In this 27 miles there are 19 tunnels to be driven through the Coast mountains and the balance of the work is of the heaviest possible description. The uncompleted section of the road runs through the heart of the Coast range, and heavy cuts and fills will be necessary. High bridges will span the mountain streams and tunnels will carry the track through the hills.

JOHN DOE, JOHN DOE, AND ALSO RICHARD ROE

Owing to their inability to keep accurate count on the number of flowing mugs they got away with last night, two unknown visitors from somewhere back in Illinois or Missouri were locked up in the city bastile last night by the night police to prevent them from faming down and hurting themselves. And, oh, what a miserable feeling in the head this morning when brought before Judge Moores to tell about it. The two Johnny Does could not give a very explicit account of their preambles during the wee hours of morning, but had some recollections of having just dropped in" several places of refreshment and taking on a few with old friends for the sake of hap-py kid days. But now they can have wo and a half days to think it over and remember their childhood days when they were locked up in the closet for cutting up.

CLAIM HE TRED TO BEAT SPRECKELS

[United Press Leased Wire.] San Francisco, May 1 .- Benjamin Wellington Soule, charged with send ing threatening letters to Rudolph Spreckles, with the object of extorting from him $2000, is held at the city prison today in default of ball of $5000. Whether or not he will be prosecuted on additional charges of sending similar letters to Mrs. Spreck les and James O'Brien Gunn, cashibi of the Mechanic's Bank, has not been decided.

Soule came to this city with his wife from Wallace, Idaho. He stated he was unable to find employment position in a local bakery. After reading lurid detective stories, he conceived the plan of extorting money with which to return to Idaho. He presented a pitiable sight when he was taken to the prison yestertending over several months. Aside day. His wife is heartbroken and refused today to go to her work at the bakery, asking Detective Proll to collect her wages.
