Governor Visits Roseburg—Governor Benson went to Roseburg this morning to look after some matters connected with the soldiers' home. He will attend the strawberry fair, and take a few days needed vacation, the first since he was sworn in as governor.

The Foundry Busy—The foundry is one of the busiest places in the city. It would surprise most Salemites to step in and see the amount of work that is going on.

Pushing Paving Work—The paving of Cottage street between Court and State will be completed this week, and this morning the work of putting the first coat of rock on Liberty street was begun.

Piano Recital—The pupils of Miss Elma Weller will give a recital at their studio, 655 North Liberty street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. This will be the last monthly recital, until the closing one in June.

Came Up in Autos—Two auto parties, composed of Merrill and Gordon Moores, in their Stoddard-Dayton, and Andrew Lewis, Wilson Mays and Boyd Fisher, in a Dolson car, came up from Portland yesterday afternoon, and today left for Eugene to attend a track meet and the junior prom Saturday night.

Not Yet Settled—The Masonic fraternity still have the erection of a building on their lot on the corner of Commercial and High streets in contemplation, but so far have not reached any conclusion as to just what they will do, though it seems probable they will build this summer.

Want Commissioner's Certificate—Labor Commissioner Hoff has received a letter from a casualty company in which it says: "There is a small sawmill running near _____ on which the owners desire to take out liability insurance, which we declined to write until they have your certificate." This shows that the insurance companies, at least, have considerable faith in the work the labor commissioner is doing.

Runaway Accident—While three parties were driving up State street last night about 8 o'clock in a double rig, the team became frightened at a passing automobile and ran into the curb, one horse falling down and the other becoming tangled up in the harness. The occupants of the buggy jumped to the ground, and two of them escaped injury, but the third, a girl, sustained a broken leg as the result of dropping out on the pavement. The injured young lady gave her name as Lilly Forrest. She was removed to the hospital, where medical attention was administered, and today she is resting as easily as possible.

The Salem Woolen Mill—Is paying 25c for medium wool. 5-14-2t

Family Meals Served—We make a specialty of catering to the best family trade. Try our Sunday dinner. Burnett's cafe.

New Divorce Suit—A divorce suit has been started in the circuit court by Amy Thomas against Harold Thomas, with Attorney A. O. Condit acting as counsel for the plaintiff. In the complaint filed this morning with the county clerk it is alleged that the defendant treated the plaintiff in a cruel and inhuman manner. An absolute divorce is prayed for, and the custody of the one minor child.

Fell Into Air Compressor—Ed Cherrington came in from Gates yesterday, where he has been for some three weeks. He was employed as engineer at the Gold Creek mine, and, owing to the breaking of a board on which he stepped, he was thrown into the air compressor, and one of his arms was badly lacerated, but he is getting in good shape again and will soon return to the mines. He says work is being rushed in the district, and some very fine showings have been made.

Eugene Will Celebrate—Eugene is considering having a big celebration July, the 4th falling on Sunday, and if so will keep open house for all the towns in the valley. According to the Eugene papers, a committee will commence working on the matter next Monday. Salem is ready to make goo-goo at the big, handsome boy.

Auto Crop Large—Autos are getting as plenty in Salem as wheelbarrows on a railroad track, and there are all kinds of them, from the big huskies to the little fellows in knickerbockers and kilts. They can run along now without frightening horses, or even have the dogs bark at them.

Chicago wheat market closed one cent higher today.

CALHOUN ATTACKS FRANCIS J. HENEY

[United Press Leased Wire.] San Francisco, May 14.—"Family Bard of the House of Sprockles" was the new title applied to Special Prosecutor Francis J. Heney this morning by Alexander King, attorney for the defense in the trial of Patrick Calhoun.

During the examination of former President Richard Cornelius, of the Carmen's Union, a meeting between the witness and Rudolph Sprockles, at which the impending car strike was discussed, was alleged. Heney claimed to infer from the previous proceedings the wish of the defense to show that Sprockles was an instigator of the strike, and restated his offer to place Sprockles on the witness stand, "let down the bars" and permit the defense to ask any question it might concern Sprockles' past life and actions.

Heney's deft was taken up by King, who ridiculed Heney's defense of Sprockles. Following King's lead, other attorneys of the defense jumped into the fray.

EXAMINE OLD SEWER TO ARRANGE FOR NEW

Councilmen Elliott and Pressnall, accompanied by City Engineer Perrott and Mr. Cunningham, an engineer from Portland, spent the morning in looking over the North Salem sewer system, and this afternoon the same gentlemen, with Councilman Stolz in place of Pressnall, will examine South Salem. The idea is to get a thorough understanding of the present system, so that the proposed new sewer system may be made to fit in with it at the least expense.

E. T. Mathies, son of F. X. Mathies, the famous old pioneer, who stood in at Champeog to hold Oregon for the United States, and who is now living in Stayton, visited the city yesterday. Miss Hazel McNair, of Tillamook, is the guest of Miss Elene Fawk.
