both the record and the—oh, well, call it the road laws.
